U.S. INTERVENES IN MUKDEN ROW; AMERICANS DIE

Three Reported Slain as Japanese Planes Use Machine Guns.

LEAGUE IS SEEKING SOLUTION IN SECRET

Troops Are Being Withdrawn From Positions Outside Railway Zone.

(Associated Press.)

The United States Government has taken a hand in the negotiations over the Sino-Japanese conflict in Manchuria. Secretary Stimson, in a note to the League of Nations yesterday, assured that the league's attitude on the question had the wholehearted sympathy of the American Government.

The Telegrafen Union at Berlin said Chinese nationalists there received telegrams saying three Americans were killed in Mukden, Manchuria, when Japanese airplanes swept the street with machine-gun fire. They were not identified. State Department officials said last night they had received no information of Americans having been killed in Manchuria. They added that official advices from the American minister to China and the various consuls in the affected region have indicated that both Japanese and Chinese are carefully safeguarding American citizens and property.

Troops Being Withdrawn.

A spokesman for the Japanese foreign office at Tokyo said last night that Japanese occupation of positions outside the South Manchurian Railway zone had been halted and that troops were being withdrawn.

No Japanese troops have been sent to Harbin, Northern Manchuria, an authoritative Japanese spokesman declared in Shanghai today, after being advised reports of such troop movements had been published abroad.

The spokesman further asserted no soldiers would be sent to Harbin, which is the railroad junction point connecting the Manchurian branch of the Chinese Eastern Railway with the main Transsiberian Line running westward from Vladivostok.

He said reports of Russian mobilizations in Siberia were merely unconfirmed rumors, as were stories of a Russian-Japanese agreement respecting Manchuria.

Dispatches from Tokyo and Geneva indicated Japan had declined to submit to intervention by the League of Nations or by Kellogg pact signatories, but the League Council continued in secret to try to arrive at some solution.

100,000 In Mass Meeting.

A mass meeting of 100,000 Chinese in Nanking adopted resolutions calling on the government to proclaim a general mobilization of forces.

At Shanghai it was said that there was no confirmation of rumors that Russia was making preparations to interfere. The Soviet government previously made a protest against Japanese occupation of the Chinese Eastern Railway station at Kwangchengtze, it was said.

Secretary Stimson's note to the league expressed "wholehearted sympathy" with its resolution that Japan should halt the advance of troops in Manchuria and said the United States had not only urged a cessation of fighting, but urged withdrawal "from the present situation of danger."

Confer With Stimson.

Secretary Stimson's request that hostilities cease is understood to have been made through the diplomatic representatives of China and Japan here. Officials of both the Japanese Embassy and the Chinese Legation conferred separately with State Department officers Tuesday and yesterday.

The American note to the league follows:

"I have received from the American minister at Berne the copy of the resolution of the council of the League of Nations which you transmitted to him.

"I have noted the two parts of this resolution and the fact that they have been embodied in a note which you have addressed to the governments of Japan and China.

"I assure you that the Government of the United States is in wholehearted sympathy with the attitude of the League of Nations as expressed in the council's resolution and will dispatch to Japan and China notes along similar lines.

"I have already urged cessation of hostilities and a withdrawal from the present situation of danger and will continue earnestly to work for the restoration of peace."

Public Session Off.

The council of the League of Nations last night canceled a special public session at which the Sino-Japanese conflict was to have been discussed and the cancellation was taken to mean that the council had temporarily failed to agree upon a program of intervention. An effort was still being made to reach a solution behind the screen of complete secrecy.

An eager throng that had gathered in the council chamber in anticipation dispersed, disappointed, when the council gathered behind closed doors, even without secretarial attendants.

Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson, American delegate, was in the secretariat

PLANE VICTIM

LIEUT. WILLIAM B. CLEMENTS.

CAUGHT BY STORM, FLIER DIES IN CRASH

Army Pilot's Plane Falls in Field Near Dickerson, Md., After Maneuvers.

Caught in the storm that swept over Washington yesterday, Lieut. William D. Clements, 24-year-old Army Air Corps Reserve pilot, of Durand, Ga., plunged to death in a field near Dickerson, Md., when his Boeing pursuit plane, its engine missing badly, went into a nose dive.

Records found on the dead man's body disclosed that the plane had been having engine trouble. Officials here disclosed he was on his way to Middletown, Pa., to have additional engine repairs when the crash occurred. He had been participating in maneuvers at Bolling Field and Fort Humphreys, Va.

Apparently unable to gain altitude in the high wind, the youthful flier had managed to maneuver his plane to a height of about 200 feet, when it went into a nose dive on the farm of James B. Runkles, a quarter of a mile from Dickerson.

Pliny Day and Richard Crumwell, of Dickerson dragged his crushed body from the plane a few minutes before the ship burst into flames, and Dr. J. R. Hicks pronounced the pilot dead. Lieut. Clements, who had left Bolling Field at 2:10 p. m., evidently was headed back to Washington before the storm as his plane was seen to fly out of the west above Dickerson.

Norman Wolse, of Dickerson, said he saw the plane appear out of a cloud above the Monocacy River, a mile away, taking a zigzag course toward Dickerson after a blinding flash of lightning streaked the sky near it. The ship circled once over Dickerson at a height of about 100 feet, spectators said.

Reports of the performance of the plane found on the body, evidently carefully kept since September 20 by the young pilot, showed he had been having engine and lubrication trouble. This gave rise to belief that a faulty oil line was directly responsible for the crash.

The Bolling Field operations office said all other ships flying from the base were accounted for. Three flights from the Washington Airport, one at noon and two at 4 o'clock, were canceled. Officials of the Ludington Lines said two planes that left the airport for New York at 3 o'clock safely passed through.

The Washington Post was the first to inform Bolling Field authorities and officers of the War Department intelligence unit of the identity of the pilot of the Army plane which crashed at Dickerson. Orders, directing Lieut. Clements to proceed to Selfridge Field, in Michigan, were found in the dead flier's pockets, and communicated to Washington by a representative of The Post.

At the War Department it was learned that he was the son of Robert S. Clements, of Durand, Ga. In June, 1930, he was graduated from the advanced flying course at Kelly Field, and had been on active duty ever since, first at Maxwell Field,

Senator Fletcher to Run Again, He Announces

Miami, Fla., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—United States Senator Duncan U. Fletcher today announced his candidacy for reelection to the Senate in 1932 and criticized the Hoover administration for "the way it has persistently allowed delay after delay in the public works program."

Prohibition, the senator said, would be unfortunate as a campaign issue next year in Florida.

Chicago Bandits Make Bank Haul

Seven Men Get $7,385 in Fast Holdup by Daylight.

Chicago, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—A band of fast working robbers looted the Parkway State Bank on busy North Clark street today, scooping up $7,385 in a waste basket and escaping through the heavy traffic.

The bank, located not far from Lincoln Park, was almost deserted by both employes and customers during the noon hour when three men rushed in, forced the employes and customers to lie on the floor and cleaned out the cash boxes. Three other men, armed with pistols and shotguns, guarded the entrance of the bank. A seventh waited outside in an automobile.

The robbery was accomplished in three minutes. Cashier A. C. Svoboda said he believed a policeman passed the bank during the robbery, but failed to notice what was going on.

BONUS DEFEAT AND BEER VOTE BY LEGION SEEN

DOUBLE DRY ATTACK OUTLINED IN REPORTS

Legalization of Beer and National Referendum Are Proposed.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 23.—The American Legion is poised tonight for the most important session in its history, a session at which definite action will be taken on two highly important questions—prohibition and cash redemption of the war bonus.

If the action today of the resolutions committee and the legislative committee can be interpreted as a forecast, and that is the popular interpretation, the Legion tomorrow will vote in favor of resubmission of the prohibition question to the States and against full cash payment on the bonus at this time.

If the Legion, now an organization with more than a million members, does take an antiprohibition stand tomorrow, it will be the fourth large national organization to array itself against the eighteenth amendment.

The American Federation of Labor, the American Bar Association and the American Medical Association already are on record for a change.

The resolutions committee of the Legion—made up of legionnaires from all the departments—voted today 25 to 19 in favor of the following resolution:

Law and Security Entangled.

"Whereas the eighteenth amendment of the Constitution of the United States has created a condition endangering respect for law and the security of American institutions;

"Therefore, be it resolved that the American Legion in this its thirteenth annual convention assembled, favors the submission by Congress of the question of repeal or modification of the present prohibition laws to the several States, with a request that each State submit the question to the voters thereof."

The legislative committee voted 27 to 14 against a resolution asking for cash payment on bonus certificates.

The District of Columbia delegates who took part in the debate at the committee meetings demanded cash payment of the bonus and repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

C. E. Browning, department adjutant and District representative on the resolutions committee, was a leader in the fight for adoption of a wet resolution.

Robert T. McGrath, commander of the Police Post in Washington, was one of the leaders in favor of the fight for a cash bonus.

Portland Wins Convention.

The District of Columbia delegates voted in favor of Portland, Oreg., for the next convention city. That city was chosen without opposition. The indications are tonight that they will throw their support to Henry L. Stevens, of North Carolina, for national commander.

Howard P. Savage, of Chicago, past national commander, in submitting the report of the national employment commission, of which he is chairman, made the following statement:

"Your national employment commission feels it to be the duty of the

New York Job Aid Bills Are Signed by Roosevelt

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Gov. Roosevelt today signed the two bills to give New York State a $20,000,000 unemployment relief program. The measure was adopted by the recent extraordinary session of the legislature, which considered primarily emergency means to give relief to an estimated million unemployed during the coming winter. The second measure provides for a 50 per cent increase in this year's income tax rate to raise the $20,000,000

Longshoremen Reject 75 Cents Per Hour

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The International Longshoremen's Association today rejected a contract offered by affiliated companies of the International Mercantile Marine granting the longshoremen a wage rate of 75 cents an hour.

Delegates representing 40,000 longshoremen from North Atlantic States then prepared what they termed a "final proposition" demanding a contract calling for 85 cents an hour straight wage and $1.25 for overtime.

Lindberghs Complete Third Flood Survey

Nanking, China, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh returned here today after making their third flood relief aerial survey for the Chinese government.

The Lindberghs surveyed the area around Wuhu, up the Yangtze River from here. They reported the situation was as bad as they had found it along the Grand Canal in northern Kiangsu province on their first two flights.

AKRON WINS PRAISE IN HER FIRST FLIGHT

New Navy Dirigible Covers 125 Miles With 113 Men on Board.

Akron, Ohio, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The U. S. S. Akron was taken on her first flight today and came down safely three hours and 47 minutes later, the proven mistress of the air.

The flight was the initial test for the world's largest dirigible, built here for the United States Navy, and the Akron went through it in a manner highly pleasing to Navy officials.

The cigar shaped ship, her silver hull glistening under a bright sun, cruised about this section of northeastern Ohio, floated over downtown Cleveland and returned to the Municipal Airport here at dusk.

The only unscheduled incident came in landing the giant ship after darkness had fallen. Apparently misjudging the altitude the first time, the Akron circled the field twice before she was fastened to her portable mooring mast.

It was estimated the ship flew approximately 125 miles. The flight, under perfect weather conditions, was first of a series to be made before the ship is turned over to the Navy and fitted with her armament. Another of the flights may be made tomorrow.

Lieut. Comdr. Charles E. Rosendahl, former skipper of the Los Angeles and a survivor of the wreck of the Shenandoah six years ago was in command of the Akron.

Aboard were Charles F. Adams, Secretary of the Navy; Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, in charge of the Naval Bureau of Aeronautics; David S. Ingalls, Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aeronautics, and Paul W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation, builders of the Akron.

In all the ship carried 113 men, the most ever carried in the air in America and believed by Navy officials to be the largest passenger list of any airship.

Shortly after 2 p. m. the ground crew of 250 began walking the huge ship—785 feet long and having 6,500,000 cubic feet of lifting gas capacity—out of her dock.

The crew took her out with precision, tail first, with the motors of the portable mooring mast pushing her. Once through the huge "orange peel" gates of the hangar, so called because of their shape, the dirigible was veered around until she nosed into the southwest breeze.

While a crowd, variously estimated at 100,000 to 200,000, watched from the

John Garner Is Injured By Falling Tree Limb

Uvalde, Tex., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Representative John Garner, Democratic leader of the House, was injured at his home here today when a huge limb fell from a tree and knocked him to the ground. His left hip was bruised.

Garner was holding a ladder for a workman who was sawing the limb.

GREEN SCORES STEEL PAY CUT AS BETRAYAL

Labor Head Calls Move Violation of Pledge Made in 1920.

HOOVER MAINTAINS SILENCE ON ACTION

(Associated Press.)

With the Federal Government gravely pondering the possibilities of the turn toward lower wages, organized labor condemned the action of the steel corporations last night as a betrayal of faith.

As president of the American Federation of Labor, William Green termed the pay cuts "morally wrong and economically unsound."

"No greater blow than this has yet been struck against the forces which have been and now are serving to bring about a return of prosperity," he said.

White House Informed.

It was not long before the Green statement reached the White House and other high administration quarters. It was felt last night that reverberations are bound to follow.

President Hoover is not expected definitely to take sides. His chief concern, it was made plain in the only information from the White House yesterday, is to assure there will be no lowering of American living standards.

Green charged the United States Steel Corporation with violating a promise made to the Nation when it and others assured wages would be mintained "during this distressing period of unemployment."

Meeting Two Years Ago.

The reference was to the meeting between President Hoover and prominent industrialists and labor leaders two years ago. After that session, a White House statement said the conferees had agreed against wage reductions on the one hand and new demands for increases on the other.

Labor has kept its pledge, Mr. Green declared in his protest last night. He made no mention of retaliatory moves, such as strikes. Summing up his sentiment, "arrived at after deliberate and calm consideration," he said it was represented by the expressed opinion of Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, that "there will be hell to pay throughout the United States in the event of a general wage reduction."

Opinion by Klein

This opinion was expressed by Klein Tuesday night. Yesterday he had no comment. At the Capitol, one of the administration powers in the House—Representative Wood, of Indiana—called the pay reductions "the best thing that can possibly happen to the wage earners themselves."

Commodity prices have been going down, and it was only natural for

Embassy Asked to Find Skiff Skipper's Wife

Cleveland, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Mrs. Elizabeth Sharmel appealed to the Spanish Embassy in Washington today for aid in determining the fate of her daughter, Mrs. Marie Blanco, who she fears was lost in the Atlantic Ocean with her son-in-law, Prof. Henry Blanco, formerly instructor in Spanish at Iowa State University.

Dispatches from Madrid said Prof. Blanco had not been heard from since May 24, 1931, when he left Barcelona in his 38-foot sailboat, the Evalu. The dispatches mentioned Blanco's 7-year-old daughter, Evalu, but did not mention his wife.

M'Carl's Office Disclaims Delaying School Furniture

Dispute Over Bids is Laid to District Officials, Who Are Said to Have Failed to Tell Why Lowest Bidder Did Not Get Contract.

The action of the District school officials in attempting to hold the office of the Comptroller General responsible for failure properly to equip classrooms for the opening of school, was called "entirely unjustified" at the Comptroller's office yesterday. What delay in the matter that occurred in the Comptroller General's office, it was asserted, was due to a misunderstanding, brought about by the District officials awarding a contract for the construction of the furniture to a bidder whose price was $16,000 higher than that of another company, and failing, it was charged, to advise the Comptroller General immediately the reason for their action.

The big delay, it was asserted, occurred in the District Building when bids for the construction of the desks and chairs were opened on May 5, but a contract for their construction was not awarded until June 16. In other words, six weeks were taken to decide who should do the work while contractors were allowed only 26 days to study the specifications and prepare their estimates, it was added.

It was pointed out that in the office of the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of the triangle building program, contracts for construction work are frequently awarded two or three days after bids are opened, and in the case of the Department of Commerce Building, which involved expenditure of millions of dollars, not more than one week was taken to award the business.

When it was decided by officials in charge that the fourth bidder, the P. Derby Co., of Gardner, Mass., should get the contract at a cost of $87,000 when the John E. Sjostrom Co., of Philadelphia, had offered to do the work for $71,000, the Comptroller General was not properly notified of the reason for the award, it was declared.

A complaint was naturally filed with the Comptroller's office by the low bidding company, which felt it

JUROR'S INELIGIBILITY OUTLAWS MANY CASES; POLICE TO BE REHEARD

Cost of Jury Error To District Is $15,000

Witnesses Must Be Brought From Afar; Fees and Fares Repaid, as Murder and Other Cases are Resubmitted.

The legal error which allowed Henry L. Johnson to sit as a member of the July grand jury when he was ineligible is not only vexing to investigative officials, but it will cost somebody—ultimately the taxpayer—somewhere in the neighborhood of the tidy sum of $15,000.

Since July 7 the Government has paid out $2,322.25 in witness fees and $4,592 for fees for the grand jurors during July and August. The grand jurors have not been paid for services so far in September and by the end of the month this bill will run in the neighborhood of $2,760 additional. Grand jurors receive $4 a day for their services.

In addition, 200 witnesses were called in the third degree investigation and many of these must be recalled. Then there are the witnesses in other cases who must be heard over again.

Outside of that, the Government will have to pay the railroad fare and loss of time of Department of Justice agents who will be brought back to Washington to testify again and handle the second police investigation before the jury. Many of these men have been sent back to posts in distant parts of the country.

A number of important and well-known cases involving many defendants and numerous witnesses are affected by the discovery that one of the grand jurors should never have been admitted to that body.

The Harry Zimberg case is one of those in which indictments have been returned in the three reports already made by the July grand jury. In this Statute of Limitations Bars to Reindicting on Old Charges.

3D DEGREE HEARING TO BE STARTED ANEW

Man on Pension Dropped, Another Excused When About to Report.

The District grand jury will not only be forced to do its work in the police "third degree" investigation and about 150 other cases over again because a juror ineligible to serve was sitting with that body, but in at least a dozen cases the statute of limitations has expired since the indictments were returned, and persons in these cases can not be reindicted, it was learned last night.

The three-year limit on these cases has expired at various times since the jury began its work on July 20. Since the jury has been declared illegal and two additional jurors must be selected to fill out the list of 23, the persons affected in these cases technically have never been indicted.

When the jury again is filled to its quota the statute of limitations will operate and those accused can not be resubject to legal action.

Police Inquiry Hit.

Chances for swift and complete action on accusations that Washington policemen have been brutal toward prisoners were dealt the most devastating blow to date with the discovery that one of the members of the July jury was ineligible to serve. The investigation has already dragged out through days of delay while the Police Department itself, then the Department of Justice and finally the grand jurors took a hand.

Five policemen were first indicted on charges of assault within ten days after the first accusations were made against the Police Department, and it appeared that yesterday would at least wind up the jury's procedure in the affair.

The jury was understood to be ready to return indictments against fifteen additional policemen in thirteen "iron-clad" cases presented to it by the Department of Justice. Then yesterday just before the indictments were about to be returned some one tossed the legal brickbat which spilled the investigative apples and served to muddle even more completely an already involved situation.

Juror Admits Pension.

A $30-a-month pension is the small item which will cost the District of Columbia thousands of dollars and court officials plenty of time and worry before the situation can be straightened out.

The jurors were ready to appear before Associate Justice Jesse C. Adkins, of District Supreme Court, yesterday with more indictments in the police investigation and in many other routine cases when it was suddenly discovered that Henry L. Johnson, of 310 Third street southeast, has been drawing a pension from the Government for services in the Spanish-American War.

He was summoned before Justice Adkins, who asked him if the report that he was a Government pensioner was true. He replied in the affirmative, and was promptly excused from further service.

Another Man Excused.

Another juror, Randolph M. Scott, was lost to the inquisitorial body, a short time later when Justice Adkins excused him from further service for "business reasons."

Officials moved to repair the damage as soon as possible. The jury commission was notified to draw additional names of prospective jurors to fill the two vacancies.

Then United States Attorney Leo A. Rover and J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice, held a series of hasty conferences to decide the proper method of proceeding in the police investigation.

It was finally agreed that the best course of action would be to re-present all of the evidence already given to the grand jury in the police brutality cases and machinery was put in motion to bring this about.

However, the new jury alignment will be unable to get to work on these

FRENCH STRESS TRIP OF LAVAL TO HOOVER

Paris Speculates on Talks in Washington; Finances Head World Topics.

Paris, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Reparations, war debts and overproduction, inasmuch as these enter into the present economic and financial crisis, are likely to figure in conversations between President Hoover and Premier Pierre Laval when the latter visits the United States, it was indicated tonight.

Premier Laval himself would make no statement on his proposed journey to Washington.

In authoritative quarters it was said the purpose of his visit will be a frank review of all the grave questions of the hour by the chiefs of the governments of France and the United States, the two nations that hold the bulk of the world's gold and the balance of power of Western civilization.

The meeting was believed here to be a logical sequence of the recent unfavorable developments, particularly in the domain of economics and finance, and also to be inevitably linked with the reconstruction of Germany, which Premier Laval and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand will visit next Saturday.

France believes that Germany's economic uplift is essential to European prosperity, and in the long run, German adversity would affect France. On the highest official authority, it was learned that France wishes to help put Germany on her feet by concrete measures of economic cooperation, measures which already have been approved by the French cabinet.

France wants to increase the purchasing power of Europe and other parts of the world, including Latin America, for the luxuries in the manufacture of which the French specialize.

It is believed Premier Laval will discuss with President Hoover not only cooperation with Germany, but the other great problems, of which England's situation can not fail to be one. Security against war, which France deems to be a condition to further reduction of armaments, will also be examined, it is believed, here.

The cabinet at its meeting Friday is expected to approve acceptance of President Hoover's invitation to Premier Laval. Then the premier will receive United States Ambassador Edge and will convey to him his official reply.

Young Woman Is Held To Trial in Pyre Deaths

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Katherine Keller, 23, was bound over to circuit court for trial on a charge of being an accessory after the crime of murder, in the quadruple pyre slaying, at an examination this afternoon before Justice Jay H. Payne.

Miss Keller was the sweetheart of Fred Smith, convicted slayer serving a life term in the Michigan Branch Prison at Marquette. She was arrested the night Smith, Frank Oliver and David Blackstone Negro, were convicted and sentenced for the slaying of two boys and two girls near Ypsilanti last August 11.

Kingsford-Smith Begins Australia-London Hop

Wyndham, West Australia, Sept. 24 (A.P.) (Thursday).—Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith took off at 2 a. m. today in an attempt to oust the record of J. A. Mollison for a flight from Australia to London.

Mollison's record is 8 days 13 hours and 35 minutes. Kingsford-Smith said he hoped to make it in 7 days. His plane, the Southern Cross Minor, carries no radio transmitting apparatus.

1,001 SEIZED IN RAID ON IMPROPER MOVIE

Patrol Wagons in Baltimore Make 100 Trips to Jail Men and One Woman.

Baltimore, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—One thousand men and one woman were arrested here tonight by 45 policemen who surrounded and raided a public hall where they said an improper motion picture was being shown at a smoker.

Patrol wagons made 100 trips to bring the prisoners to a police station. Each man was charged with disorderly conduct and required to post $6.45 collateral to gain his freedom.

Officers of the Western district received word the entertainment was to be presented and three of them in plain clothes entered the building. After two reels of the picture had been shown they halted the show.

Meanwhile every available officer in the district had been placed about the building and no one escaped.

Police described it as the largest capture of its kind ever made in Baltimore.

Grape Concentrate Indictments Voted

Company and Manager Are Accused in Missouri Federal Court.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The Ukiah Grape Products Co., Inc., of New York, and its former Kansas City manager, Albert E. Brunett, were indicted by a Federal grand jury here today for alleged sale and possession of wine and grape concentrate capable of producing vinous liquors.

The defendants will go to trial before Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis in Kansas City October 1. In the event of an adverse decision, defense attorneys plan to appeal to the United States Supreme Court to establish the law on grape concentrate sales.

The indictment alleges the concentrate contained more than one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol by volume and was intoxicating in fact.

One count charges the defendants sold dry agents ten gallons of concentrate "fit for use in beverage purposes and intended by Brunett and the company for use in beverage purposes." Another says they sold five gallons "for use by the purchaser in the unlawful manufacture of wine."

Dr. Carl P. Andre Held for Murder

West Virginia Dentist Is Charged in Death of Woman at Reno.

Reno, Nev., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Dr. Carl P. Andre, Fairmount, W. Va., dentist, today was charged formally with the murder of Mrs. Martha Hutchinson, also of Fairmont, killed September 12, when she fell or was thrown from Andre's speeding automobile.

The dentist has been held on a manslaughter charge, filed soon after the death of Mrs. Hutchinson, a widow. Police quoted him as saying he came to Reno for a divorce, and that Mrs. Hutchinson, whom he expected to marry, followed. After the arrival of the woman here, Dr. Andre decided against another marriage, he was reported to have said.

District Attorney M. E. Jepson in filing the murder charge today said evidence had been gathered indicating that Mrs. Hutchinson was dead before she was thrown from the car.

PREDECESSOR SEEN IN SHELTON CHARGE

Church Trial Outgrowth of Differences and Trivial Incident, Is Claim.

Seven witnesses, five for the defense, one for the prosecution, and one whose connection was not revealed, testified yesterday at the closed trial of the Rev. Dr. William A. Shelton, pastor of Mount Vernon Place M. E. Church South, on charges preferred by Miss Carrie A. Williams, his former secretary.

The ecclesiastical board of twelve ministers adjourned at 11:45 o'clock last night, after meeting all day, with a short recess for dinner. The trial will be resumed at 10 o'clock this morning.

Five character witnesses took the stand yesterday and their testimony took up the morning session. They were Miss Fay Logan and Miss Estelle Dozier, both of Atlanta, Dr. Shelton's secretaries when he was in that city; the Rev. Dr. W. J. Young, head of the missions department at Emory University; the Rev. Dr. F. M. Parker, dean of the Candler School of Theology, and the Rev. Dr. R. L. Russell, pastor of the Druid Hill M. E. Church South, Atlanta.

Only witness for the prosecution was the Rev. Dr. W. A. Lambeth, who preceded Dr. Shelton as pastor of the Mount Vernon Church. He was on the stand at the entire afternoon session.

Daniel C. Roper, former Commissioner of Internal Revenue, also went before the trial board yesterday, but it was not learned whether he appeared for the defense or prosecution and he himself declined to say. Defense counsel said only the five Atlantans were their witnesses.

It was indicated that the trial, which was expected to end yesterday, will last at least until tomorrow.

Dr. W. E. Hammond, officiating at the proceedings, said he hoped to "expedite" the trial as much as possible. Character witnesses were limited in number. Defense attorneys declared their presentation would require at least as long as the prosecution.

Regardless of the findings of the church court, considered in the nature of a family affair, friends of Dr. Shelton intimated yesterday that action will be instituted in the public courts as soon as the trial closes.

The Post learned last night from a source close to the defense in the trial that the charges grew out of differences in administration between a former pastor of Mount Vernon and Dr. Shelton. The young woman secretary who preferred charges against Dr. Shelton had been the secretary of the former pastor.

According to the defense theory in this case, The Post learns, there was some fear on the part of the young woman that she would lose her position or suffer a salary cut.

The defense claims that something occurred in the pastor's study of a trivial nature but which called for a written statement from him which he did not feel involved his moral character. This statement, the defense says, was used afterward as a threat against the pastor.

This incident occurred, it is stated, three weeks after Dr. Shelton became pastor of Mount Vernon. At that time the matter was adjusted by the then presiding officer of this conference, Bishop Beauchamp, now dead. After Bishop Mouzon became resident bishop, the defense says, the matter was revived and Dr. Shelton was asked by the bishop to resign from the church in the interests of peace.

Dr. Shelton would not take that responsibility, the defense says, and the congregation would have been opposed to such a move.

Bishop Mouzon then, it is said, appointed a committee which brought in a report which is the basis of the present action.

Virginia Educator Joins Illiteracy Fight Staff

(Associated Press.)

The national advisory committee of illiteracy has added to its staff two nationally known educators, Dr. Randolph J. Condon, of Cincinnati, and Dr. Charles G. Maphis of the University of Virginia.

The two educators will take part in State-wide conferences to assist in organizing committees and for promoting the campaign to blot out illiteracy.

had been discriminated against, and on the basis of the evidence presented the Comptroller ruled that it seemed there had been a discrimination. Construction of the equipment was stopped and heads of the P. Derby Co., together with District officials, hastened to advise the Comptroller General that the business was to have been awarded to the lowest bidder whose samples were in accordance with specifications of the advertisement and not to the lowest responsible bidder who agreed to construct equipment in accordance with the specifications.

In the face of this new evidence, which had not been given originally to the Comptroller General's office, and which was obviously not known to the Sjostrom Company, who prepared a bid of $71,000 agreeing to construct the desks and chairs in accordance with the specifications, but admitting that their samples were not in accordance with the specifications, the Comptroller General reversed his decision and the work was resumed by the Derby Company.

The two decisions of the Comptroller General were handled with the utmost expediency, his office realizing that the equipment would be needed for the opening of schools, it was asserted. The Comptroller's office first received the matter on June 17, it then being in the nature of a complaint that discrimination had been shown in the award. The decision of such a case requires more time than an ordinary one, but this was turned out on July 3, it was recalled. The decision, the appeal rendered by the Comptroller's office approaches a record when the case was received on July 23, and a decision rendered on July 27.

WRECKAGE AND MEN WHO PULLED OUT DEAD PILOT

Post Staff Photos.

Fragments of the plane in which Lieut. William B. Clements, Air Corps Reserve, met his death yesterday at Dickerson, Md., and (lower) Pliny P. Day, left, and his son, Douglas D. Day, both of Dickerson, who pulled the dead pilot from the plane before it caught fire. Pliny Day was burned about the hands in attempting to extinguish the flames.

CAUGHT BY STORM, FLIER DIES IN CRASH

and then at Selfridge. He had flown from the latter field to Bolling, and was on his return trip, via Middletown, when he ran into the storm.

Pliny Day, and his son, Douglas, were repairing a barn in a field nearby when the plane crashed. They said the pilot apparently was having a hard time keeping the plane off the ground, and nearly dropped on a train passing down the Baltimore & Ohio tracks, before he maneuvered his craft to a 200-foot altitude, then nosedived in the field.

Examination of the ship disclosed that Lieut. Clements had turned off the switch before crashing, which explained why the plane did not burst at once into flames. His right hand was clutching the controls, spectators said. It was nearly a half hour after the crash that the ship caught fire. County authorities took charge of the body, which was taken to Claggett Hilton undertaking establishment at Barnesville, Md.

Lieut. Clements was carried from the field in the folds of his parachute, which was found in the plane intact. Even had he sought to jump, it was pointed out, the plane never attained sufficient altitude to permit parachute clearance.

Something of a mystery surrounded the burning of the plane. As the engine had ample time to cool after the crash, and the switch had been thrown by the pilot as his last act before crashing, authorities were inclined to believe that the gasoline-soaked ship was ignited by a cigarette flung by one of many spectators who later gathered around the wreckage.

Coast Bank Chain Head Plans Fight

Giannini Denounces Attempts of "Enemies" to Acquire Transamerica.

San Francisco, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Firing his second verbal broadside at the new Transamerica plan, A. P. Giannini declared late today he would throw his full force into the fight to prevent disposal of the giant California banking chain, Bank of America, at a "ridiculously low" price.

His announcement was made in conjunction with a statement from the company outlining a new reorganization plan. Giannini late today vigorously denounced what he said was the obvious purpose of "the enemies of the corporation * * *" to secure the assets of the bank with its 410 branches tying all California into one great system, at less than they are worth. A stockholders' committee was reported forming to carry on the fight against the new plan, but Giannini denied he had initiated the move. He stood ready to participate in its activities, however, he indicated.

Announcement of the Wall street reorganization plan sent 80,000 Transamerica shares over the San Francisco Stock Exchange tape by noon today, breaking the price to $4.37, the lowest ever recorded for the stock.

Andrew T. Dent, 20, 815 Eighteenth street northwest, was driving the machine which struck the boy, police said. He was not held.

most of the afternoon and part of last evening, but it was authoritatively stated he did not sit either in the council of the committee of larger powers or in the plenary council last night.

All persons immediately concerned with the efforts to settle the Far Eastern disturbance maintained complete silence, but it was apparent the proposal for an inquiry by military experts appointed by the council had encountered opposition from the Japanese government.

Atmosphere of Pessimism.

An atmosphere of pessimism was provoked by the apparent deadlock between the league council's policy agreed upon Tuesday and the Japanese insistence that the conflict be settled by direct negotiations between China and Japan.

The suggestion was made hopefully that the United States might call upon Japan, together with the other powers concerned in the nine power Pacific treaty, to which Japan is also a signatory, to submit to an inquiry.

The special committee on the Manchurian question is made up of representatives of Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany and Alejandro Lerroux and Salvador de Madariaga, of Spain.

President Alejandro Lerroux said last night he would submit a note on the Manchurian problem to the league assembly today. His announcement was made after the secret session of the council adjourned.

The Chinese delegation said the negotiations for a settlement were still going on, but "very slowly—more slowly than was expected." Ambassador Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japanese delegate, said he had not yet received definite instructions from his government.

Third Protest Sent.

Nanking, China, Sept. 23 (U.P.).—A charge that Japanese troops have "wantonly destroyed lives and property" in Manchuria was made by the Chinese government tonight in dispatching a third protest to Tokyo against occupation of Manchurian cities by Japan's troops.

Simultaneously, the central executive committee of the Peoples party issued a manifesto condemning the Japanese occupation and urging the Chinese population to remain calm, the Kuo Min News Agency said.

"Any agitation at this moment will hinder solution of the crisis, and directly benefit the enemy," the manifesto said, indicating that there was fear the population might resort to violence against Japanese in China. It was pointed out, however, that there were no disturbances except for inflammatory speeches and "mourning" demonstrations.

Concessions Feared.

The national government reiterated that it would not conduct direct negotiations for a settlement with Japan, apparently because it fears Japan would use the occupation of Manchuria to wring concessions from the Chinese. The third note sent by the government demanded immediate withdrawal of troops and restoration of occupied territories. It was pointed out that the occupation was being extended rather than restricted, in "violation of international law and peace treaties."

Hongkong, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Rioting broke out tonight in the Wanchai district, where street gamins attacked many Japanese shops, smashing their windows and doing other extensive damage.

The Japanese residents of the district acted with discretion and as a result there was no open fighting. The police quelled the riot after an hour's smash-and-run orgy.

Canton, China, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Chan Chai-Tong, sometimes described as the real power behind the Cantonese insurgent government, was reported today to have decided for peace with the Nationalist government at Nanking.

Chan was said to have invited Chen Ming-Shu to return to Canton, where he was Nationalist governor of Kwangtung Province until ousted by insurgents.

American U. Holds Opening Exercises

Classes Convene After Address by McNinch in Chapel.

Classes started at the College of Liberal Arts of American University yesterday afternoon, with an enrollment increased 7 per cent over last year, according to Dr. George B. Woods, dean of the college.

Opening exercises of the morning chapel, to start the seventh year of the college, were featured by an address by Frank McNinch, of the Federal Power Commission. Mr. McNinch estimated that a college education increased earning capacity by at least $72,000. The college graduate also should be able, he said, to earn during more years than those who lack a college education, and would not reach maximum earning capacity until 60 as compared to the lower maximum earnings of the grammar school graduate at 30, or the high school graduate at 45.

Classes convened for the first time yesterday afternoon. The most important function of the opening of school year was the reception by Dr. Lucius C. Clark, chancellor of the university, and Mrs. Clark at their home on the campus Tuesday night.

New York Man Jailed In Slaying of Collings

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—A middle-aged man was being held tonight as a suspect in the murder of Benjamin P. Collings. He was questioned for several hours by District Attorney Alexander G. Blue, of Suffolk County, and Inspector Harold R. King, of Nassau County.

Long Island City police who made the arrest withheld the man's name, but said he partially answered the description of Collings' slayer as given by Mrs. Collings. Blue and King were notified, and the prisoner turned over to them for questioning.

Lieut. Walter Hinton, of Washington, D. C., was named vice president.

A resolution asking the United States Department of Agriculture and similar departments of the various States "to take the most expedient steps to encourage the use of cotton, corn and wheat in a more extensive manner than in the past," as a relief measure, was adopted before adjournment.

Announcement of next year's convention city will be made at Toledo, Ohio, headquarters, probably next week. Syracuse, N. Y.; Denver, Colo.; St. Louis and Dallas are seeking the 1932 meeting.

SHRINKAGE IN TOLLS FELT IN CANAL ZONE

Receipts to Date for 1931 $2,000,000 Under Last Year's Figures.

Balboa, Canal Zone, Sept. 23 (U.P.).—Panama Canal transits for the first half of September continued to show a decrease. During the first fifteen days, 208 commercial vessels passed through the canal, the daily tolls averaging $62,938.90, compared to a daily tolls average of $64,113.47 during the first half of August, and $66,377.06 in the first fifteen days of September, 1930.

Total tolls for the first eight and a half months of 1931 are $16,310,537.09, more than $2,000,000 under tolls for the same 1930 period, and more than $3,000,000 under the 1929 tolls.

The canal administration has ordered the laying off of six active canal pilots and the placing of three others on the supernumerary list to meet the drop in receipts, and other cuts in personnel are being considered in the lighthouse and salvage sections of the marine division.

Gov. Harry Burgess, of the Canal Zone, who has just arrived in the United States to discuss the canal budget for the coming fiscal year, will present several new items covering additional construction work in the zone, including new employes' quarters, buildings for educational institutions and drydock improvements. It is not believed these items will be approved, however except in cases of absolute necessity.

Hanging of 85 Reported After Mexican Lynching

Mexico City, Sept. 23 (U.P.).—A story of abduction of a girl, the lynching of the mayor of a Mexican town and the wholesale execution of 85 men on orders of Gov. Garrido Canabal of Tabasco State, was reported today by the Agua Dulce correspondent of the newspaper La Prensa.

Travelers arriving from the town of Vicente Guerrero, not far from Frontera in Tabasco, were quoted as saying the trouble began with the kidnaping of a girl. She was carried away by men on horseback, but fell from the horse during the wild ride and was fatally injured.

Mayor Luis Chable was blamed by the villagers in connection with the kidnaping and the townspeople lynched him. It was then alleged that the governor ordered the hanging of 85 men to avenge the lynching.

GANDHI WOULD TAKE BRITAIN AS PARTNER

Mahatma, in Parliament Room, Ready to Rebel at "Safeguards."

London, Sept 23 (A.P.).—Squattiny in his homespun cotton robes before a big meeting of Conservative, Liberal and Labor members at the House of Commons tonight, Mahatma Gandhi voiced the strongest demand he has yet made in London for Indian independence.

In a gentle voice that seemed to soften his bold statements, the Indian nationalist leader declared he would be satisfied with nothing short of complete independence.

Safeguards, such as British control over the army and finance, were unacceptable, he said, but complete independence does not exclude partnership with Britain on a basis of full equality.

"I will not accept the husks of independence, carrying with them safeguards and reservations," he told the 200 members of the house who heard him. "Rather would I declare myself a rebel * * * Thousands of nationalists have shed themselves of the fear of death."

Representatives of all shades of British policies gave him rapt attention, among them being Miss Megan Lloyd George, "Jimmy" de Rothschild, J. R. Clynes and Thomas Shaw.

Mr Gandhi spoke for an hour and 45 minutes in the historic grand committee room, second only to the chamber of the house as a battleground of British politics. He sat with a group of his followers and stated his case in easy, conversational tones. Later, when questions rained upon him, his sense of humor won him sympathy.

One blustering member of commons declared he didn't know much about the Indian question, but what he wanted to know was what "Mahatma" meant. Instantly Mr. Gandhi answered: "It means an insignificant person." The chairman explained the term meant "the embodiment of a great soul."

Showmen Lost Big Chance When Chaplin Met Gandhi

By JOHN J. DALY

OVER in London, where he is meeting all comers, Mahatma Gandhi was brought face to face with Charlie Chaplin. Instead of doing a song and dance, they staged an impromptu debate on the Machine Age.

The mahatma was clad in his loin cloth and shawl. Sir Charles, having forsaken the baggy trousers and the unlaced shoes, appeared in the latest mode of fashion. These strange figures met in the Limehouse district, down by the East India docks.

Products of two different spheres, until this get-together neither of these men knew of the other.

"Who is Mr. Chaplin?" asked the mahatma, a question which almost any schoolboy in almost any land could answer.

* * * *

"WHAT is this mahatma?" Mr. Chaplin wanted to know.

As they were introduced, Charlie tripped over a rug. It was a meeting of the representatives of the Sacred and the Profane.

Mr. Chaplin immediately engaged the mahatma in debate, defending the Machine Age—for Charlie Chaplin is a product of the machine age, the machine having made Mr. Chaplin. Or was it Charlie who made the machine?

At any rate, Mahatma Gandhi is not interested in machines, or the machine age—only the ages. He has led his people back to the spinning wheel, to alleviate conditions in India.

"I am diametrically opposed to the abolition of machinery," the comedian told the philosopher. "Inventions, the inheritance of mankind, should be allowed to relieve the burdens of mankind."

"DO they?" smiled the mahatma, saying: "I understand, but the Occidental viewpoint is not suited to application in India." And the debate was closed.

Had Charlie Chaplin, the funny little man, and Mahatma Gandhi, the serious little man, come together in this country, millions of people would have spent millions of dollars to see and hear them.

'Twould have been billed "The Greatest Show on Earth—Chaplin and Gandhi, the Comedian and the Counsellor, the Clown and the Philosopher, the Pie-Thrower and the Prophet."

* * * *

BY the mere twist of imagination, the two roles could be changed. Charlie Chaplin, at times, is serious as the Mahatma Gandhi, and the mahatma humorous as the comedian. It depends on the mood of the moment. When Gandhi is in the presence of little children he works the same magic spell that Charlie Chaplin exerted when he wore his derby hat, twirled his cane and hopped along the dusty roads into the fade-out at the picture's end. When Charlie Chaplin, under the influence of Winston Churchill, his host, undertakes to nettle the mahatma—something that the greatest statesmen in England are unable to do—he must, perforce, become exceedingly serious. This was the Show of Shows.

Though Charlie Chaplin is one of the greatest showmen of the ages, and the mahatma one of the outstanding personalities of all time, not a penny was made when these two attractions were brought together in London. It would have taken the greatest stadium in America to stage this meeting, one of the strangest the world has ever known—the conjunction of the ephemeral and the eternal in two individuals, face to face, typifying the irreconcilable conflict between the flesh and the spirit of all human kind.

TIGHTER ALIEN LAW BARS HEAVY INFLUX

Stimson Reports Refusals of Visas Halt Entry of 146,000 in Year.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover was informed yesterday a clamping down of the immigration laws had diverted 146,000 aliens from American shores in the last fiscal year.

With an eye to cutting off recruits to the army of the Nation's unemployed, the Chief Executive announced more than a year ago that seldom-stressed provisions of the immigration statutes would be enforced during the economic depression.

As the first complete report of the results of this step he made public yesterday a statement from Secretary Stimson that 68 per cent of the normal influx of quota immigrants had been declined visas during the fiscal year ended July 1.

The Secretary of State reported that 88 per cent of the normal influx had been diverted in the nine months' period from September 8, 1930, when the presidential order was issued, to July 1, 1931.

Britain Shows Biggest Drop.

Throughout the year, Stimson said, only 48,528 quota immigration visas were issued by consular officers abroad, as compared with the annual quota of 153,714.

The greatest drop in visas issued was shown for Great Britain and Northern Ireland, with a quota of 65,712, of which only 10,917 or 17 per cent received visas. Germany showed the next largest drop numerically with only 9,769 visas or 38 per cent of a quota of 25,957.

"In addition to the reduction of quota immigration into the United States during the past fiscal year," Stimson said, "the immigration of aliens not subject to quota limitations also showed marked decrease. A total of 45,999 nonquota immigration visas were issued during the fiscal year, as compared with 107,469 similar visas issued during the previous year.

Canada Has High Percentage.

"These figures represent a decline of 57.2 per cent in the number of nonquota immigrants who received visas. This reduction occurred principally in the number of aliens who applied for nonquota status as natives of certain countries in the Western Hemisphere and as former residents of the United States."

Canada, with 14,584 nonquota immigration visas issued, showed by far the largest percentage of entrants of any country.

Stimson pointed out that of the total number of nonquota immigrants, 8,512 did not represent new immigration adding to the permanent population of the United States. Many, he said, were alien residents of the United States returning from temporary visits abroad, while a considerable number represented those coming to the United States temporarily for the purpose of study.

When Washington Was Younger—No. 54

THIS looks like the team the butchers put on the field at their annual picnic, but it isn't. It is the Washington Baseball Club of 1888, when this city was represented in the National League. Although the team pictureded above finished eighth in the race that season—those were the days when seventh or eighth place always was reserved for the Washington entry—several famous players are seen in the line-up.

For instance, notice that tall, serious-minded chap on the left end of the back row. It's Connie Mack, now manger of the Philadelphia Athletics, who has just piloted his team to three successive pennants and nine all told. He caught for the Nationals in those days, and, with Pitcher Hank O'Day, now a National League umpire (shown on the left end of the front row), formed one of the best batteries of that season. Another player who became famous on that team is "Dummy" Hoy, the fellow in the front row with the nobby white cap between his feet.

GREEN HITS WAGES SLASH

wages to follow, he said. "The wage cuts should lead to more activity in business by releasing money from banks. I think this will lead to additional employment."

Wood said if it had not been for the pledges obtained from industrial leaders by President Hoover, wages would have been cut long ago.

Disappointment Evident.

There was no attempt to conceal the disappointment of the administration that the changed course had been taken on wages. One economic authority pointed to the increased savings banked in the last two years, and said the time had about arrived when those who earn but little were ready to loosen up and spend, consequently booming trade. As for the outlook now, he did not predict.

Retrenchment in the past had been immediate, he said, as compared with the long delay which preceded the current wage cuts. About two years have elapsed since that celebrated meeting between President Hoover and industrial leaders, in which the latter pledged maintenance of existing wage levels.

It is the future which engages official study at present. There is more hope than certainty as to the degree to which the example of reducing wages will be followed in the business and industrial worlds.

Other Cuts Expected.

An expectation was apparent in more than one quarter that the wage cut leadership of such big corporations as United States and Bethlehem Steel and General Motors would have a wide following. This was predicted in some Government quarters, as well as by Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana.

"The buying power of the mass of people will be still further reduced and the situation aggravated," Walsh said.

During the day, a report was circulated that railroad union leaders meeting here had agreed to a 10 per cent cut of wages in that industry. This was called a feeler in union circles, and brought vigorous denial.

Railways Make No Move.

No meeting to consider wages has been held lately, and no change from the policy announced at a recent meeting of the Railway Labor Executives Association has been made. At that time, the executives, representing the 21 railroad-worker unions, said there was no justification for a reduction in railroad wages and warned railroad executives that they would resist it.

The standard of living has become a focal point for Government attention, from the President down to the clerks assembling new statistics. Periodical reports on commodity prices may be expected.

The latest Labor Department compilation put the decline of living costs since 1929 at between 11 and 12 per cent. What has to be paid for foodstuffs was reported at 23½ per cent less than two years ago. Clothing prices went down slightly more than 9 per cent, with rent 7½ per cent less.

Gifford Declines Comment.

Comment was declined by Mr. Gifford, who is president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. He said a while back, however, that "although the present scale of wages would be equivalent to a large increase if commodity prices and the cost of living should stay down, we ought, I believe, to make every effort to maintain the wage scale."

Other officials at Gifford's headquarters accepted the steel wage cut as an action forced after first reducing salaries and dividends.

With the business future still indefinite, one official said, for the steel companies to have exhausted all their surplus to maintain a high wage level would have been uneconomic and merely have postponed the inevitable.

The reduction was seen by this official as a step that might improve conditions by lowering production costs and thereby stimulating buying.

Doak Withholds Comment.

Secretary Doak withheld comment, but at the Labor Department it was said his position on wage scales was unchanged and coincided with that expressed by President Hoover.

No data was available at the department on the number of steel workers who are union members. Officials of the American Federation of Labor said, however, that the open shop prevailed, as a rule, among the steel workers, although some might be members of organizations affiliated with the federation.

Secretary Lamont confined his comment to saying he regretted the wage cutting. While the public remarks by officials were so sparse, enough was said privately to show that sentiment was conflicting and confused.

Economists Defend Cut.

One executive officer took the view the industrial retrenchment move was being made just when an upgrade could be sighted. Some Government economists defended the wage reductions, however, as bound to strengthen industry.

In this connection, it was mentioned that reduction of wages had been put into effect only after all other methods of deflation had been carried out. Inventories have been reduced in practically all lines of industry, while operating costs have been cut and extravagance and wasteful habits eliminated.

Efficiency, generally, has been improved through better methods of production made necessary by the depression. Moreover, many dividend payments have been cut on common stocks as profits have dropped.

Mr. Green suggested the tariff schedules protecting the steel companies from foreign competition should be reduced.

He said they were "the beneficiaries of a very high protective tariff * * * on the theory that it is necessary in order to protect the American wage standard, American wages and the American standard of living."

Pointing to statements that the wage reductions would save the steel corporation $25,000,000 a year, Mr. Green said "that means that the employes will have $25,000,000 less to spend."

Dividends Are Criticized.

The labor head criticized the steel corporation particularly for cutting wages after paying large dividends during recent years. He cited a 40 per cent stock dividend in June, 1927, and cash dividends amounting to 160¼ per cent from April 1, 1901, to December 31, 1930.

He said it seemed to be the policy of this and other great corporations to pay generous dividends during periods of prosperity, and reduce wages during periods of adversity.

Mr. Green also said court records showed the Bethlehem Steel Co. had paid cash bonuses to its officers from 1918 to 1930 of $25,150,000 and dividends amounting to $133,000,000 during the same period.

Among those who attended the White House conference in November, 1929, at which the pledges to which Green referred were made were Alfred P. Sloan, jr., president of General Motors; E. G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation.

White House Statement.

After the conference the White House issued a statement saying in part:

"The President was authorized by the employers who were present at this morning's conference to state on their individual behalf that they will not initiate any movement for wage reduction, and it was their strong recommendation that this attitude should be pursued by the country as a whole.

"They considered that aside from the human considerations involved, the consuming power of the country will thereby be maintained.

"The President was also authorized by the representatives of labor to state that in their individual views and that as their strong recommendation to the country as a whole that no movements beyond those already in negotiation should be initiated for increase of wages, and that every cooperation should be given by labor to industry in the handling of its problems."

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Several major American corporations today stood committed to wage or salary reductions, affecting hundreds of thousands of workers.

Joining hands with United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel, and General Motors, the following companies announced reductions of 10 per cent, effective October 1:

American Smelting & Refining Co., Colorado Fuel & Iron, General Refractories Co., Jones & Laughlin Steel, B. F. Goodrich Rubber, and others.

While labor and government leaders received the news with disappointment the school of thought that holds wages must come down in the face of declining income, regarded the news as the inevitable consequence of a prolonged depression, and an essential preliminary to recovery.

Million Face Reductions.

If the wage cuts should spread throughout the steel industry, upwards of 1,000,000 employes would be affected, and if the railroads reduced wages, 1,300,000 more.

Though railroads can reduce wages only after prolonged negotiation with rail labor unions, some Wall street observers took the remarks of Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, today, as indicating the attempt may have to be made. Speaking at Akron, Ohio, Mr. Willard said reductions may become necessary if prices continue to decline.

Generally the cuts so far announced were 10 per cent, effective October 1. U. S. Steel led the list with more than 200,000 employes; Bethlehem has about 50,000; Jones and Laughlin 20,000. The number employed by the other companies was not available.

No Upswing Now Likely.

Commodity reports and a business survey given the board by John H. Hart, senior vice president of the First National Bank of Detroit, indicated that no major upswing in business is likely to occur this fall, although seasonal advances are probable in some basic lines.

Mr. Hart said there were favorable signs of some importance in consumer lines such as foods, clothing, leather and textiles, but, he added, "until the basic or capital producing lines, including steel, copper, oils, machinery and agricultural implements are materially increased, no general gain in industry should be expected."

WILLARD IS OPPOSED TO RAIL WAGE CUTS

B.& O. President, in Address, Says He Hopes None Will Be Necessary.

Akron, Ohio, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Hope that the railroads will not find it necessary to reduce the wages of their many thousands of employes was expressed today by Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, in a speech before the Great Lakes Regional Advisory Board here.

Mr. Willard said wage reductions had been considered as an alternative to the proposed 15 per cent increase in freight rates, but that a program of lower wages would not be effective in time to help the railroads in their present emergency. He pointed out, however, that out of 2,000,000 persons regularly employed by the railroads, only 1,300,000 now have jobs.

Rate Increase Stabilizer.

The proposed rate increase, Willard predicted, would prove to be a powerful stabilizer of business and employment. He said it would enable the railroads, during a "temporary period of depression," to maintain forces as far as could be justified by the volume of business and good practice, and to continue their ordinary maintenance program.

Willard emphasized that the railroads, in normal times, have incomes sufficient to make them one of the Nation's outstanding consumers. He said they purchased 28 per cent of the annual steel output, an equal amount of lumber, and were heavy buyers in many other lines. The proposed rate increase, he said, would be only temporary, for railway managers realize that regularly good railroad business depends upon sufficiently low rates to meet changing and competitive conditions.

TREASURY TO SELL $100,000,000 BILLS

Offering to Be Made Sept. 28; $1,100,000,000 Raised in Previous Sales.

(Associated Press.)

Another turnover in part of the Government's short-term debt was announced yesterday by Secretary Mellon, who said that the Treasury would sell $100,000,000 in Treasury bills to the highest bidder on September 28.

The proceeds of the sale will be used to retire $100,076,000 of bills which fall due on September 30. The new bills will be dated September 30 and will mature on December 30.

Financing by the Treasury on September 15 provided $1,100,000,000, which was used to retire $634,000,000 maturing certificates of indebtedness, to pay $30,000,000 interest on the public debt, and provide funds to operate the Government until December 15.

The financing, however, did not provide funds to meet maturing bills which have been used by the Government at the rate of about $50,000,000 weekly from July 1 to September 1, to raise funds needed in carrying on the work of the Government.

Use of the bills enables the Treasury to obtain the necessary money at the minimum rate of interest, as the money raised through the bill sales costs the Government less than that raised by any other form of security.

Armed Guardsmen Help Cattle Tests

Iowa Troops Ordered to Protect Veterinarians From Irate Farmers.

Tipton, Iowa, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—State veterinarians tonight were ready to continue tuberculin testing of Cedar County cattle under the protection of Iowa National Guardsmen.

It was generally thought the State workers would start tomorrow where they left off Monday when 200 farmers defied 65 deputies seeking to protect two veterinarians while testing cows on the E. J. Lenker farm. Lenker today said, however, that he would seek an injunction, the exact nature of which he did not disclose.

Gov. Turner's proclamation asking Adjt. Gen. W. H. Bailey to put troops in Cedar County to "prevent breaches of the peace, to reestablish law and order, and to aid in the enforcement of the law in Cedar County," was read from the courthouse steps by Brig. Gen. Park A. Findley, commanding the troops. In a radio broadcast, leaders of the opposition aired their reasons for opposing the test.

Biography of Evangelist Gives Kidnaping Version

New York, Sept. 23 (U.P.).—The first biography of Aimee Semple McPherson, the famous West Coast evangelist, will be published in New York tomorrow. It is written by Nancy Barr Mavity, novelist, and is called "Sister Aimee."

Mrs. Mavity writes casually of Aimee's "kidnaping" episode in 1926 and takes it for granted that the evangelist and Kenneth G. Ormiston disappeared together, lived in the cottage at Carmel and then invented the story of abduction and imprisonment in a Mexican shack.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Mrs. Marietta Burrows Gannon, 78, widow of Frank S. Gannon, former president of the Norfolk & Southern Railway Co. and of the Montgomery, Wyoming & Southern Railroad, died early today at her Staten Island home after a long illness.

Surviving her are her sons, Frank S. Gannon, jr., former supreme court justice; Dr. James A. Gannon and William E. Gannon, of Washington, D. C.; T. Albert Gannon, Chicago; the Rev. Robert I. Gannon, dean of St. Peter's College, Jersey City, N. J., and Gregory Gannon, Manhattan. There is also a daughter, Mrs. J. K. Summers, of New York.

Pacific Shippers Meet To Study Pound Change

San Francisco, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—A special meeting of the Pacific Coast-European Shipping Conference, composed of twelve large steamship lines, was called here today to discuss the demand of a member for a rate on grain and lumber based on the dollar instead of the pound sterling, in view of Great Britain's suspension of the gold standard.

Shipping officials said the rates on grain and lumber were the only ones now based upon the pound sterling. Conference authorities expressed apprehension over the possibility of a restricted movement of grain and lumber in the event no new agreement should be made.

Book Concern Sold To Competing Firm

Farrar & Rinehart Buys Hearst Corporation, Founded in 1914.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The purchase of Cosmopolitan Book Corporation, which has published the works of a number of noted authors, by Farrar & Rinehart, Inc., was announced today by Stanley M. Rinehart, jr., president of the latter firm.

Cosmopolitan Book Corporation was established in 1914 as Hearst's International Library Co. Five years later the name was changed.

Farrar & Rinehart was established in June, 1929, by John Farrar, Stanley M. Rinehart, jr., and Frederick R. Rinehart, who had been associated with Doubleday, Doran & Co.

Wife Is Arrested After Man's Death

Woman Tells Police 2 Men Robbed and Killed Mate in Georgia.

Fairburn, Ga., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—A warrant was issued today for the arrest of Mrs. Romie Carran, of Jacksonville, Fla., found bound and gagged a short distance from the body of her husband in a forest near here yesterday.

The nature of the charges preferred in the warrant was not disclosed. Solicitor H. L. Golightly said, however, it was issued on technical grounds in order that she might be detained for further questioning regarding her story that two Negroes robbed her and her husband, Charles M. Carran, an accountant, beat him to death and left her with hands and feet tied and her mouth stuffed with cotton bandage.

She has been questioned rigidly since fox hunters, attracted by her cries, found her early Tuesday. Nearby on a road seldomly travelled lay the body of Carran.

Slang Is Declared Key To Understand America

The foreign origin of common American slang phrases was explained at the Washington Lions Club meeting in the Hotel Mayflower yesterday by Dr. Allen A. Stockdale, pastor of the First Congregational Church. He cited many confusing plural meanings of various slang words and phrases, but stated that an understanding of these colloquialisms was one of the surest methods of interpreting the American people.

Commendatore G. Gelardi, general manager of the Claridge Hotel, London, who came to this country recently as a guest director for the new Waldorf Astoria in New York City, also spoke. Plans for the forthcoming regional convention of Lions Clubs in this district at Cumberland, Md., next month were discussed by President Edgar Brawner.

Mrs. Julius I. Peyser Hurt in Auto Collision

Mrs. Julius I. Peyser, wife of the attorney, received a fractured collarbone, lacerations to the scalp and suffered shock late yesterday when the sedan in which she and Mrs. Bertha Mitchman were riding was in collision with another machine at Reno road and Fessenden street northwest. Mrs. Mitchman received cuts and bruises. Both women live at the Hotel Shoreham.

Thomas Onley, colored driver of Mr. Peyser's car, was charged with driving without a permit. Police reported that Reed M. Howell, 19, 3231 Klingle road, operated the other machine. Both cars were badly damaged.

Farm Men Renew Market Act Policy

Declare Time Has Arrived to Ask Congress to Make Changes.

Chicago, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—A statement of policy renewing the American Farm Bureau Federation's demand for the equalization fee provision in the Federal marketing act was adopted today by its board of directors.

Their official commitment said the time has now arrived to ask Congress for amendments to the marketing act to correct its weaknesses and limitations.

Other proposals crowded out of the schedule will come before the annual federation convention in Chicago December 7, 8 and 9 when the membership will be asked to indorse the equalization fee stand. In the meantime executives will work on a plan for leasing Muscle Shoals for use of agriculture and determine what if a bid should be submitted by the federation to the Government.

Living Costs Down Sharply in 2 Years

(Associated Press.)

The most recent analysis by the Department of Labor shows the cost of living in the United States has decreased since 1929 by 11.7 per cent. The index is built on the items food, clothing, rent fuel and light, household furnishing goods and miscellaneous.

The most substantial decline has taken place in foodstuffs. These show a drop of 23.5 per cent. Clothing prices showed a change of 9.4 per cent, while rent decreased 7.5 per cent. A decrease of 3 per cent was shown by fuel and light, while household furnishings declined almost 11 per cent. The miscellaneous column, including all necessaries not otherwise classified, showed only a nominal reduction.

During the six-month period ended June, 1931, occurred the most marked decline in the food group, totaling 13.8 per cent. During the same time house furnishings declined 6 per cent, fuel and light, 5.5 per cent, while clothing went down 4.6 and rents fell off 3.1 per cent.

LaGuardia Asks Halt On Federal Steel Work

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Representative F. H. LaGuardia today called on the United States Comptroller General to stop payments on all Government building contracts in which steel is used because of the industry's announcement of a 10 per cent wage reduction.

In a telegram to Comptroller General J. R. McCarl, the New York Republican warned that unless the Government took drastic action, wage cuts might become "an epidemic."

He said payment on Government contracts could be stopped under the prevailing rate of wages law. The contracts, he suggested, would include all those for public buildings and steel used in cruiser construction.

U.S. FOR ARMS PACT BLOCKED BY JAPAN

Wilson Irritated by Attitude of Nippon's Envoys Toward Year Holiday.

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The Italian proposal of a "gentlemen's agreement" for an immediate one-year armaments truce received the endorsement of the United States before the League of Nations assembly disarmament committee today, but met the opposition of Japan.

Hugh R. Wilson, American Ambassador to Switzerland and representative of his government in the disarmament committee, announced the United States was ready to accept the plan for the armaments holiday, except for suspending its program of destroyer construction. The construction is needed, he said, as a measure of unemployment relief.

Naotake Sato, Japanese spokesman, declared it impracticable to attempt an immediate truce. He urged the matter be postponed for consideration at the beginning of the general disarmament conference in February.

Quick Action Is Desired.

Mr. Wilson voiced dissatisfaction with the Japanese position and asserted the phychological value of the truce would be entirely lost if it did not begin now.

"In general," Mr. Wilson said, "the suggestions relating to the land and air forces appear to be practical and of a nature acceptable to my government.

"The present cruiser level of the United States is considerably lower than the figure provided for in the London agreement. Thus any understanding not to augment existing naval strength causes us embarrassment and dislocates our construction plans.

"Nevertheless, we regard the general question of disarmament as so important, and the necessity of creating a propitious psychological condition for the disarmament conference so urgent, that we are willing to forego for the duration of the truce our treaty rights in this respect."

Lord Cecil of Great Britain, approved the proposal in principle, saying, "Nobody can doubt that if the truce is practicable it is desirable."

Takes Middle Position.

He took a middle position, however, proposing that the Italian scheme be embodied in a resolution to be sent to all governments with the request that they announce their attitudes.

The French position remained undisclosed, but the Polish delegate cast doubts on the practicability of applying the truce.

Lord Cecil stressed the necessity of virtual unanimity if the truce is to be accomplished saying: "If any important country can not accept it, then it can't be done."

Under the Italian proposal, advanced by Foreign Minister Dino Grandi and amplified by Gen. Alberto de Martinis, the governments would agree no to increase expenditures for land forces beyond the appropriations already voted; to suspend all new naval construction, including replacements, and to build no military airplanes except to replace unservicable units.

Hawks Averages 200 Miles Per Hour on Trip

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Capt. Frank Hawks, who shatters speed records, arrived here today from Memphis, Tenn., claiming another. He traveled the 975 miles between the two cities in 4 hours 50 minutes, for an approximate speed of 200 miles an hour.

That was 7 minutes better than the time for a New York-to-Memphis flight set last Monday by Maj. Jimmie Doolittle, transcontinental record-holder.

Hop to Tokyo by Way Of North Pole Planned

Winnipeg, Manitoba, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—A flight from Omaha, Nebr., to Tokyo, via Winnipeg, Chesterfield Inlet, and the North Pole is planned by Capt. J. H. Slaughter, of Omaha, and will start in May, 1932.

The proposed flight was announced here today by A. J. Milne, of Winnipeg, who will be engineer and relief pilot for Capt. Slaughter. The scheduled 6,600-mile flight is to follow a route from Omaha, the east-and-west geographic center of the United States, to Winnipeg, north to the Pole, and then southeast to Tokyo.

Arms Holiday Acceptable Only on Unstarted Ships

Stimson Insists Present Work Must Go On to Relieve Unemployment and Replace Obsolete Craft; Italy's Plan to Start No New Building Lauded.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Stimson indicated yesterday that the proposal before the League of Nations for a year's new naval building holiday was acceptable to the United States if it excepted the eleven American destroyers on which bids recently were opened.

It is felt this destroyer construction is needed to relieve unemployment and to replace obsolete vessels of this type.

The Secretary of State made it plain that the proposal advanced by Italy and now under consideration at Geneva provides for a holiday on new construction only and would not apply to the seven cruisers, three submarines and an aircraft carrier now being built for the American Navy.

In lieu of making a complete statement of the American position, Secretary Stimson made public the remarks of Hugh R. Wilson, the American representative, before the third committee of the league assembly at Geneva yesterday.

Wilson's statement said that the question relating to the land and air disarmament appeared to him to be practicable and of a nature acceptable to his Government.

Wilson said pending a complete survey of the Navy aspects of the problem it would not be possible to approve any particular form of agreement at present.

He pointed out that the present cruiser level of the United States was "considerably below" the London treaty quota.

While failure to augment existing naval strength for a year would cause "embarrassment and a dislocation of construction plans," he said the United States was willing to "forego our treaty rights in this respect."

He expressed the hope that the debate would develop from the general to the more specific so that agreement could be reached on details.

The seven American cruisers now being built are: The New Orleans, at the New York Navy Yard, to be completed in June, 1932; the Portland, the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Co., Fore River, Mass., to be completed in August, 1932; The Astoria, the Puget Sound Navy Yard, Bremerton, Wash., to be completed in October, 1933; the Indianapolis, New York Shipbuilding Co., Camden, N. J., to be completed in August, 1932; the Tuscaloosa, also at the Camden yards, to be completed in March, 1934; the Minneapolis, Philadelphia Navy Yard, to be completed in October, 1933, and the San Francisco, Mare Island Navy Yard, to be completed in February, 1932. The estimated construction costs for each cruiser is $17,000,000.

The aircraft carrier Ranger, to approximate 13,800 tons, is building at the yards of the Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Corporation, Newport News, Va. It is estimated to cost $19,000,000 and would be completed in May, 1934.

The three submarines, all of the fleet type, are being constructed at an estimated cost of $5,000,000 each. The Dolphin is at the Portsmouth, N. H., Navy Yard, to be completed in August, 1932; the Cachalot, also at Portsmouth, to be finished in September, 1933, and the Cuttlefish, being built by the Electric Boat Co., Groton, Conn., to be finished in December, 1933.

U. S. GOLD RESERVE SHOWS BIG INCREASE

Federal Reserve Banks Note $2,000,000,000 More Than Required by Law.

(Associated Press.)

The strength of the Federal Reserve system was demonstrated yesterday in a statement by its governing body that member banks hold in their gold reserves about $2,000,000,000 more than required by law.

The Reserve Board's August review also showed that Great Britain, which temporarily abandoned the gold standard this week, had a net loss of $87,878,000 in gold from January 1 to the end of July, during which time France imported $209,935,000 from Great Britain and exported $382,000 to her neighbor.

The Federal Reserve banks were shown to have held last week nearly one-half of the world's gold supply with a total of more than $5,000,000,000. That above legal requirements was placed at about one-fifth the world total.

The reserve ratio in August was 81.4 per cent, while under the law the banks are required to have a 40 per cent reserve in gold against notes in circulation and 35 per cent against deposits. The volume in excess of legal requirements is about $400,000,000 more than it was two years ago.

The board reviewed the laws requiring that all Federal Reserve currency be protected dollar for dollar in gold or eligible paper and said that while gold reserves had increased, "free gold" or that above legal requirements had decreased by about $350,000,000 in the last two years. The drop in the "free gold" was brought about through action of the banks in withdrawing eligible paper from their reserves and substituting gold for it. During the two years the banks' elegible paper decreased by about $900,000,000 and the "free gold" held during August averaged about $700,000,000.

The board said Reserve Bank credit outstanding increased in August by $240,000,000, and at the end of the month amounted to $1,200,000,000.

The additional demand for credit, it said, was caused in part by continued transfer of funds by foreign correspondents of the Reserve banks from the acceptance market to balances with the Reserve banks and in part by the increase of money in circulation, which was $100,000,000 larger in August than is usual at that season of the year.

CHURCH VOTES DOWN TEST FOR MARRIAGE

Episcopalians Are Against Medical Requirement; Favor Court.

Denver, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The House of Deputies of the Protestant Episcopal Church today adopted and later rescinded a canon provision requiring medical certificates before marriage, approved establishment of a marital ecclesiastical court in each diocese, and outlined eight impediments to matrimony.

Approval of the amendment requiring both parties to a proposed marriage to present certificates stating each free from mental and physical impediments to union, came as a surprise. The vote was 240 for the amendment and 215 against. When it was announced the vote was so close the deputies agreed to reconsider. Only a few dissenting voices were heard on the second vote, which defeated the amendment.

The judge or judges of the courts would be appointed by the bishop with the advice and consent of the standing committee.

The deputies also approved a section which requires that "If one party to a marriage so grievously offend the other that security or permanence of the home is imperiled, it shall be the duty of the offended party, before instituting legal proceedings of any nature to lay the matter before a minister of the church, and if shall be the duty of such minister to labor that the parties may be reconciled.

Eight of nine impediments to marriage listed in a proposed canon were adopted without debate. On one which set forth that "impotence of either party, undisclosed to the other," argument was spirited and at times the Rev. ZeB. Phillips, Washington, D. C., had difficulty in preserving order.

One section of the proposed matrimonial canon remained for discussion tomorrow and concerns the remarriage of divorced persons. The only exception would be made in the case of a divorced person who is the innocent party to a divorce granted on grounds of adultry. The same exception is made under existing rules.

FLIERS CONSIDER JAPAN-TEXAS HOP

Herndon and Pangborn Plan to Capture $50,000 for Transpacific Flight.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—A one-stop flight from Japan to Dallas, Tex., is the latest undertaking being contemplated by Hugh Herndon, jr., and Clyde Pangborn, who originally started out to break the Post-Gatty globe-girdling record.

Their flight headquarters here today announced the airmen would attempt such a flight if a reported prize offer of $25,000 by Col. W. E. Easterwood, of Dallas, could be verified.

In addition, they would be eligible for another $25,000 offered by Asahi, a Tokyo newspaper, for a flight from Japan to the United States. This offer permits a take-off from Samushiro Beach, 50 miles from Tokyo.

Col. Easterwood, who paid the French fliers, Coste and Bellonte, $25,000 for their Paris-New York-Dallas flight, was reported traveling in western Canada, and could not be reached.

Herndon and Pangborn received permission from the Japanese government for a transpacific flight several days ago, after having run into difficulties for taking some aerial photographs which turned out to include views of fortified areas. They abandoned their globe-circling project when they ran far behind schedule in Siberia.

The Seattle, Wash., Chamber of Commerce has offered $28,000 for a Tokyo to Seattle flight, but has refused to change the offer to allow for a take-off from Samushiro Beach, the Herndon-Pangborn representatives said. They pointed out that a take-off from Tokyo would be impossible for a heavily-laden transoceanic plane.

If they reach the United States successfully, the fliers may attempt to establish a new long distance record by flying as far as possible into the interior before refuelling for the Dallas hop.

AKRON WINS PRAISE BY HER FIRST FLIGHT

hillsides, the ship was cut loose from the mooring mast and floated lazily upward.

The first set of the eight motors was not turned on until the ship had risen 200 feet. Then she gracefully circled around, passed across the airport while a salute of 21 guns boomed, and turned toward Cleveland.

The airship showed herself to thousands in downtown Cleveland before returning to Akron in the early dusk.

Red lights blinking on her portside and green on her starboard, she settled down toward the mooring mast twice before ropes were thrown to the ground and her nose was made fast to the mast. Fifteen minutes after 8 p. m. she was back in her dock.

The Akron was constructed at a cost of $5,375,000 and was the first dirigible built in the United States after the ill-fated Shenandoah, which crashed in a storm in southern Ohio in 1925. The Akron must be flown 75 hours before she will be accepted by the Navy. One of these flights will be of 48-hour duration.

Passengers of the ship were unanimous in praise of its performance. To Secretary of the Navy Adams the flight was "highly satisfactory."

With the flight, the Navy takes the lead in the world in lighter-than-air craft, Assistant Secretary Ingalls said.

Rear Admiral G. C. Dayton, president of the Naval Board of Inspection and Survey, said, "The board is gratified by the performance of the Akron on its first trial flight."

Lieut. Comdr. Rosendahl declared: "The operating personnel of the Akron is well satisfied with the performance of the ship as demonstrated by today's flight. The only trouble we had was with the exhaust pipe of one of the engines. It clogged and we had to shut the engine off."

Unauthorized Rite Brings Guilty Plea

Accused Preacher Admits Performing Wedding Without Permit.

M. Erquhart, colored preacher, whose address was given as 2388 Champlain street northwest in a marriage license return three weeks ago, appeared in Police Court yesterday, withdrew a plea of not guilty to a charge of performing a marriage ceremony without proper authorization, and entered a plea of guilty.

Sentence was held in abeyance while court officials weigh circumstances of the case.

Erquhart performed nuptial rites for Walter E. Miles and Carrie Rosemond, both colored, July 31. The couple had obtained the license July 15. The preacher named in the original license did not perform the ceremony and the couple asked Erquhart to substitute.

POLITICAL CLUB HELD GAMBLING QUARTERS

Police Captain Says Courts Refused to Convict in New York Cases.

New York, Sept. 23 (U.P.).—Sheriff Thomas M. Farley's Political Club, a Tammany district organization on Sixty-second street, served as headquarters for a gang of big-money gamblers, Police Capt. Lewis J. Valentine testified today as the State legislative committee engaged in investigating municipal corruption turned its attention to the police department.

Valentine said police had great difficulty pressing charges against gamblers who operated at the club, mainly because magistrates would refuse to convict men arrested in political clubs.

He said that many "big shot" Broadway gamblers, including the late Arnold Rothstein, frequented Farley's club.

Farley's establishment was not the only political club that harbored professional gamblers, Valentine said. The clubs maintained by Harry C. Perry and Michael J. Cruise, both Tammany district leaders, served as gambling dens, according to his testimony.

The police captain's testimony came after a session of the committee in which William F. Doyle, the Tammany horse doctor who went to jail rather than submit to questioning, named nine men with whom he split part of $2,000,000 board of standards and appeals fees.

AIR MAIL SERVICE NOW 20 YEARS OLD

Pioneers of Service Join in Celebrating Anniversary at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The twentieth anniversary of the first air mail flight was commemorated here today.

Frank H. Hitchcock, then Postmaster General of the United States and now a newspaper publisher at Tucson, Ariz., and Earle Ovington, Santa Barbara, Calif., the pioneer in carrying the mails aloft, were the central figures in the ceremonies.

As they gathered on a field at Nassau boulevard, Long Island, N. Y., on September 23, 1911, to dispatch the first air mail, so they met again, this time at the newest of Los Angeles' air terminals, United Airport, to commemorate 20 years of air progress.

Ovington took the controls of a trimotored Fokker monoplane, bearing eight passengers and 300 pounds of mail, and departed over the air mail route from Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz.

In 1911 Ovington flew a distance of ten miles from "Aeroplane Station No. 1, Garden City Estates, N. Y.," to the Mineola postoffice with 50 pounds of mail in his lap. He used a single-seated Bleriot racing monoplane, capable of a speed of 72 miles an hour.

Postmaster General Brown chronicled air mail history by radio last night, commemorating the twentieth anniversary of the day when the first bag of mail was flown.

He bespoke "support of this twentieth century industry" to "develop a Nation-wide network of air lines to carry passengers, express and freight," with mails but an "incidental operation." At present, he pointed out, the Postoffice Department is spending $17,000,000 annually above air mail receipts to help keep this Nation abreast of others in aviation.

COOKE FAVORS LAW ON 3 PER CENT BEER

Expert Says Home Brewing of Strong Ales Would Be Checked.

Legalization of 3 per cent beer, as a means of making the national prohibition act "more nearly conform to the eighteenth amendment" was urged yesterday by Levi Cooke, authority on the legal aspects of the eighteenth amendment and the prohibition act, in an exclusive interview with The Post.

Mr. Cooke, who for many years has dealt with the general prohibition question in a professional way and has counseled brewers on production of legal beverages since the coming of prohibition, declared raising of the alcoholic limit would be the first step toward some kind of settled administration under the eighteenth amendment.

"The only means of eliminating organizations now controlling, outside of home brewing, the beer business of the United States, is by economic compulsion," he said. "The legalization of 3 per cent beer would make illicit operations in strong beers cease to be profitable, and the beer gang problem would cease to be. Home brewing of strong ales would likewise cease to be worth the trouble."

Revenues Not Mentioned.

Mr. Cooke did not go into the question of national revenues from legalized production, or benefits in the way of employment, grain and fuel consumption and railroad traffic, which he declared "unquestionably" would follow.

"The present important discussion of raising the alcoholic content of beer has been attended by a great deal of confusion on the facts," he said. "There has been confusion both on the legal questions under the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution and more confusion as to the scientific and physiological basic facts.

"The eighteenth amendment forbids only intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes. Nothing nonintoxicating is prohibited. Congress, however, was authorized to enact appropriate legislation for enforcement of the constitutional provision.

"Congress, in the national prohibition act passed in 1919, declared that anything was to be deemed intoxicating which contained one-half per cent or more of alcohol. This part of the law was sustained by the Supreme Court of the United States despite the fact generally admitted that a considerably higher percentage of alcohol could be present in a beverage without making the beverage intoxicating."

Below Intoxicating Point.

Mr. Cooke said that Wayne B. Wheeler, late general counsel of the Antisaloon League, who had much to do with drafting the law, "frankly admitted" that the congressional limit was well below the intoxicating point.

He pointed out that the Wickersham Commission, speaking of beer of an alcoholic content of not more than 2.75 per cent by volume, declared there is much evidence that beer of such content may reasonably be pronounced not intoxicating.

He said the same view was taken by the late Dr. Hobart A. Hare, dean of medicine at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, a foremost physiologist.

"If it be conceded that 2.75 per cent beer is nonintoxicating, what are the reasons justifying Congress in changing the percentage in the Volstead act?" he asked.

Prohibits Only Intoxicants.

"In the first place, the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution prohibits only intoxicating liquors. In view of the fact that this is a constitutional restriction upon the people, certainly Congress should not by mere statute restrict beverages which are not intoxicating by the mere use of a very low percentage figure.

"In the second place, existing prohibition has developed an enormous amount of illicit beverages of the beer variety, strong in alcohol, which have been the cause of a vast amount of abuse in the way of gang control of strong beer distribution. Ten years of effort to enforce the national prohibition act, with its present one-half per cent limit, have shown a practical impossibility of stamping out such illicit production. The enormous profits derived from this source have enabled criminal organizations to command the field, corrupt enforcement officers and maintain, by a system of terrorism, their control of the operation. On top of this widespread violation of law comes the evil of home brewing, the consequences of which include the debasement of the home and the physical bad effect of widespread consumption of strong beers made under insanitary conditions."

He said the principal objection to near beer of less than one-half per cent alcoholic content is the fact that boiling the beer in order to reduce the alcoholic content to less than one-half per cent destroys other elements which make the product palatable, refreshing and nutritious. Brewers, after protracted experiments, have found they can manufacture 3 per cent beer, containing all of the necessary elements, without boiling, he said.

GIRL SCOUT LEADERS MEET AT HOOVER CAMP

Underwood & Underwood.

GIRL SCOUTS SEEK TO HELP JOBLESS

Executives Confer With Mrs. Hoover on Measures to Relieve Stress.

(Associated Press.)

Girl Scout executives at Camp Rapidan yesterday sought advice of Mrs. Herbert Hoover on what measures the organization might take to aid in relieving unemployment.

Officials of the organization went into the sessions hoping that a national program for 260,000 Girl Scouts in 4,000 communities, welding together hitherto scattered and independent efforts, would grow out of the conference with Mrs. Hoover.

Mrs. Hoover previously has conferred with Mrs. John F. Sippel, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and advocated that community groups, not specifically organized for dispensing aid, volunteer their services now as they did during the World War.

Two outstanding examples of unemployment aid enterprise of the Girl Scouts were slated for discussion at the Rapidan camp.

One was from Philadelphia, where the local council looked after all needy families represented in the Girl Scout organization. The other was from Salt Lake City, where a benefit circus performance by the entire Girl Scout organization raised a fund to purchase food and clothing for the unemployed.

Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth, of the President's Emergency Employment Organization and a member of the Girl Scout's executive board, was among those who assembled at the camp for the discussion.

Rotarians and Boys Pay Jelleff Honor

Lad's Club Gives Watch and Birthday Cake to Merchant.

The Rotary Club of Washington joined with the Boys' Club of Washington yesterday at the regular luncheon of the former organization in celebrating the fifty-sixth birthday of Frank R. Jelleff, a member of both groups. The Boys' Club, of which Jelleff is president and founder, presented a handsome wrist watch, a birthday cake and a copy of the original minutes of the first meeting of the boys' organization to the well known merchant.

The luncheon guests were addressed by D. E. Replogle, vice president of the Jenkins Television Corporation. Mr. Replogle predicted that television would become a very definite factor in public entertainment within two years.

High tribute was paid to Mr. Jelleff by two other speakers, the Rev. C. T. Warner and Harold A. Brooks. Several songs were sung by Nicholas Vasilieff, formerly of the Russian Cathedral quartette. Mr. Vasilieff also spoke to the Rotarians of his reasons for coming to this country.

GRAND JURY ILLEGAL; MANY REINDICTMENTS ARE BLOCKED

cases again until next week. It will be necessary to call back to Washington a large number of Department of Justice investigators—at least twenty—who have returned to posts in widely separated parts of the country after completing their labors in the police inquiry.

Disruption of the present grand jury will not affect action of the two special bodies appointed by the District Commissioners to handle the involved situation brought about by the jury's special report in the Orville Staples case.

This special report, brought out at the same time the five indictments were returned in the third-degree investigation, recommended the reinstatement of former Policeman Staples.

Staples was removed from the force by action of a trial board, and the grand jury's special report attacked the work of Policeman Joseph Hunt in gathering trial board testimony and by indirection hit Inspector Louis J. Stoll for his part in the Staples trial.

Investigation Will Continue.

Corporation Counsel William W. Bride and the District Commissioners gave positive assurance yesterday that the disqualification of Juror Johnson or any other legal technicality would not affect the course of procedure they have agreed upon to clear up charges against the Police Department.

The committee of lawyers appointed to look into the charges contained in the grand jury report will continue its secret meetings and undercover work, and the committee of five civilians will hold themselves in readiness to hold trial over any policeman recommended for prosecution by the attorneys' board.

The five policemen suspended after indictment on charges of assault by the now discredited grand jury will remain on the suspension list, Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, Police Commissioner, said yesterday. The evidence on which these indictments were returned still remains, and the Commissioners can not afford to ignore it on the face of a legal technicality, he declared.

Commissioners Determined.

Mr. Bride said the Commissioners were determined to settle "once and for all," the questions brought to the fore by the grand jury.

"The Commissioners are absolutely determined that the Hunt and Staples case, as well as other issues arising from the grand jury's action shall be cleared up. The new legal developments will have no bearing on any independent investigation, or on the Commissioners' subsequent action in these cases.

"The citizens' committee, recently appointed, will continue to function in spite of purely legal complexities."

All of the 179 indictments returned by the July grand jury to date can be thrown out on challenge except in instances wh-e defendants have already entered guilty pleas. Should a defendant elect to go ahead and stand trial on the indictment already returned, he may do so.

Will Not Await Pleas.

In cases where the indictments are challenged, action will be taken for reindictment.

However, Mr. Rover said he had decided to go on with representment of the third degree cases without waiting for pleas of abatement from defense attorneys.

Disqualification of a grand juror with the resultant legal muddle is not the first instance of this kind in the District.

Two years ago, under almost identical circumstances, the now famous Virginia McPherson case, ran into the same legal crack-up.

Hoover Report Delayed.

Necessity for representment of the police brutality cases before the grand jury will probably delay the special report Mr. Hoover is preparing on the Department of Justice's investigation. The report was to have been given to the District Commissioners this week, but now it probably will be delayed until the newly constituted grand jury completes its indictments.

Now that the grievous error of allowing an ineligible juror to sit as a member of a grand jury for almost three months has been discovered after 179 indictments had been returned—the third important instance of the kind in recent years—officials are turning their attention towards fixing responsibility and establishing ways and means of preventing a recurrence.

William H. Colline, Assistant United States Attorney, brought forth a plan yesterday which probably will be adopted by William S. Adkins, court clerk of Division 1.

Would Print Questions.

Mr. Collins suggested that the questions to be answered by talesmen be put in printed form and accompanied by an affidavit as to the truth of the answers. This would make it impossible for a person to claim that he had not heard a question, and a false statement would be basis for contempt action.

Henry L. Johnson, Government pensioner, who is the storm center of the legal muddle which caused the July grand jury to be declared illegal, claims he did not hear Mr. Adkins ask whether any of the prospective jurors was receiving money from the Government.

Invalidaton of a number of indictments returned by the first jury which heard the now famous Virginia Hurley McPherson case in October, 1929, was caused by the presence on the jury of a widow of a service officer. An entire new jury was drawn and the work done over in this case.

Rover Denies Responsibility.

The third case in recent years was that in which an indictment charging a conspiracy among a number of coal dealers to fix prices, returned March 3, 1921, was thrown out because another Government pensioner was on the jury.

United States Attorney Leo A. Rover pointed out yesterday the responsibility in these cases could not be laid at the door of his office.

"The grand jury is an independent body," he declared. "Its qualification is the function of the court and the United States attorney is without right to inquire into the eligibility of its members before they are sworn.

"He has the right to presume they are properly qualified. It is only when individual disqualifications arise that he may question the matter and refer it to the court for such action as that tribunal shall see fit to take."

Justices Seek New Plan.

In past years it was the custom to delay swearing a grand jury until an examination had been conducted into qualifications by police and others, but the method had been attacked by so many pleas of abatement that it had been abandoned, according to Justice Peyton Gordon, who presided at examination of the jury in July.

"Probably the only way to avoid such accidents would be to obtain legislation authorizing the jury commission to send out questionnaires to eligible jurors before placing their names in the jury box," he said.

"The court has considered this proposition and has selected Justice Joseph E. Cox and myself as a committee to look into the matter. There will always be the possibility of a person seeking to serve failing to make true answers to the questions of the clerk," he said.

Hecht Employes Form for Contest

Two Teams Seek Laurels With 1,200 Workers in October.

Twelve hundred employes of the Hecht Co. are split in two factions and for the month of October will vie for laurels in the annual employes contest held by the department store. Led by Harold H. Levi, vice president and general manager of the establishment, members of the "Blues," one of the rival teams, were exhorted to high efforts by their leader yesterday, while Charles B. Dulcan, vice president and merchandise manager, urged equal energy on the part of his team, the "Whites."

With considerable ceremony the contest was opened yesterday, although it does not officially begin until the first of the month. A challenge for high honors was thrown to Jack Blau, of the "Whites," by Jouett McCaw, of the "Blues."

Four young women employes of the establishment served as pages yesterday at the initial festivities of the contest. They were Sarah Seltzer, Irene Brill, Celia Leiderman and Nettie Pincus. James Rotto, sales promotion manager, acted as master of ceremonies. Besides the day by day round of events in the contest, points will be awarded to winners in athletic games.

All Grand Jury Talesmen Questioned About Pensions

When talesmen are summoned into court to qualify on the District of Columbia grand jury, the clerk propounds the following inquiries:

"Does any lady ask to be excused on the grounds of her sex?"

"Is anybody in line under the age of 21?"

"Is anybody 65, or about to reach 65?"

"Were you each born in the United States?"

"Are you each a citizen of the United States, and a resident of the District of Columbia?"

"Have any of you served within a year as a juror in any court or any jury panel in the District of Columbia?"

"Do you read, write and understand the English language?"

"Have you ever been convicted of a crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude?"

"Is any one of you a member of the bar, a minister of the gospel, a special police officer, a practicing physician?"

"Are you in charge of a hospital?"

"Are you employed on a vessel plying in District waters?"

"Are you connected with the United States or District government in any way?"

"Are you connected with the District National Guard?"

"Is any one of you a notary public?"

"Have you contracts of any kind with either the United States or District government?"

"Have you any war risk insurance, or any form of the bonus in effect?"

"Do you rent a building to the Government or from the Government?"

"Do you own a drug store or other buildings in which there is a post office or stamp office?"

"Do you belong to the Officers' Reserve?"

"Have you ever been in the Army, Navy, Marines, Coast Guard, or any Government department, United States or District?

"Do you get pay or pension of any kind from either the United States or District Government?

"Do you get any money in any way from either the United States or District Government?

"Finally, do any of you ask to be excused for business or personal reasons?"

These questions are propounded to the prospective grand jurors, who are supposed to answer in the affirmative if the question calls for that reply.

GEN. J. B. BELLINGER SUCCUMBS, AGED 69

Retired Officer Served as Assistant to the Army Quartermaster.

Brig. Gen. John B. Bellinger, U. S. A., retired, holder of the distinguished Service Medal and former Assistant to the quartermaster general of the army, died at Walter Reed Hospital early yesterday morning. He was 69 years old.

Born in Charleston, S. C., April 15, 1862, Gen. Bellinger entered the United States Military Academy in 1880. He was graduated in 1884 and was commissioned in the Seventh Calvary, later being transferred to the Fifth Calvary. He was appointed first lieutenant in 1891, captain in 1894 and major quartermaster in 1898. On February 16, 1907, he was promoted to deputy quartermaster general, and on December 1, 1922, he was raised to be assistant to the quartermaster general. He was retired April 15, 1926.

In the Spanish-American War Gen. Bellinger saw service in Cuba and planned and executed the return of United States troops to the United States from Cuba and Porto Rico because of fear of a yellow fever epidemic. He formed the plan for supplying of the Siberian expeditionary force at Vladivostok, Russia, and undertook its execution. He was in charge of the purchase of foods in the Orient and distribution of the troops. The Phillipine Senate by a special resolution adopted February 4, 1920, thanked him for service.

The citation he received on award of the Distinguished Service Cross reads as follows: "Colonel, quartermaster, U. S. Army. As department quartermaster, Philippine department, a position of great responsibility, he administered the services of transportation and of the supply of the troops serving in the Philippines and China in a markedly successful manner."

Gen. Bellinger lived at the Army and Navy Club in Washington.

He is survived by four sons, Frederic C. Bellinger, of New York City; Capt. John B. Bellinger, 3520 Rodman place northwest, of the Army ordnance department, and Edmund B. Bellinger and Rene D. Bellinger, both of New York.

Funeral services will be conducted at Walter Reed Chapel tomorrow at noon by Chaplain Reuben E. Boyd. Interment will be at West Point, N. Y., Friday.

Honorary pallbearers will include Maj. Gen. David C. Shanks, Maj. Gen. David L. Brainard, Maj. Gen. C. R. Krauthoff, Brig. Gen. Edward E. Hatch, Col. Edward B. Clark, Col. William Keller, Col. Albert E. Truby, Maj. Machlin Niven and Capt. Ira C. Eaker.

Butler Holds Best Leaders Dictators

Elective Systems Are Hit in Talk Opening Session of Columbia U.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Dictatorial forms of government, said Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler today, are producing leaders of far better caliber than are the democratic systems of election.

In an address opening Columbia University's 178th academic year the university president said the electoral system had produced men who regard "immediate victory at any cost as the overruling end."

Principle and high public interest are relegated to subordinate places as candidates for public office seek to achieve popularity among the voting masses, Dr. Butler declared. He cited Mussolini, Lenin and Stalin as examples of the high type of leaders produced by dictatorships.

COST OF JURY ERROR TO DISTRICT $15,000

action 23 persons, including two women, were indicted on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. More than 300 offenses against the prohibition law were cited in the first report of the grand jury returned July 23.

Union Tangle Up Again.

The involved affairs of the International Union of Operating Engineers probably will have to be sent back before the jury. Dave Evans, former secretary-treasurer, was accused on 11 counts of embezzlement in the grand jury's report of August 11.

Evans was in Chicago at the time of the indictment and a warrant was sworn out for his arrest and removal to the District of Columbia. The alleged embezzlements date back to September 26, 1929 and a total of $29,184.10 is involved.

Internal troubles of this same union are involved in another case in which indictments were returned at this jury session. Mrs. Ruth Stevens, her husband, Robert Stevens, Robert Ely, William I. Green and Clarence B. Rockenbaugh were charged with assault in connection with the horsewhipping of Charles E. Haury, one of the union officials, last March.

The August 11 report also contained extortion indictments against two Fourth Precinct policemen, Edward Willis Gore and Frank Joseph Hosoidor. They were accused of accepting protection money from a colored man. Another extortion indictment was returned later against Joseph R. Gambaro, Prohibition Bureau employe, accused of accepting $5 from a man on a promise of aiding him in evading punishment for alleged violation of the prohibition law.

Seven Murder Indictments.

The third report of the grand jury included a larceny indictment against Sylvester I. McLaurin, colored lawyer, accused of taking examination papers from a cabinet in the offices of the Board of Education on July 25.

First degree murder indictments returned affect seven persons. The cases are those of William Owens, 70, tugboat captain, accused in the shooting of Elsie Louise Bryant, 14; Bert Davis, World War veteran, indicted as the slayer of Policeman Charles D. Poole in a woods near the Soldiers' Home on August 4; Joseph Henry Diggs, colored, Wardman Park Hotel doorman, charged with the shooting of Capt. William F. Norman at the hotel; Lajoie Aaron Cooper, colored, indicted in the slaying of Joseph Edwards, colored; and William Clifton Robinson, Charles Edwards, Washington and Leonard A. Layton, all colored, indicted in the shooting of Mannie Solomon, taxi driver.

Labor Loses Plea To Ban Mexicans

Lowman Rules 8 Hours Are Not Enough to Handle Bridge Traffic.

(Associated Press.)

The Government has denied a petition of organized labor asking that the international bridge between El Paso, Tex., and Juarez, Mexico, be closed to traffic 16 out of 24 hours a day. It has taken no action, however, on a petition from business men that the bridge be closed at night.

El Paso labor organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and William Green, federation president, petitioned the Government to restrict the opening hours of the bridge to 8 hours daily, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. They asked this on the ground that such hours would prevent about 1,800 Mexicans from crossing the border each day to work on the American side.

Assistant Secretary Lowman of the Treasury ruled that such a short time for traffic between El Paso and Juarez was inadequate to take care of the normal business between the two cities.

PERMITS TO USERS OF ALCOHOL MOUNT

Licenses Number 177,881, or 19,453 Increase Over Previous Year.

(Associated Press.)

There were more legal users of industrial alcohol at the end of the last fiscal year than at any time since national prohibition.

On June 30, 1931, the Bureau of Industrial Alcohol said yesterday, there were 177,881 permits in force, authorizing different classes of business using alcohol or other intoxicating liquor. This represented an increase of 19,453 permits over the year before.

Physicians with 87,623 permits continued to lead other classes. The new "T" permit class established April 1 for professional groups, not classed as physicians, ranked second with 33,472 permits.

"The tendency continues to be for the number of permittees to increase," said James M. Doran, commissioner of industrial alcohol. "More physicians take out permits each year, but the amount prescribed grows smaller."

The third largest group of permits went to manufacturers of preparations unfit for beverage use, numbering 22,541. Permits to use and sell industrial alcohol numbered 19,675. Manufacturers using specially denatured alcohol totaled 3,835 and hospital permits came to 2,829.

Walsh Sees Revival Of Silver Question

Shortage of Gold and Fall in Purchasing Power Cited by Senator.

(Associated Press.)

Revival of the silver issue, which made the presidential campaign of 1896 one of the bitterest in American history, was predicted yesterday by Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana.

Mr. Walsh said the bimetalism question was forcing itself upon the world today as a result of the maldistribution and shortage of gold, and the "destruction of the purchasing power of a large part of the Orient and Latin America."

The veteran Montana senator said he was deeply interested in reports that Great Britain desired an international conference on the gold problem and said he hoped England could be induced to consider silver as well as gold.

Death of Georgian Called Accidental

Coroner's Jury Retains Fall Victim's Name as Gunnell.

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of death by accidental fall from a fire escape in the case of Edward L. Gunnell, visiting Georgian, whose body was found in the rear of the Allies Hotel Sunday night.

Although Georgia authorities are working on the theory that the man might have been one E. L. Jones, who has been missing from his home in Macon, Ga., the jury used the name Gunnell, and official police reports contain that name.

Until positive proof has been furnished that the man's name is not Gunnell, no change will be made.

ACID stomach

EXCESS acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. It is responsible for most of the everyday ailments that people suffer, sick headache, sluggishness, nausea, biliousness, gas on the stomach, etc. The quick corrective is an alkali which will neutralize the acid. The best corrective known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

ILL-ADVISED WAGE CUTS.

The decision of the United States Steel Corporation and several other steel companies to reduce wages on October 1 is regrettable, however strong the factors entering into the decision may be. Steel workers are not only adversely affected, but the action of the steel companies may be imitated in other industries. It would be impossible to make a general reduction of wages in American industry without running grave risks of labor disturbances. The savings in wage cuts might be swallowed up in the needless cost of strikes and other interferences with operations. The public dreads the threat of labor troubles as an added ingredient in present difficult conditions.

Through all this depression American labor has withstood its hardships with magnificent fortitude. Measures equivalent to wage reductions have been taken in many industries, such as lay-offs, staggering of hours, &c. Bankers, whose sole aim is to collect dividends, long ago advised wage cuts in order to keep dividends up. Industrial executives as a rule resisted the plea of the bankers, and reduced dividends rather than wages. The Steel Corporation was no exception. Now that corporation seems to have surrendered to the appeal of the bankers. If no labor troubles ensue, the Steel Corporation may report increased earnings, and its dividend rate may even be increased. This outcome seems to have been expected by stock traders, who boosted the price of steel yesterday.

It is true that the cost of living has fallen during the last year, so that a workman's wages go further; but industry will not be secure if it assumes that labor will accept wage cuts willingly, to correspond with the cut in living costs. Too many workers have lost time already, and all of them are too uncertain as to their jobs to warrant the assumption that they will not protest against wage cuts.

The Interstate Commerce Commission could help this situation by hurrying through its consideration of the plea for increased railroad rates and by granting at least partial relief. The danger of labor troubles in the railroad field would probably be averted if the railroads were assured of better freight rates.

It would be a great public calamity if this depression should be marked toward its close by widespread labor disputes resulting from wage cuts. The country has weathered the storm and is about to emerge into clear weather. A little more patient endurance of the strain on the part of great industries can bring the country safely through without labor troubles. Eagerness to restore dividends by cutting workers' wages may work havoc to all concerned, including the recipients of dividends.

SAVING THE WHALES.

Protection for whales is to be established by an international convention drawn up in Geneva. New methods of killing these great mammals has resulted in fear that the better varieties would shortly be exterminated. The world catch of whales rose from 11,000 in 1919 to 30,000 in 1929. The proportion of increase in oil obtained was even greater, as modern machinery made possible the extraction of 100 barrels of oil per whale, whereas formerly 75 barrels was considered a high yield. Whale oil production in the Antarctic, which is now the principal source, rose from 1,180,000 barrels in 1926 to 2,502,000 barrels in 1930.

This resulted in a glutted market, which put the industry in the same position as nearly every other modern business. The overproduction made whaling unprofitable and threatened to exterminate the finer blue and fin varieties. The percentage of mature female whales in the Antarctic was declining and the average length was also found to be shorter among all classes. As the period of gestation in whales is long, the normal rate of increase is so small that an overfished species is generally exterminated. In view of this danger, Det Nordske Hvalfangerforening, the combine of the principal whaling companies, agreed to discontinue operations in the Antarctic during the season of 1931-1932.

About twenty-five years ago the Norwegians established shore stations in South Georgia, where the whales, after being killed, were towed and the oil extracted. The last few years, however, have witnessed the establishment of the floating factory, which can deal with the whales as soon as they are caught. The 22,000-ton steamships are capable of collecting 2,500 barrels of oil daily and of storing 135,000 barrels in their tanks. Such a factory ship keeps half a dozen killer ships busy, and uses about 1,300 whales in a season. Radio equipment enables the central ship to keep in touch with the various killers. This communication greatly increases the efficiency and scope of the hunt for whales.

The self-sufficiency of these ships has made it possible for them to cruise into waters outside territorial limits, which makes control by national regulation impossible. For this reason the Geneva convention is the only feasible method of preventing the extermination of the finer whales. It is hoped that the proposed regulatory measures will prove effective in conserving the last example extant of the world's giant mammals.

AN INVALID GRAND JURY.

Because a member of the grand jury drew pension money from the Government, a fact learned only when indictments were about to be returned against seventeen policemen implicated in the third degree scandal, all the work hitherto done by the Department of Justice and the local district attorney's office will have to be gone over again.

At first blush the average citizen will ask: "Why could not this discovery have been made in the first instance? Why was a man ineligible for service permitted to sit on the grand jury and at the last moment discredit all the work of that body?"

The answer comes from two quarters: The court officials and attendants claim that the juror was asked point blank if he received a pension. The discharged member of the grand jury claims that he never heard the question asked.

Now a new member of the jury must be chosen to take the place of the man who upset the procedure of justice. Since all the necessary forms will be gone through again, since the prescribed questions will be asked, it might be well for the court officials to call in a good ear doctor and have each candidate's hearing tested. Either this, or the questions to the prospective jurors might be shouted through a megaphone, instead of being droned in the perfunctory voice of the clerk.

As each disruption of court proceedings, such as the one now recorded, makes for unnecessary delay in the administration of justice, besides causing needless expense and serving to bring the processes of law into public contempt, it might be wise for the judges to direct all functionaries to quit the practice of rushing formalities through in a perfunctory manner. The selection of a jury goes to the heart of justice, and too much care can not be taken in the procedure.

A CHILD OF CAPITAL.

It is probably a natural assumption that hydroelectric power is more cheaply produced than steam power, or electric power developed from coal. Visions of the old water wheel turning endlessly without the daily cost of fuel present the picture of energy at minimum cost. Perhaps it was, in its day and age. Today water power means heavy expenditures for dams, storage, turbines, transmission lines and skilled supervision. It is remarkable to see as well-informed a man as former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, although he has never been impressed with the bogey of the "power trust" as a national campaign issue, making such a statement as the following:

> There is an enormous saving in the cost of operation as between steam power and water power. The water power plants are practically automatic and aside from the comparatively few employes necessary to oil and grease the machinery there is no other cost. At a steam-driven plant coal must be brought on from the mines, transported partly by rail and partly by water, taken in loads from the barges, deposited in the coal pockets, fed to the boilers and there is the after-cost of the removal of the ashes. Flowing water, often called white coal, passes through the turbine, turns the wheels and passes out at the other end of the plant without manual labor of any kind whatsoever. This unquestionably accounts for the difference in the cost of production.

It would be difficult to pen a more serious indictment of water power and commendation of coal power, particularly in the present state of employment in the United States, than this statement from Gov. Smith. The erroneous impression his assertions make is that water power is cheaper than power developed from coal. It is a fact, as he has stated, that there is an enormous saving in the "cost of operation" of water power. It is a saving diverted from labor and given to capital. Since the facts demonstrate that coal power is frequently as cheap, and often cheaper, than water power, what does Gov. Smith's statement show? Simply that the widely diversified employment of labor in the production of steam power is offset by the overhead charges caused by the large investment necessary for hydroelectric developments.

Taking, for comparison, a coal power plant and a water power plant developing energy at the same cost, what is the distribution of the cost of production? As Gov. Smith shows, in the coal plant, all the way from the mines to the boilers, a long line of laborers must be employed. What brings up the cost of the water power to the same figure? Interest and profits that must be paid on the millions invested in the water power developments. Once in operation the only outlay for labor goes to a few electrical experts, the great bulk of earnings being absorbed by capital. There can be no question as to which system is more beneficial to the general welfare and wide distribution of wealth.

As has been shown in these columns, the contribution that water power makes to the total of power used in the United States is only 8 per cent of the aggregate. Its importance, therefore, is frequently overestimated. It must be remembered that 100 per cent development of water power in this country could not begin to take the place of the power developed from bituminous coal, which still provides 55 per cent of the total, notwithstanding the competition of water power, anthracite, petroleum and natural gas.

The Potomac Electric Co. sells current here in Washington generated by coal at lower rates than those usually quoted to the public from plants operating on water power. The Philadelphia Electric Co. generates power more cheaply from its new steam station operated with coal than is possible at the company's Conowingo plant, which represents the latest improvements in hydraulic installations. Another point not generally considered is that a very large percentage of all water-generated current is absorbed by a few very large industrial concerns, the great Niagara development being a case in point.

The water power of the United States is important. Its development will go on to the benefit of numerous localities. Its relative position is almost exactly on a par, so far as furnishing power is concerned, with anthracite coal and natural gas. Oil is nearly three times as important in power totals, while soft coal is as 7 to 1. Water power, in a word, can not aspire to the importance of a national issue, nor can it be considered a question that today vitally affects the general welfare of the Nation.

ON $11 A WEEK.

Out where the West begins, in Evansville, Ind., a janitor has startled all the economic experts because he and his wife and six children live on $11 a week. Eight persons are supported on that meager amount of money, and all well and happy. The art of making both ends meet is here exemplified in an expert manner, for the man declares absolutely that $11 is all he can possibly earn in a week of seven days.

Challenged to make a budget, so that it could be published to the wide, wide world, this janitor defied any one to make a budget or to adhere to the laws of budgets in a similar situation. "We buy what we need as long as the money holds out," paterfamilias says, claiming that the children have the right of way.

Flour, potatoes, bread, butter, tea and coffee are the principal articles of diet. The family is almost vegetarian, a slab of bacon lasting almost the winter through. Vegetables and fruits have kept the entire brood free from complaints of malnutrition.

Where these city dwellers, the janitor and his family, have an edge on most of their compatriots is in the art of canning. The wife, it seems, is a frugal person who purchases plenty of vegetables when they are in profusion on the market and cans them against the exigencies of the winter. She bakes her own bread, makes her own clothes and the clothes of her children, and never complains—an old-fashioned woman in a modern age.

The wonder of it all is, what would happen if the janitor's wage was doubled? They'd probably get a car.

SHERIDAN AND MEXICO

By EDWARD F. FURLER,
In a Letter to the New York Times.

The Times editorial, "The Monroe Doctrine Again," commenting on the recent attitude of Mexico toward the potential protection offered by that document, recalls a rather interesting period in the life of Gen. Philip Henry Sheridan.

Almost immediately after the cessation of hostilities at Appomattox Courthouse that fateful April 9, 1865, and only a few days before Sheridan would for the last time have the honor of leading his glorious squadrons in the grand review, he was ordered to Texas, apparently to force the surrender of the Confederate general, Kirby Smith, and his transmississippi army. Beneath these orders, however, ran an even more important mission.

In Mexico Maximilian and his imperial army, reinforced by Bazaine's French troops and a smattering of Austrian and Belgian mercenaries, were slowly obtaining control of the country. Assistance was also expected from the former Confederate soldiers, many of whom were fleeing to a colony being established across the border by Gens. Price and Magruder.

The imperialists had succeeded in cutting Mexico in two by establishing a line across the country from Vera Cruz on the east to Guadalajara on the west. South of this line the republican leader, Diaz, had been captured and imprisoned and Maximilian had the situation well in hand. In the north the imperial army continued its steady march toward the Rio Grande. Juarez and Escobedo were fighting with their backs close to the border. If they could be driven across, Maximilian would feel certain of the success of his imperialistic dreams. This, however, was destined never to pass.

Sheridan arrived on the border with an army of 50,000 men, veterans with implicit faith in their commander, and began a series of forceful demonstrations along the border. He carefully circulated reports that he was to cross the border. He aided the republican cause by caching supplies, rifles, ammunition in easily accessible places. If the Mexicans ran off with them while they were unguarded—well, what of it? He attempted, with a certain degree of success, to unite the various factions in Mexico and to wipe out petty grievances. He prevented the passage of former Confederate soldiers to the assistance of Maximilian and when the Government did not act to prevent their sailing from Gulf ports he took the initiative and required that every one embarking for Mexico have a permit.

In the winter the term of Juarez expired and the country was faced with a political crisis. Gen. Ortega, president of the supreme court, deserted Juarez and attempted to gain control of the country. When his failure forced him to seek protection across the border, Sheridan caused his arrest. He was handed over to Escobedo and punished in keeping with his crime. When Escobedo got into a bad hole, Sheridan helped him out of it by giving an entire brigade "leave of absence" at one time. His efforts, coupled with those of Secretary Seward, finally forced the withdrawal of the French and other foreign mercenaries. The capitulation of Maximilian at Queretaro soon followed and, in turn—and this is of utmost importance to Mexico—the establishment of a republican government.

It is recommended, therefore, that before our weaker neighbors to the South renounce the Monroe Doctrine they consider their contemplated action carefully. Let them weigh on the scale of common sense the wealth, the natural resources, the man power, the ingenuity and ability of the United States. These factors, coupled with those incomparable fighting qualities of the American with his grit and determination, stand as a powerful reminder to the nations of the world that "America for Americans" means just what it says.

The palpitating question today is, have we left summer behind, or just the calendar?

The men can't say much about "feminine slaves of fashion" while they are changing over to felt hats on the hottest days of the year.

Straw lids are going into hibernation, but the plague of straw votes is just beginning.

It is evident that determination of the age of Ann was a simple question in comparison with the debate that looms in the offing, "How heavy is light wine and how distant is near beer from real."

Fifty million discussions yesterday began: "Can you really consider a 10 per cent cut in wages lowering of the standard of living when commodity prices have fallen more than——" Brace yourself, there will be a lot of it.

Charlie Chaplin told Gandhi he believed in the machine age. It would be hard to make moving pictures with a hand loom.

The United States Rubber Co. stretches a point and avoids wage cuts by adopting an elastic week and reducing the resiliency of salaries. There's a snappy comeback to this if you really want an argument.

To save Washington's summer reputation the Weather Bureau kiosk should be moved to Hains Point or Rock Creek Park.

It is understood now that Premier Laval will come to the United States as soon as he recovers from his visit to Berlin.

Senator Tydings says he favors a Federal salary cut, but to apply only to congressmen. He does not expect it to be adopted, which is the safest bet we have heard.

Curiously there seems to be no wild rush on the part of Democrats to support the idea of having Mr. Shouse formulate the platform and name candidates, instead of holding a convention next year.

THE FUTURE.

Whate'er the future holds in store,
The past we've known has taught us this:
Throughout the years that lie before
There will be pleasure we shall miss,
There will be many hours of care
And tears to shed and pains to bear.

As in the past, the days ahead
Will try again the faith we hold.
We'll hear the funeral service read
Time after time as we grow old.
My dear, the farther on we go,
There must be more of grief to know.

Nor can we wisely think or say
The future years will happier be
Than those which now have passed away.
There will be much we'll smile to see,
But in the main I'm sure we'll find
The self-same needs for being kind.

So hand in hand let's fare along
And look at life with open eyes.
Ahead of us lie mirth and song
And little children's happy cries,
And we shall find it good to live,
Though Time has little new to give.

Once the Seed Is Planted, There Is No Way to Change the Crop

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE greatest physical force in the world is an idea. It has more power than all of the engines created by men—more sheer brute strength than the winds and the tides.

It is customary to speak of thought as something spiritual, ethereal and indefinable, but it is in fact—it must be—as physical as any other function of a physical body.

The brain is physical matter. It is composed of an infinite number of microscopic cells. And the functioning of the brain in the process called thought consists in the activity of these cells.

It could not be otherwise, for the mind is the brain. Any activity of the mind must be an activity of the physical cells of the brain, as any movement of the body is an activity of the cells that compose it.

Even the knowledge you acquire is as physical as the food you eat. Each fact brought by your senses makes a physical impression on your brain cells, as the recording needle of a phonograph makes a physical impression on a blank record.

If the impression is slight, the effect on your brain cells is momentary and the fact is forgotten. If the impression is deep, the physical change in your brain cells is permanent and the fact is remembered while you live.

When an idea of great force enters your brain, the physical effect on your brain cells is so great that you become another man. For good or ill the change is made, and you can no more undo it than you can make yourself normal again after an operation that changes your face.

As a blow on the skull may make the victim a lunatic, so an idea may effect such changes in his brain matter as to make him a fanatic, a martyr or a crusader.

He has no choice in the matter. The idea changes him as certainly and as definitely as an accident might shorten his arm or twist his back. He is converted.

The impact of ideas on brain cells, like the impact of alpha, beta and gamma rays, is unseen and unfelt; but it is a physical impact, none the less, and the power of it is sufficient to move armies, settle continents or destroy a civilization.

You may avoid an idea, or reject it; but once it is admitted you can no more undo its work than you can straighten the grain of a gnarled oak tree.

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

It Can't Be Done.

Atlanta Constitution.

Chafing under the increasing signs that President Hoover, very much like Ben Harrison in 1892, will be renominated by the party and lead it to a sure defeat, many anxious Republicans are seeking some way to ward off the calamity.

Some of the regulars are hoping that Senator Borah may undertake to challenge the President for the nomination and develop popular strength enough to take it away from him in a spectacular convention grand slam. But that is a vain imagination. Senator Borah is one of the ablest men of the nation, but he is nobody's "come on" to go out in the leadership of what he is wise and experienced enough to know would be futile sacrifice. He occupies a powerful place in the party set-up, and as chairman of the Senate committee on foreign relations he probably weighs more in the making of our international relations than President Hoover and his entire cabinet.

Besides, while Senator Borah is a statesman of independence in thought and has strong views of party and public policies, many of his views are crossways of popular sentiment in both the major parties. He belongs more than elsewhere with the insurgent and agrarian bloc in the Senate and in that role is distinctly persona non grata with the Hoover-Smoot die-hards.

Economy.

Macon Telegraph.

The Government at Washington is economizing by reinking typewriter ribbons, and a worth-while saving might be accomplished by sending the paper on which the Wickersham prohibition report was written to the erasers, so it could be used again.

Wetless Fact.

Atlanta Constitution.

Chairman Sim Fess says he has not predicted Volstead law modification by Congress this winter. That is doubtless dry so.

Garner's Chances Improve.

Houston Post-Dispatch.

With the opening of the new session of Congress less than three months away now, the chances of Representative John Garner, of Texas, to be elected Speaker of the House seem to have improved to the point where competent Washington observers in increasing numbers are willing to predict that he will be chosen for this important post.

Several weeks ago, Clinton Gilbert, author of "Mirrors of Washington," was predicting success for Garner in the Speakership race, and Gilbert is now joined by another distinguished observer at the Capital, Charles P. Stewart, in foreseeing the election of the Texan. According to Mr. Stewart, Garner's prospects are greatly improved by the strong probability that the Republicans will not be able to get together on any one candidate.

Looking for a Goat.

Beach (N. Dak.) Advance.

We'd rather run a little dinky country paper than be an officeholder of any kind at such a time as this. We only get cussed because we can't agree with everybody and things equally pleasant, while Hoover, the Farm Board, the Congress and State government get cussed up and down and sideways because prices are not good or the weather unfavorable and trade punk, while the railways and utilities get their ears boxed several times a day. Americans are the greatest buck passers in the world. Many of us spend half our time looking for a "goat," and the other half kicking the goat around when satisfactorily located.

Germany Prospers on Beer—Yeah?

Topeka Capital.

The idea of the wets that Congress within 60 days will restore the beer industry if the American Legion requests it at the Detroit convention is about as fantastic as that restoring beer would "give a million men jobs and bring back prosperity." Just like it does, we suppose, in England and Germany.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Fanatics on Both Sides of Prohibition Question—The People Want the Truth.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your editorial of September 23 on "Beer—Nothing Doing," must convince every sane mind of the impossibility of obtaining what some clamorers for wines and beer have sought by besieging the President and by other ridiculous means. But why was it that this note you have sounded was so long silent? While much has been said in the column which you very kindly yield to the peoples' letters, one such editorial as you have just sent forth is worth a hundred letters such as this one.

Permit me to say through columns which have become broad in their appreciation of what intelligent people feel on prohibition and like matters, that our newspapers have not always, with all their up-to-the-minute spirit, caught the demands of the most substantial section of our people. The best of our citizenry want the truth, at any cost. They want fair play. They are weary of half truths and biased reports. I meet readers who are continually saying: "I know what that paper will say on certain subjects." Such a paper is not a newspaper in the sense of doing a public service, but a mere propagandist of a policy, or some very one-sided theories of a man or set of men.

Those who favor prohibition as probably the best solution, with all its imperfections, of our drink problem, are not all fanatics. Fanatics are bred where a moral question is under discussion, and violent debaters take opposite sides. There are quite as many fanatical opposers of prohibition as espousers of it. You have shown that very finely in your editorial and as a representative of many who want to do the best for the country, I thank you heartily for "Beer—Nothing Doing."

J. O. KNOTT.

Street Beggars Who Practice Frauds. Fake Blind and Lame Men.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: May not the authorities be prodded into doing something to clean the streets of the city of the professional beggars who prey upon the charitably inclined people of the city? The panhandlers are flourishing in an amazing degree and apparently move from city to city, although some I recognize as old stagers. The other night as I was going by the Earle Theater I saw one of those fellows who squat on the sidewalk, soliciting alms by way of pencils in their hats, pretending to be maimed, now and then exposing the flesh of a leg which appears diseased. It suddenly began to rain. Up he got, unassisted, took his cane and walked off as spry as the spriest. This sidewalk on Thirteenth street is a great hangout for these frauds, and so is F street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets. There may be seen there a "blind" man standing hat in hand during the theater hours. I have seen him many a year. I saw him the other night transfer several handfuls of nickels and dimes from one pocket to another. It was a harvest, and the evening was yet young. Another one of the squatters I have recognized in one of our best hotels, handsomely dressed and acting as escort to a striking girl.

On a recent Saturday night on Fourteenth street, near F street, a boy of about 17 years, apparently blind, was groping his way, hands stretched out, one holding out a hat. It seemed a pitiable case. I dropped a coin into the hat and loitered to see what would happen. He stopped, but instead of feeling for the coin in his hat, looked right into it to pick it up.

I am told that quite a number of young men of the city driving smart automobiles have taken to begging to get spare change. The other night about midnight I was going up Fourteenth street and when near G street was accosted by a young man of about 21, smartly dressed, hatless, as if from some dance, and to my surprise he said: "Help me to get something to eat." I could not believe that he would take a dime if I gave it to him, but he did. There are many such panhandlers downtown. Why not get rid of them? L. J.

Miss Maude Adams Did Appear as Juliet, Opposite William Faversham.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The writer of the editorial on Miss Maude Adams in Friday's issue of The Post says: "Though she has never played the part, she might easily make the ideal Portia, as she undoubtedly would have been the perfect Juliet had she assumed that role."

As far as I know, Miss Adams has never appeared as Portia. But she did assume the role of Juliet 32 years ago, at the Empire Theater, New York, May 8, 1899. The program of that date announced "Miss Maude Adams, in a special production of Shakespeare's tragedy of 'Romeo and Juliet,' William Faversham as Romeo and James K. Hackett as Mercutio."

A number of other well-known actors were in the cast, among them being George Fawcett, Orrin Johnson, W. H. Thompson and Mrs. W. G. Jones.

A Visitor Suggests Watering Troughs for Dogs.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have been surprised to see how few low drinking tanks or troughs are provided for dogs in Washington. Dogs suffer almost more than human beings when in need of water, and can not provide it for themselves. Washington is one of the cities where troughs are most needed, especially in summer.

A DOG LOVER.

BROOKHART FAVORS LOWER RAIL RETURN

J. E. Benton, at Hearing, Says Farmers Can Not Stand Rate Raise.

(Associated Press.)

Opponents of a flat freight rate increase on all commodities began their final drive yesterday to halt Interstate Commerce Commission approval of the raise.

In command of the opposition were Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, who has consistently fought for a lower lawful return to the carriers; J. E. Benton, representing the National Association of Railroad and Public Utility Commissioners, and E. M. Hendricks, member of the North Dakota Board of Railroad Commissioners.

Senator Brookhart and Mr. Hendricks argued against the plea for a 15 per cent increase from an agricultural viewpoint. Both contended the farmers were in no condition to stand higher rates.

Mr. Benton argued railroad rates instead of finances must be considered and that the roads could not legally claim the right to a blanket increase because of a fall in earnings.

Questions Rail Value.

Senator Brookhart said the rate of return permitted the railroads should be reduced from 5½ to 3 per cent.

"Our civilization itself is in question," he added, "if railroads can extort from the farmers $100,000,000 or more in rate advances when they admittedly have a net earning of 2.24 per cent upon an enormously inflated value, while agriculture has suffered a constant deficit since 1920 and its capital value is depleted by more than $30,000,000,000."

The Iowan questioned the value of railroad property, asserting its renewal cost would be considerably below book values. He also questioned their right to earn more than 3 per cent when, he said, capital of the country earned less than that.

He said the law requiring the Commerce Commission to announce from time to time what it considered a fair return on railroad property was mandatory, but that it had not been carried out.

Would Widen Inquiry.

"I think it is imperative that the commission should now take up this fundamental proposition before granting any rate increases," he said. "In this case the increase affects every business in the United States. In this case as in no other it becomes material to learn what is the average net return of all property or the average wealth increase of the country.

"If these facts are to be considered then upon their own showing the railroads are not entitled to this advance, but there should be a reduction instead. They disclose a surplus of over $4,500,000,000 and then ask the commission to forget it because it was reinvested in the properties."

Marriages in Italy And Births Decline

Fear of Hard Times Hits Mussolini's Drive for More Babies.

Rome, Sept. 23 (U.P.).—Economic depression was blamed today for a sudden decline in Premier Mussolini's nation-wide campaign for "more marriages and more babies."

Publication of figures for the last seven months showed that marriages and births had decreased, while deaths increased.

Last year Italians were marrying at the rate of 4 per 1,000 inhabitants. This year the ratio slumped to 3.6. Diminished profits and fear of hard times ahead were blamed for postponement of many marriages. The excess of births over deaths dropped from 7.4 per 1,000 inhabitants in 1930 to 6 per 1,000 this year. The high cost of babies was believed to be the cause.

Western Union System Linked With Wireless

Under the arrangement the Western Union will supplement its oceanic cable services with wireless circuits of the R. C. A. and the latter will use the 25,000 offices and land lines of Western Union to distribute its wireless messages.

Capital Elite Flocks to Live In Alexandria

Stately Colonial Houses, As in Georgetown, Are Much Sought.

Georgetown having enjoyed a vogue for the past few years with those in search of historic residences in picturesque settings, society now turns its attention to the old city of Alexandria, across the river, where extensive restoration of old homes, rich in historical lore, has attracted an interesting little colony from the Capital City. Alexandria, replete in national history, and abounding in lovely architecture of the pre-Revolutionary period, will very likely come into its own again.

Among the first to succumb to the lure of that picturesque community were Mr. Pierre Boal, of the State Department, and Mrs. Boal. They have a large old residence at 601 Duke street, the garden abounding in old shrubs and wild flowers. Col. and Mrs. Charles B. Moore have restored a large house in lower Prince street, which is frequently the rendezvous for Washington's Army set. Mrs. Moore was before her marriage Gay Montague, daughter of former Gov. Montague, of Richmond.

Miss Harriet Holther has acquired one of the largest and most imposing of the houses. Bearing the name "Sailors Delight," it is the former residence of an old sea captain. Built before the Revolution, it is of brick, with white stone trim, and a large walled garden which embraces an acre or more of ground. It commands an impressive view of the river and Hunting Creek, located in Jefferson street, between Fairfax and Lee. Mr. Edward C. Van Devanter has bought the house at 221 South Lee street, which is one of the three oldest houses standing in Alexandria today, having been built by Dennis Ramsay, in 1760, who was mayor of Alexandria. The house is of the very early Williamsburg type of architecture—clap-board over brick, with a long brick wing, and has five open fireplaces with all their original mantels. Others who have already remodeled or are in process of remodeling, are Mrs. Benjamin Lowndes Jackson, Mr. Wilmer Bolling, brother of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson; Maj. and Mrs. Raymond Lee, who also have a lovely old house in Georgetown; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Cain and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Brown.

Of course there are numerous old residences which have been maintained for many years by native Alexandrians, among them Dr. and Mrs. Hugh McGuire, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Boothe, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smoot and Mr. and Mrs. James Sidney Douglass. Nearby in the Virginia hills is Woodlawn, the home of Mrs. Oscar Underwood, and Rippon Lodge, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Ellis.

Mrs. Keith Merrill has joined Mr. Merrill in their home here after spending the summer in their summer home, Avalon, at Prides Crossing on the North Shore of Massachusetts.

By ROBERT D. HEINL

THE Washington Electric League show at the Washington Auditorium continues to attract a full quota of radio fans to see the air entertainers in person and to view the new set models.

There will be a different program tonight with Baby Rose Marie and Virginia Dudley, soprano, as the main attractions. "Hack" Wilson, well known air mimic, will be master of ceremonies. Among the WRC features to be broadcast from the Auditorium stage tonight will be the Melodious Milkmen—otherwise "Bill" Abernahty's quartet. In their group of songs of the old South they will sing "I Hear Kentucky Calling," "Oh, Dem Golden Slippers" and "Little Chocolate Baby." Leon Brusiloff's orchestra will be heard at 3 o'clock and again at 10:30 o'clock in special arrangements of popular numbers.

Tomorrow night, John S. Young, national network announcer, will be master of ceremonies.

Television is receiving more attention than any other feature at the New York Radio Show, now under way at Madison Square Garden. Crowds are gathered about the television exhibits from the time the images appear until the screen becomes a blank again.

Opening the show on Monday night, David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, in heralding the dawn of the television era, said: "We are on the threshold of television and just as the shackles of silence were struck from the screen so will the veil be lifted from our daily broadcasts."

Projections on the glass screen, ten feet square, are attracting the greatest attention. The life-size, clear-cut images on the big screen are a decided contrast to the minute television figures that were the "latest feature" of the show two years ago.

Of more importance to the average looker-in, however, is the four-foot screen, the size we may have in our homes later, which is operated from 2 p. m. to 11 p. m., with the exception of two fifteen-minute periods, when the giant screen is in operation.

In addition to the broadcast artists who are televised for the assembled audience in Madison Square Garden as they are doing their regular turns before the microphone for the networks, elaborate programs for television demonstration only are presented daily.

Attendance at the New York show Monday night is estimated to have been 28,762 persons, said to be the best opening mark for the last three years.

A PLEA has been made with the Federal Radio Commission for the modification of its order requiring radio stations to announce their call letters each 15 minutes by the Washington representatives of the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Co.

The networks contend that air dramatizations suffer from these interruptions in the continuity and that not infrequently the station breaks cause a tense dramatic situation to become suddenly ludicrous. It has been explained that the networks feel the quality of such broadcasts would be greatly improved if the commission would grant them this latitude in the enforcement of its regulation. Otherwise the broadcasters are happy in conforming with the ruling.

If the commission gives the networks this privilege, it will apply for the independent broadcasters as well.

The address by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald from London, originally scheduled by CBS for 5 o'clock this afternoon, has been postponed. The address, his first since Prime Minister MacDonald was called upon by the king to form a new government, will be of such wide interest in America that it was decided arrangements should be made for both national networks to distribute it at a later date.

THE Wilkins Coffee Quarter Hours, which have been heard regularly on Sunday, Tuesday and Friday at 6:15 o'clock, will go on the air at new times, beginning next week. The Quarter Hours will be broadcast every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday nights from 7:45 to 8 o'clock.

The fall and winter programs will continue to feature Marguerite Cromwell, soprano, and the orchestra directed by Harold Veo.

On the 5th of October Wilkins will broadcast its one hundredth program.

And through the medium of this column, we pass on to Marguerite Cromwell the comment of one of our readers, who believes that her solos make the Wilkins Quarter Hour the outstanding local radio feature.

A salute to Radio City will be given in the RKO Theater of the air broadcast tomorrow night (WRC, 9:30 p. m.), the program being in the nature of a farewell to Roxy and other Radio City envoys to Europe who will tune in aboard the S. S. Bremen two days out of New York.

THE world series games between the Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Cardinals will be broadcast by Graham McNamee and Ted Husing * * * This will be McNamee's ninth world series * * * Descriptions of pageantry and addresses in connection with the four-day celebration of the 150th anniversary of the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, Va., will be broadcast beginning October 16 * * * An address by President Hoover is scheduled for the closing day, Monday, October 19 * * * In preparation for his football schedule, Ted Husing is spending this week in training with the candidates for the Army eleven at West Point.

A telegram he values above all other fan missives was received by Tony Parenti, whose saxophone quartet is broadcast regularly, from Helen Keller. It reads: "Thank you very much for your most enjoyable programs." Miss Keller, although deaf, listens to the radio through her fingers placed on the loud speaker.

Two fan letters that he believes establish a record for long-distance broadcasting have been received by Mike Hanapi, leader of the Ilima Islanders of station WTIC, Hartford. One letter is from a French resident of Calcutta, India, the other from an English commissary stationed in Jamestown, a settlement on the Cape of Good Hope in South Africa. Both claim perfect reception of Hanapi's programs of Hawaiian music broadcast from the 50,000-watt Connecticut transmitter.

Joe Cook, recovered from the illness which prevented his appearance scheduled earlier in the season, will be guest artist with Rudy Vallee's orchestra tonight (WRC, 7 o'clock).

Don Vorhees' orchestra (WJZ network, tonight, 8:30 o'clock), 'will have as its guest artist for the next several broadcasts, Russ Columbo, barytone.

WE actually overheard a nationally known announcer have difficulty making the telephone operator understand a suburban number at Station WRC the other day. Imagine a telephone operator even intimating to one of our most polished radio announcers that he did not speak distinctly.

It reminds us of a passage we once heard on the Senate floor between the late Henry Cabot Lodge and Elihu Root, probably the most scholarly statesmen of their time. One accused the other of using poor English.

Jane Interprets the Mode

Brown broche is made into an Autumn suit on swankily simple lines, and worn with a biege georgette blouse. (Sketched in a New York shop).

New York, Sept. 23.

"BROWN" says autumn inexorably. So brown it is—and it really isn't as dull as it sounds. For brown today includes every shade and tint from warm cafe au lait to a brown that has to be looked at twice before one sees it isn't black.

But the most popular browns are those warm, vivid, autumn-leaf browns, with distinct tones of gold or red. Rust and copper red are "metallic" browns of the season. It is a color that is highly in keeping with the brighter eyes, the rosier cheeks and the higher spirits of autumn, and becoming, in one of its many shadings at least, to just about all women. The lighter browns, especially in wool crepes and velvets, use narrow bandings of mink or sable fur discreetly at collar or cuff, and darker browns show a decided preference for Persian embroideries or copper beads applied in little collars and narrow cuffs.

And so, my deahs, if you choose your particular brown with care you'll fit in beautifully with the autumn-leaf flutter of smart autumn gowns that's whirling merrily over the whole wide fashion world on these glorious days!

The Beauty Sorceress.

"Grandmother Muffet, the other day you said to use a depilatory to remove hair from the legs! I can't stand the offensive odor of depilatories—I'd rather just let the hair grow!"

"Goodness, my dear, where have you been these last few years? Don't you know that depilatories have become modern, too, substituting their dirty greenish color and rotten-egg odor with creamy whiteness and a faint fragrance that isn't the least unpleasant?"

* * * *

Just because autumn suits are smartly simple lines is no reason for thinking of them as "plain little things!" I have illustrated a suit for you today that would be simple if it depended on line alone, but as it's of brown broche, the velvet cut in bold floral figures, it's the height of dressiness and sophistication! The jacket, with its plain, tight sleeves, is lined with brown satin. And the blouse, with its simple little round collar, is of pleated beige georgette, with rows of narrow valenciennes lace applied in a square vestee effect.

* * * *

If you just love the beauty of broche or any of the novel and lovely velvet fabrics that have appeared this autumn, do be careful not to spoil their own particular beauty with great elaboration of line or detail! These fabrics are lovely enough in themselves, and if you're not careful they will be "too much of a good thing!"

* * * *

A scoop hat with a wavy brim perches on milady's head pertly and precariously, as I've sketched for you today!

* * * *

In these days the foundation over which your gown is worn is just as important as the gown itself! There mustn't be any bulges or too much constriction, or wobbly flesh—and there won't be if you sit right down and send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Post for this week's illustrated leaflet. Dare has written instructions for making corsets exactly like her very own, which cost tons of money in Paris, and which are marvels of comfortable, graceful figure control.

Au revoir!

Indoor—Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me how to overcome the following trouble so I do not fail again with sweet peas. My sweet-pea vines became covered with green insects just as the buds were beginning to open and as a result I had only a minimum crop of flowers. I sprayed them with soapsuds and kerosene.

ABBIE R. M.

Sweet peas should be kept constantly growing. Plants that are sending out new shoots are rarely troubled with insects. To do this you must water the plants thoroughly once a day, especially the tops. Then every day you must pick your entire crop of flowers. If you permit the plants to go to seed they will cease to produce blooms. In early July all sweet peas are benefited by a mulch about their roots. Grass clippings make a very good mulch for these plants. Each week the soil between the rows should be turned over with a hoe. Sweet peas cared for in this way are seldom troubled by insects. If, however, they do appear, better spray the bushes with nicotine solution.

Is it true that if grass is mowed reasonably often you do not have to take up the clippings?

HENRY P. W.

Lawns like plenty of humus, so do not remove short grass clippings, but let them lie to decompose. Rotted grass clippings are nature's best humus.

I am preparing to set out four shrubs this fall. Please tell me how to care for them after planting.

MARION J.

When planting give them a heavy watering, then fill in the hole, leaving a slight depression for holding and catching water. Prune back the tops of the shrubbery severely, usually one-third to one-half. Mulch with well-rotted manure, peat, straw or grass clippings. If possible, use well-rotted manure. All newly planted shrubs or trees should be mulched the first winter with manure.

Please tell me the name and control for the insect which has taken possession of my chrysanthemums.

MRS. CHARLES G. P.

The most common enemy of chrysanthemums is the aphid. This is controlled by spraying, using a gallon of warm water into which is dissolved one cubic inch of laundry soap and one and one-half teaspoonfuls of 40 per cent nicotine sulphate. Best spray on a cloudy day or late afternoon to prevent hurried evaporation. A week later give the plants a second application. Always direct the spray into the growing ends of the shoots.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

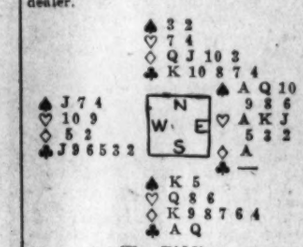
By ELY CULBERTSON
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

AND ONE CLEAR CALL.

AFTER all, for most players rubber bridge furnishes the ultimate test of the system used by a player, as well as the player himself. One's book knowledge of the game may be simply tremendous, but if that person can not apply it in such a way as to make himself plus on the score when the result of the afternoon or evening's play is recorded, his fellow players may be pardoned if they do not accept his estimate of his skill at the table.

The hand below which is, I admit, a most unusual distribution, was in its actual play in a rubber game coupled with most unusual bidding which gave to an expert Contract player holding the East hand an opportunity to draw an exact diagram of his holding for the benefit of a "Doubting Thomas" partner, seated in the West position. Inasmuch, however, as that partner's net assets in the way of picture cards consisted only of the Knave of spades and the Knave of clubs, his utter lack of enthusiasm over East's bidding tactics may be excused.

Both sides vulnerable. South, dealer.



The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1◇	Pass	2◇	3◇(1)
4◇	Pass	Pass	5◇(2)
Pass	6♣(3)	Pass	6◇(4)
Dbl.	Pass(5)	Pass	Rdbl.(6)
Pass	6♠(7)	Pass	Pass
Dbl.	Pass	Pass	Rdbl.(8)
Pass	Pass	Pass

East and West make six spades doubled and redoubled.

1—A Jump Overcall obviously would not be strong enough and West might let the bidding die.
2—Spectacular, but the hand seems to merit it.
3—West is forced to bid, so naturally bids his best suit.
4—East probably knew the club bid was coming all along. His six diamond bid now must definitely tell West to choose between hearts and spades.
5—West knew what was wanted. However, the spirit was there, but the flesh was weak, so he passed the buck which South's Double enabled him to do.
6—Aforementioned buck is promptly passed back.
7—West has nothing else to do, but accompanies his bid with an inward prayer.
8—Hardly an ironclad or even sound Redouble, after partner's continual signs of weakness, but done with a "Shoot the Works" attitude—and who is there to blame him?

Result: East and West plus 2170 despite losing a spade trick. Obviously six hearts can not make.

TODAY'S POINTER.

The hand that enters the bidding after one of the opponents has opened the contracting is called the Defending Hand. Bids made in this position are described as defensive Overcalls or Takeout Doubles. An Overcall barely sufficient to overcall the Opening bid denotes a hand of only medium strength. A Jump Overcall shows a hand containing the probability of game, even in the face of the adverse Opening bid if partner has even weak support for such bid. A Jump Overcall is used to show more than 3 honor-tricks in the hand and a strong two-suiter, or a powerful single suit. The Takeout Double which requires a response from partner also shows at least 3 honor-tricks in the hand and possibly a biddable suit.

What Today Means to You

"LIBRA."

IF September 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:45 a. m. to 10:30 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 3:30 p. m., and from 8:05 p. m. to 10:10 p. m. The danger hours are from 11 a. m. to 12:50 p. m., and from 6 p. m. to 7:15 p. m.

Unexpected turns in the current of events will be productive of many surprises on September 24, according to astrological indications. Professional people will take a step forward, employes will secure advancement. In each instance, the good fortune will come unexpectedly and suddenly.

A child born on this September 24 will have a difficult nature and an awkward temperament. It will not make advances, and will receive the advances of others with indifference. If, however, the outer shell should be penetrated, there will be discovered a kernel of constancy, truth and sincerity, capable of an enduring and abiding love.

You, if born on September 24, consider yourself strong-willed and determined. Those who know you well, however, consider you stubborn and obstinate. That you are self-assertive, no one attempts to deny. You form opinions quickly, and advance them in a most positive manner, even though you may not be so well-informed as the victims of your "say-so." You do not possess a judicial mind, and your vision is "one-track." This attitude is a serious handicap and militates against that success which you ambition for yourself.

Self-analysis, conducted on honest principles, will convince you that you are not always right. As it is, when failure overtakes you, others are blamed, it is not your fault. You are altogether too "cock-sure" of yourself. A little more mental modesty would do you a lot of good.

You possess, this can not be gainsaid, many natural abilities. These enable you to grasp the essentials, and discard the "unnecessaries," of a problem. They do not save you at all times from error. You are very pronounced in your likes and dislikes. When you like people you will do anything for them, but when you dislike people you will do anything to them. Your horoscope denotes many "ups and downs," with sustained success in middle age.

Successful people born on September 24:

William E. Burton, actor.
John C. Stevens, yachtsman.
Richard H. Wilde, congressman and poet.
Mark A. Hanna, merchant and U. S. senator.
J. Horace McFarland, master printer.

ELLIS TO PRESIDE AT VIRGINIA FETE

Elaborate Celebration Will Mark Prince William Bicentennial.

Pageantry and oratory will mark the formal placing tomorrow of a monument commemorating the establishment of the first county seat of Prince William County, Va., in 1731, at Woodbridge, 25 miles south of Washington, on the Richmond highway.

Ceremonies will continue all day and the entire public school body of the county will participate. Wade H. Ellis, Washington attorney, and chairman of the Prince William County George Washington Bicentennial Commission, will preside at the ceremonies.

An invocation by Dr. C. A. Langston, rector of Pohick Church, will open the celebration tomorrow morning. The monument then will be presented officially by Roger D. Wharton, editor of the Manassas Journal, on behalf of the donor, and will be accepted by Lindsay Dawson, chairman of the county board of supervisors. Mrs. Corbin Thompson will unveil the marker.

Senator Claude A. Swanson, of Virginia, has expressed a desire to be present, and if able to attend will deliver an address. Other speakers include Representative Howard W. Smith, of the Eighth District; former Representatives R. Walton Moore and C. C. Carlin, Charles H. Callahan, authority on Virginia history, and Dr. H. J. Eckenrode, director of the division of history and archeology of the State conservation commission.

The school children will present tableaux and pageants depicting early colonial and Indian scenes and historic events. Group singing of old-time songs will bring the day's events to a close.

Pound Money Order Rates Are Adjusted

Departure of England from the gold standard was reflected yesterday by a reduction in the conversion rate of American postal money orders.

The Postoffice Department ruled that, effective today, the rate for money orders issued in the United States, and payable in pounds in Great Britain, Northern Ireland, Irish Free State, New Zealand and the Union of South Africa will be $4.40 per pound, instead of $4.87, the gold standard rate.

Stabilization of Lira Remains, Embassy Told

(Associated Press.)

The Italian government informed its embassy here yesterday it had no intention of changing the stabilization point of the lira from 5.26 cents. Ambassador de Martino said he had received advices from Premier Mussolini to this effect and added:

"This should set at rest all rumors that the lira stabilization point or its gold standard might be changed."

PROMINENT AT LEGION MEET

WET VICTORY, BONUS DEFEAT LEGION CONVENTION FORECAST

commission to present the following to the attention of this convention:

"That, when it shall properly come before this convention, due consideration be given to modification of the Volstead act to legalize real beer without conflict with the Constitution of the United States in the interest of furnishing added employment. Your commission believes that hundreds of thousands of jobs may be created through such action."

This announcement was greeted with cheers and those delegates who are leading the wet fight took its reception as an indication of what action might be taken tomorrow when prohibition is thrown into the convention. The introdction of this question, by the way, together with the cash bonus proposal, probably will prolong the convention as long debates on both questions are expected.

Drys Would Side-Step.

Wet and dry forces are busy tonight getting ready for the big fight tomorrow. The minority—that is the drys—will propose that "Since the problem of prohibition and its enforcement is a question about which war veterans are not better qualified to speak than nonveterans, the American Legion as an organization should not take any action one way or another on this question."

This substitute was proposed by former Senator Daniel F. Steck, of Iowa, who is understood to represent the legion administration.

In the debate in the resolutions committee no attempt was made by any speaker to defend the eighteenth amendment or the Volstead act. Members of the committee were frank in their expressions and legionnaires drink wet and are wet. The only argument made was that the legion should not become mixed in such a controversial question. On the other hand, the wets demanded that the legion go on record in an effort to force the political parties into action.

Community Duty Seen.

The point was made that the legionnaires are rapidly taking the lead in the political life of their communities and that they should not sidestep one of the most important issues before the country today. Wets declared that prohibition had really ceased to be a political issue and is now a sociological and an economic issue. Bootlegging, racketeering and the other crimes which accompany the present system were bitterly attacked even by those members of the committee who voted to refrain from taking any stand.

A subcommittee of the legislative committee, composed of Gov. Theodore Roosevelt of Porto Rico, Sam Reynolds of Nebraska and J. Monroe Johnson of South Carolina, antibonus members; Representative Wright Patman of Texas, Raymond Fields of Oklahoma and John Stelle of Illinois, probonus, was unable to agree and on motion of Thomas W. Miller, of Delaware, former alien property custodian, the question was debated before the entire committee this afternoon for several hours.

Interest Waiver Proposed.

It was finally decided by a majority of the committee to ask Congress to eliminate the interest on loans or at least reduce the rate. The majority, however, agreed that no further payments on adjusted service certificates be made.

President's Hoover's plea on Monday made a deep impression on the delegates and Gen. James A. Drain, of Washington, made a further appeal today which will probably aid the antibonus forces. Fortunately Mr. Hoover handled the situation in a most diplomatic way and his frank statement did not antagonize any of the delegates. Some of them were set to capitalize on the Chief Executive's address as an attempt to dictate the policies of the legion. Regardless, the bonus forces are well organized and there will be a hard fight before the proposal for further payments is defeated, if it is.

The fight against the bonus plan will be led by Gov. Roosevelt and Harry Colmery, of Kansas, National Commander O'Neil's personal representative on the executive committee, who is the chairman.

Other stands taken today included:

Recommendation that the World War veterans act be amended to provide for payment of total disability compensation to veterans who are under treatment in hospitals.

Advocacy of the elimination of all "pauper" and "need" clauses in the veterans' act.

Opposition to the action of the American Medical Association in objecting to Federal hospitalization of veterans.

A request that the date prior to which a veteran must be married in order for his widow to receive compensation or pension be extended to July 2, 1941.

Stricter Alien Curb Asked.

Instructions to the legislative committee to seek appropriations for the Department of Justice for stricter enforcement of the law banning aliens who belong to organizations seeking to overthrow the Government by force.

Opposition to laws designed to prevent enforced military training at schools and colleges.

Support of legislation to increase the manufacture of munitions as a preparedness measure, to increase the Regular Army to 165,000 men and to build the Navy up to the London treaty strength.

Recommendations that as soon as possible the Air Corps be organized separate from the Army and Navy.

Suit Asks $15,000 For Use of Word

Sanitary Grocery Company Charges Infringement of Trade Name.

Alleging infringement of its trade name, the Sanitary Grocery Co., 1845 Fourth street northeast, yesterday filed suit for $15,000 damages from Frank J. Salatto, trading as the Sanitary Meat Market, of 125 G street northwest or 701 Second street northwest.

The grocery company asked a restraining order to prevent Salatto from continuing to display the word "sanitary" in his store.

In its complaint the grocery company alleges it has built up a good will valued at $2,554,000 and that it operates 537 stores which employ 2,682 persons. It claims it owns real estate valued at $1,736,488.19 and has personal property valued at $4,488,563.56. The company does an annual business of more than $30,000,000, the petition declares.

FARMERS' CANNING TOPS ALL RECORDS

Growers May Not Have Much Money, but Will Have Plenty to Eat.

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

New York, Sept. 23.—Record-breaking storing and canning activity has placed American farmers in a better position than in many years to face the winter so far as food is concerned.

This was revealed tonight with the completion of a national survey by the Associated Press, which shows that with unprecedented foresight farmers in general began months ago to prepare for a hard winter.

They now have enough food and foodstuffs in cellars, storage houses and on pantry shelves to last until the grass turns green again. Farmers in some instances may wear patches on their clothes, but they will have a full larder for their families.

In one State alone, North Carolina, home clubwomen have filled 4,600,000 containers of fruits and vegetables in comparison with 1,250,000 last year. Gov. Max Gardner said the "live at home" program was responsible for the production of $25,000,000 in produce which in 1929 was brought outside the State.

Crops Cost Less.

Furthermore, farmers spent less than usual in cultivating their crops, as a result of the lack of financial assistance. Low prices prevented, with few exceptions, appreciable profits, but the margin of loss has been smaller.

At Washington Dr. Theodore B. Manny, specialist in rural social organization in the Department of Agriculture, said:

"The farmers' main idea is to cut living expenses to the bone, hoping to break even in final payments on fixed charges. In the South especially, sincere efforts have been made this year to accomplish this end."

The survey revealed that in many States, notably Virginia, Alabama, Colorado, Mississippi, Missouri, Oklahoma and Pennsylvania more garden crops were planted this season than ever before, the farmers in some cases even figuring out in advance a budget of their families' winter requirements.

Bumper food crops were reported in Maryland, Kentucky, Ohio, Kansas, Alabama, Tennessee, Missouri and Oregon. In those sections the yield was great enough to assure the rural population enough garden produce to last until spring, to afford a surplus now being canned for the needy in urban sections, and to provide plenty of feed for live stock.

Fattening Cattle for Meat.

The average farmer is fattening his cattle on unmarketable grain and will slaughter them during the cold months to provide a meat supply for his family. Neighborhood slaughtering "bees" already are being planned in Indiana and other Midwestern States.

In Pennsylvania the increase in canning is estimated as high as 200 per cent. In Oklahoma a typical family on the Red Cross list last year now has more than 500 jars of food stored away.

In Minnesota, pork, lamb, beef and even chicken meat are being preserved.

The interest in canning has spread from country folk to their city cousins, who have gone into markets, taken advantage of low prices, and bought large supplies of fruit and vegetables for preserving.

The extent of the movement is reflected in reports from manufacturers that the greatest shortage of glass jars in the history of the country now exists.

Fifty carloads of jars were shipped into Arkansas this year, as compared with eight or ten carloads in former years.

In all except a few States the farmers storage bins and underground pits are filled to the point of overflowing with potatoes, apples, cabbages, turnips and other nonperishable edibles.

VESTRY TO BE BUILT AFTER PLANS OF 1767

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

The vestry house for the old Pohick Church, originally planned by members of the vestry of Truro Parish prior to the Revolution, but abandoned when the conflict for freedom began, will be constructed in the near future. The vestry has decided to advertise for bids for the building immediately.

The house will be constructed in accordance with the plans made more than a century and a half ago, with the interior to meet modern demands. The present plans were drawn by Edward W. Donn, jr., of Washington, who has assisted in the reconstruction of historic buildings in Virginia, including Wakefield, birthplace of George Washington. The building committee in charge of construction includes Herbert Haar, chairman; Dr. C. Lee Starkweather, J. H. Claggett, and Herbert Baker, jr.

The corner stone will be laid on November 20, which is the anniversary of the meeting of the vestry of Truro Parish 164 years ago, when it was decided to build Pohick Church on its present site, on the Washington-Richmond highway, about 15 miles south of Alexandria, Va. Members of the vestry at that time were the Rev. Lee Massey, rector; Daniel McCarthy, and Thomas W. Coffer, church wardens; George Washington, George Mason, George William Fairfax, Alexander Henderson, Edward Payne, Tomozen Ellcey, William Gardner, William Linton and Thomas Ford.

Washington Masonic Lodge No. 22, of Alexandria, will superintend the laying of the corner stone, with the following committee in charge of the arrangements: The Rev. C. A. Langston, rector of Pohick; John W. Brookfield, sr., of Springfield, senior warden, and Edmund H. Allen, of Newington. A pageant will be presented by members of the church duplicating the meeting of the vestry which decided to erect Pohick Church on November 20, 1767. Those taking part in the pageant will wear colonial costumes.

President Hoover, Gov. John Garland Pollard of Virginia, and other State and national officials will be invited to attend.

Man Gets Year in Jail For Murder Attempt

R. V. Harris, colored, of Bull Run, Va., was sentenced to one year in the State Penitentiary yesterday in the Fairfax County Circuit Court by Judge Walter T. McCarthy after he had pleaded guilty to an indictment for an attempt to commit murder. The charge grew out of an assault on Deputy Sheriff Henry Magarity, of Fairfax County, at the Bull Run dancehall several months ago. The colored man drew a gun in the deputy's face and pulled the trigger twice, but the gun failed to fire.

Harry Davies, alias "Dinks" Davies, of Mount Vernon District, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to one month in jail on a charge of transportation and possession of ardent spirits in violation of the State prohibition law yesterday. The jail sentence was suspended during good behavior of Davies, but he was required to furnish a $500 bond not to violate the prohibition law for one year.

Knights Templar Meet Two Days in Culpeper

A delegation of members of Old Dominion Commandery, Knights Templar, of Alexandria, will attend the district session in Culpeper today and tomorrow. R. Samuel Luckett, eminent commander of the Alexandria body, is anxious for as many members of Old Dominion Commandery as possible to attend. A train will leave Alexandria at 5:12 o'clock this afternoon, and headquarters in Culpeper will be at the Waverly Hotel.

The Old Dominion Commandery will extend an invitation for the next group meeting to be held in Alexandria, according to Commander Luckett, so as to formulate plans for the grand conclave in Alexandria in 1932, when the new George Washington Masonic National Memorial Temple will be dedicated.

University Park Studies Incorporation Question

Possibility that University Park, Md., might incorporate when the lot-owners' contract with the development company runs out was discussed at the first fall meeting of the Community Association.

At present residents have an agreement with the University Park Corporation whereby the company cuts grass and weeds in the park space, collects trash and garbage and lights the streets for $15 a year. These contracts will expire at the end of next year and will not be renewed, the company says. It has also been announced that there will be no further street improvements. A committee headed by Russell Hardy was appointed to study the cost of running an incorporated town.

Prince Georges Firemen To Get No Extra Money

Increased aid for Prince Georges County firemen will not be available this year, the board of county commissioners yesterday advised officers of the county association.

The bill authorizing an increase from $5,000 to $15,000 passed the last Legislature, but did not become effective until the 1931 budget had been made up. For this reason, only $5,000 was set aside this year for the firemen. Last week Dr. James A. Truitt, president of the association, asked for any additional money which might be available. The commissioners were not able to find any unexpended funds, however.

MARYLAND STATE TROOPERS IN TRAINING

Seventy-five men have entered intensive training at Fort George G. Meade in competition for 25 jobs now open as Maryland State troopers. Their studies include close-order drill, pistol practice, motorcycle riding over rough terrain and lecture courses in police practices. Top—Indulging in a little close-order drill, the platoon looks good for only two days' training, despite the varied assortment of uniforms. Lower—Lieut. Ridgely is explaining the intricacies of the motorcycle to candidates. The course over sandy soil is very difficult and many "green" riders take spills.

QUANTICO SELECTED FOR ROAD GATHERING

Meeting October 9 Will Be Held for Promotion of Highway Plans.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

A meeting of those interested in widening and straightening of the Richmond-Washington highway between Alexandria and Fredericksburg has been called by Dan S. Hollenga, business manager of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, to be held at Quantico October 9. Invitations to attend the meeting have been issued by Mr. Hollenga to all persons living along the route. Of the stretch in question, 14 miles lies in the district contiguous to Alexandria, and 30 miles in the Culpeper district.

It is Mr. Hollenga's intention to get the ideas of all persons living along the route, to map out a definite plan of action and then submit the matter to the State Highway Commission. Since this road is a link in the main artery between the East and the South, and the State has spent comparatively little money in this section, it is thought the highway commission would consider this proposition favorably, especially since considerable widening of the road south of Fredericksburg has recently been done.

It has been pointed out that recent figures show this to be one of the most extensively traveled highways in Virginia, and with the constantly increasing number of vehicles using this road it has become dangerous at certain points on account of the narrow roadway and sharp curves.

Mrs. Janet English, past State president of the Eight and Forty, women's honor society of the American Legion Auxiliary, has been elected to the office of "demi chapeaux" of the Eight and Forty at the national convention now being held in Detroit.

Mrs. English is a member of Alexandria post No. 24, American Legion, and also of the Alexandria American Legion Auxiliary. At the recent State convention in Clifton Forge she was elected Virginia child welfare officer of the Legion.

Group to Study Merits Of Board Candidates

The mass meeting scheduled for tomorrow night under auspices of the Better Government League has been postponed until next Wednesday evening in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon, Va. According to the chairman, Robert N. Anderson, the 51 candidates for the county board, of which five are to be elected, have been invited to attend and address the meeting.

Another meeting is scheduled for Friday evening, October 2, at which five candidates will be selected as best qualified for election. The five Republican candidates and two of the independent candidates have already informed the league that they do not wish their names to be considered in the selection.

Assault Case Expunged From Record in Fairfax

A story in The Post Tuesday morning, which stated by inadvertent error, that Carroll Carter was indicted for felonious assault by the Fairfax County grand jury, should have said that Carter appeared in court upon a warrant charging felonious assault but was discharged by Judge Walter T. McCarthy upon payment of costs.

This action was taken upon recommendation by Commonwealth Attorney Wilson M. Farr at request of Chester L. Taylor, Allean Taylor and Evelyn Taylor. The statement of these three was signed and sworn to and filed with the court and all proceedings against Carter were expunged from the record.

Maryland Drink Made Of Prunes Held Legal

Holding that prunes, being dried plums, are therefore a native fruit, Judge J. Chew Sheriff yesterday dismissed charges of illegal possession of liquor which were brought against M. Milino, of Brentwood, in Hyattsville police court.

Milino was released under the Maryland local option law, which provides that wines made of local fruits shall not be illegal. Milino testified that grapes, pears, peaches and prunes entered into the concoction which the county policemen found when they raided his house.

Town Gets Traffic Signals "On Tick"

Hyattsville May Return Lights to Makers if Not Sanctioned.

An agreement by the manufacturers to take back the lights if permission for their installation is withdrawn by the State Roads Commission within 90 days, has made it possible for the town council of Hyattsville to order two traffic lights to be placed on the Baltimore boulevard.

While $2,700 for the signals had been appropriated by the town, refusal of the commission to give a permanent permit for them held up the purchase. It is now hoped that the lights will be in place by October 5, when the Laurel races start.

The ordinance limiting parking on the boulevard and on Rhode Island avenue has been amended so that the one-hour limit now is effective only between 7 o'clock in the morning and 7 o'clock at night. The council also has approved the proposal to make the Hyattsville phone exchange a part of the metropolitan phone area. The repair of Schley avenue between Wine and Park avenues has been authorized and a survey will also be made to learn what other streets most need repairs before winter.

Record of Onions Branded Unlawful

Richmond Firm Convicted of Agricultural Act Violation.

(Associated Press.)

T. B. Pearman & Co., Inc., of Richmond, Va., has been found guilty by the Agriculture Department of violating the perishable agricultural commodities act. The complaint against the company was the result of an investigation of another complaint brought against Burton & Briel, Inc., also of Richmond, whose license was revoked some time ago by Secretary Hyde.

The Pearman Co. was charged with failing to keep records correctly disclosing all facts in business transactions. It purchased a carload of onions from Burton & Briel, but neglected to keep records in such form as to show the date on which payment for the onions was made and failed correctly to disclose the actual transaction between the parties respecting the payment made to Burton & Briel.

The penalty for violation in this case was merely publication of the violation and the facts surrounding it.

FOR THE BEST ANSWERS EXPLAINING THE

AND TELLING HOW THIS QUART BENEFITS MOTORISTS

Fact No. 1—Thousands of motorists and service station men have observed that after a car has been given its first fill of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and is driven 200 to 350 miles, a look at the crankcase gauge shows that about one quart of oil is apparently missing . . . but

Fact No. 2—These same people have noticed that on the second and later fillings with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, scarcely a drop of oil will disappear during the first 350 miles, and practically none at 500 and up to 1,000 miles!

The above facts have been checked by actual tests with cars that use six quarts of oil for the crankcase, cars in good mechanical condition and driven at ordinary rates of speed. These facts will also prove true for your car, in proportion to the amount of oil your crankcase usually holds, your car's mechanical condition and the speeds at which you drive.

What becomes of the "hidden quart"? The answer is easy if you study the Facts given above and keep in mind the things that only Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil can do. The explanation of the whereabouts of the "hidden quart" is simple—no technical knowledge of motors or oil is necessary.

Remember—The "hidden quart" of Germ Processed Oil does not escape through leakage ... does not burn up, wear out nor evaporate. It is "present but unaccounted for." Fact No. 2, given above, proves all this.

After you've found where the "hidden quart" goes, you can easily see the special benefits it gives the motorist—advantages that no other oil can give.

Ask at any Conoco Station or Conoco Dealer for free Entry Blank which contains information about Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil that may help you win. Conoco Station and Dealer employees will gladly answer your questions. Remember, you do not have to buy anything to enter this contest.

WOODWARD BLOCK BATTLE IS STARTED

Owners Win Victory in Delay of Sale; Court Grants 30-Day Postponement.

A fight is on between the owners of the Woodward Building and the heirs of the man who built the handsome edifice at Fifteenth and H streets northwest.

The Francis H. Duehay Co., owners of the building, won a temporary victory yesterday in their efforts to have the sale halted, when Justic Jesse C. Adkins in District Supreme Court ruled that thirteen days advertising of the sale is inadequate, and ordered the auction postponed 30 days.

Justic Adkins, at the same time, ordered the Duehay Co. to put up $26,000 bond. This bond had not been posted at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the time originally set for the sale, and the report circulated that the sale would go ahead as scheduled.

Storm Ready to Break.

A storm was on the verge of breaking at the time set for the sale, and the defendants announced their decision to postpone it until next Tuesday at the same time.

John E. Laskey, attorney for the Duehay Co., maintains that if the sale is held at this time it will be in defiance of the court order requiring a 30-day postponement. Mr. Laskey took the attitude that posting of the bond did not enter into the case.

The Duehay Co. is asking that a receiver be named, and that the sale be held under court supervision. The company states that it has $1,600,000 equity in the building, and that business conditions have made it impossible to meet obligations under two existing trusts. The company claims that the first trust is in default and that whoever purchases the building will be burdened with refinancing of the property.

Local Exchange Active.

The wave of optimism that swept the New York Stock Exchange yesterday caused a distinct ripple on the local exchange. Bank and public utility stocks were especially active.

Waggaman, Brawner & Co. is advising investors to give serious consideration to the present level of bank stock prices. Thirteen of the leading institutions, the company points out, are now selling under book value. The average market price for seventeen New York bank stocks is 68 per cent of book value.

A gain of 28 per cent in collections by Washington stores reporting in the Fifth Federal Reserve District was evidenced in August. Stocks on hand August 31 in the local stores reporting were 8.3 per cent lower than on the same date a year ago.

Ice Dividend Declared.

Directors of the American Ice Co. have declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents per share on common stock, payable October 26 to stockholders of record October 2, reducing the annual dividend basis from $3 to $2.

The council of administration of the District Bankers Association will hold its regular September meeting at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at its headquarters in the Becker Building.

The annual meeting of the Bank of Commerce and Savings will be held today.

The National Coal Association estimates that bituminous coal production in the United States for the week ended September 19 was about 7,430,000 net tons. The Bureau of Mines estimates production for the week ended September 5 as 7,621,000 net tons, and for the week ended September 12, 6,780,000.

Paul D. Sleeper, general agent of the Aetna Life Insurance Co., sent the following telegram yesterday to T. N. Reihle, chairman of the million-dollar round table at the National Life Underwriters convention in Pittsburgh:

"Chan C. Mason, of this office, completed payment for total 1,049,000 of life insurance on September 22, including business all companies from September 23, 1930. Regret he could not attend meeting of round table this morning, but his name should be enrolled as member."

Mr. Mason led all the Aetna agents for aggregate sales to September 1, 1931.

About The Showshops

With NELSON B. BELL

SOMETIMES a fellow writing a column of playhouse patter—and I will not pay their subjects the doubtful compliment of saying that interviews are employed only when there is nothing else to write about—finds it a bit difficult to fill his space. As one who frequently has suffered this embarrassment, I find Variety's story of the situation on the West Coast distinctly comforting.

It seems that exclusive of perhaps a half-hundred writers for the strictly motion picture trade press, there are in and about the film colony in Hollywood some 300-odd correspondents of newspapers, magazines and news services whose daily task it is to scramble around — frequently merely to scram, I dare say—and endeavor to accumulate exclusive news concerning a list of stars and "name" players numbering 150, or less.

That figures out, according to mathematics' weirdly baffling processes—I should have more fingers, to make the thing really easy—to about one-half of a news item per correspondent.

Let's see you try to get fat on that!

Having already gone in for a free dancing school, boys and girls band, free coffee and cigarets for the habitues of the women's lounge, local kid comedies and various other devices to engage the community interest, General Manager Harry W. Crull, of the Fox Theater, is now about to spring another one on the no longer unsuspecting public.

Within the next week or so, there will be established a new broadcasting unit, to be known, I believe, as the Fox Theater of the Air. The preliminary arrangement is for a test period of 26 weeks, which is by way of being dangerously close to a full half-year.

The present plan is to put a program on the air three nights a week from 11:30 p. m. to midnight and a special entertainment on Sunday nights from 9:30 to 10:30 o'clock. A special studio is now in course of construction in the theater which will be so located that it may operate simultaneously with the stage shows, or not, as the exigencies of the moment may require. It will, obviously, also make the services of artists appearing on the Fox bills easily available.

Programs will be under the personal direction of Mr. Crull, assisted by Louis Brown, in charge of advertising and publicity—and don't I know what a nice job THEY'VE cut out for themselves!

This is the day, by the way, when you should be reminded that come next Monday night, the Shubert-Belasco Theater, with L. Stoddard Taylor in genial command for the twenty-seventh successive year, will toss on its lights and throw open its doors with first Washington presentations of last season's most sensationally successful comedy, "Once in a Lifetime."

It is insisted in the palpitating panegyrics contributed to the dramatic desks by the perspicacious gentlemen extolling the merits of the production on behalf of Sam H. Harris, its producer, that the identical cast that created the principal roles in New York will be on hand for the Washington performance, although it is notable that no names are named, beyond those of Grant Mills and Jean Dixon.

The National, launching into the third week of its season, on Monday night will offer Noel Coward's comedy, "Private Lives," with Madge Kennedy and Otto Kruger in the roles which originally were played by Mr Coward, himself, and Gertrude Lawrence, in inverse order, of course.

This is a gay and at times tempestuous comedy of wandering affections and odd reconciliations which has been acclaimed on both sides of the Atlantic as a delightful, but occasionally destructive, example of what love really is like!

And lest you whose predilections are in the direction of burlesque feel slighted, you should know that Mr. Jimmy Lake is swinging his megaphone right lustily over the manifold merits of Joe Leavitt's "Dixie Beauties," coming to the Gayety for a week, beginning with Sunday's matinee. Jack Hunt and Clyde Bates head the comedy contingent, with Kitty Warren, singing and dancing soubrette, pointing the way for the distaff.

Bob Considine, of the sports department, it is who nudges me and whispers that "Big Bill" Tilden, whose third and final screen tennis lesson is current at the Columbia, and Vincent Richards, a frequent figure in the newsreels and a star of more than one of Grantland Rice's popular "Sportlights," are to appear in exhibition play on the Wardman Park courts on Sunday.

A fine chance to check up on "Big Bill" and find out whether it's better to do as he does, or do as he says from the silver sheet. Either one probably would improve your game—if any.

Next week—I say "next week," you understand, from force of habit; the Loew houses, RKO-Keith's and the Fox open their new bills tomorrow, the remaining three on Saturday—the lineup in the cathedrals of the cinema will be minutely similar to this: Palace, Eleanor Boardman, Lupe Velez, Roland Young and Warner Baxter in "The Squaw Man," and Helen Kane in Loew's "Karnival Kapers" revue; Fox, Ruth Chatterton in "The Magnificent Lie," and Fanchon & Marco's "Carnival" Idea; Earle, Douglas Fairbanks, jr., and Loretta Young in "I Like Your Nerve," and Fifi Dorsay headlining the vaudeville bill, in person; RKO-Keith's, Mary Astor and Robert Ames in "Smart Woman;" Rialto, Leo Carillo, Mary Brian and Noah Beery in "Homicide Squad;" Columbia, Sylvia Sidney, William Collier, jr., and Estelle Taylor in "Street Scene," second week; Metropolitan, George Arliss and Doris Kenyon in "Alexander Hamilton," second week.

And what a fine lot of sheep—or is it goats?—we big, strong, he-men turned out to be by heaving our straw hats into the ashcan on September 15 with the temperature at 103, just because the manufacturers cracked a figurative whip!

Talk about the "weaker sex." Oh, man!

BEACH LOT BUYERS ADD TO PURCHASERS

Enthusiastic Owners Bring Friends to Share in Woodland's Beauty.

When hundreds of persons buy into a proposition and are so pleased that they tell their friends about it, the proposition must be good.

Hundreds of Capital residents have purchased lots at Woodland Beach, The Washington Post's summer home development on the South River in Maryland. Many of them were so enthusiastic over their purchases that they immediately built cottages there. Others who were among the early buyers have plans all made for cottages to be erected for next summer.

They have been pleased with Woodland Beach because it offers so much for so little money. The beach offers everything that the higher-priced resorts have to present and yet lots there are selling at the small sum of $93. And even at these prices, terms have been arranged whereby the purchaser need pay only $9 down together with the price of a subscription to The Post. The balance may be cleared through monthly installments of $3.50 on which there are no interest charges.

If you have not visited Woodland Beach, take a run down there at the next opportunity and notice the vast improvements since the development was first announced early in the summer. Roads and streets have been cut through; cottages dot the property on all sides; the community clubhouse is ready to receive your guests and amusement devices for the children are to be found. It is an ideal spot in which to spend a good part of the year and if you do not investigate this bargain, you may regret it for a long time.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—It was reported in Wall street today that plans are under way for curtailing the retail distribution of bonds of the Chatham Phenix Corporation, securities affiliate of the Chatham Phenix National Bank & Trust Co., in line with the policies of many banking institutions. Some branches, including several out of town offices, will be closed, it was reported.

The directors of Corn Products Refining Co. will meet Friday for action on the dividends, and reports in financial circles indicated that the regular quarterly payment of 75 cents probably will be declared. It is understood that the company is considering cutting wages by the end of the year, and if that is done it is probable that the extra dividend of 50 cents will be omitted in December.

A membership on the New York coffee and sugar exchange has been sold by the estate of Francis M. Goecker to Louis Watjen for $5,000, unchanged from the previous sale.

Dear Benny:

The newspapers say as how you are all ready to start your comeback campaign for the welterweight class, and as one of your admirers who doesn't want to see a good guy shin up the wrong tree I wonder if you are really serious about it.

I know, Benny, that the hockey franchises and the stock market dive didn't do the family exchequer any good and that your share of the $367,000 gate with Lew Tendler in 1922 has long since gone the way of all easy money and that there are lots of easy pickings among the palookas but after that it is going to come hard.

It is all right for you to fight a fellow like Vittorio Livan, a middleweight, who probably won't be able to lay a glove on you, but in the same paragraph it says that you have signed to box Jimmy McLarnin at New York next month. That is where I start wondering if it is worth the risk.

You know, Benny, there haven't been any of those $100,000 gates in the lightweight class since you retired, and the fans aren't paying $25 tops any more, especially in the lightweight and middleweight divisions. Of ourse, you may net yourself $25,000 from the McLarnin fight, but that is putting it generously and you used to pick up that much against boys who were scared to death to get in the same ring with you.

Besides, Benny, you aren't as young as you used to be. The last time I saw you, at the Dempsey-Tunney fight in Chicago in 1927, when you had already retired and were around experting for the newspapers, you were kinda fat then, and didn't look as if you were very eager to fight, even if you could. You know, Benny, it is much tougher on a lightweight who takes on weight than it is on a middleweight and a heavyweight. It doesn't slow them up so much, and remember, speed was your long suit when you were the class of your division.

I admit those financial setbacks of yours were tough and it probably was the last straw when they sold the New York World and cut off your regular income as an expert, which was middlin' even after you paid off your ghost writer. But I don't think you will be so happy fighting for purses that were pittances when you were in your prime and I don't think it's going to be so easy for you to dance around the palookas as it used to be.

You know, Benny, this guy McLarnin is one tough hombre. You remember what he did to Al Singer in the first round after you yourself had inspected Singer and had nominated him as the successor to yourself as the champion and the idol of the Ghetto.

There won't be any rest periods when you get in there with McLarnin. Pop Foster, his manager, will tell him, if he doesn't already know, that you are 35 years old and that the old legs can't stand much of a pace. He is liable to run you ragged and if you start hanging on it will be bad because McLarnin loves the infighting.

Even when you were champion, Benny, you didn't meet any hitters like McLarnin and it might be a case for the coroner if you forget to duck. I don't think you will forget to duck, because you're too smart for that, but when the body is weary and the old legs cry for a chair, you may not be able to duck quick enough.

I remember how you talked Lew Tendler out of the decision in Jersey City back in 1922 after he had the fight won, but McLarnin is a very poor conversationalist and probably won't feel like discussing things when he's got you ripe for the knockout. He's that kind of a fighter.

You were a good boy, Benny, when you retired back in 1924, because your mother didn't want you to fight any more. That was a good boy. But, Benny, I take it you haven't asked her lately. And don't forget, Benny, you were a great guy as the retired undefeated lightweight champion of the world. It will be too bad if you are remembered as a doddering old middleweight trial horse for young fellows who couldn't hit you with the broad side of a spade when you were in your prime.

YOURS TRULY.

Bobby Jones And Ouimet Routed

Beaten by Ten Up in Match With Burke and Von Elm.

Two Pros Lose Only One Hole; Jones Has 74 Card.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Bobby Jones and his amateur championship successor, Francis Ouimet, absorbed a drubbing today in the name of sweet charity in a 36-hole exhibition golf match with Billy Burke, national open champion, and George Von Elm, the big business man.

Burke and Von Elm, who have proved themselves just about the toughest pair of shotmakers on the links this season, played brilliant golf to whip the Jones-Ouimet combination, 5 up, over the first 18 holes then double their margin in the second round. Burke was the star of the day, as he and his sharpshooting partner accumulated their aggregate margin of 10 up over the course of the Essex County Country Club.

Pros Really Won By 8 and 7.

If it had been anything but an exhibition for charity, it would have terminated with Burke and Von Elm the winners by a margin of 8 and 7 in the afternoon. But with a gallery of 6,000 sweeping the course with absolute abandon, the foursome went on to finish the full final round.

It was the first time Jones, since his retirement as the undisputed king of all the golfing worlds, had played two of his successors, Burke and Ouimet, in the same match.

Jones shot a 74 in the morning, while Burke went around in 72, 1 over par, and Von Elm took a 73. Ouimet, greeting old friends in the gallery, smilingly signing cards and helping the riotous gallery keep its scores straight, was high man with a 75.

In the afternoon Burke again showed the way, picking off four birdies along the way to get his par 71, while Von Elm shot a neat 74. Jones took 76 and Ouimet again trailed with 78.

Jones Wins 2 Holes With Birdies.

Jones accounted for both the holes his side was able to win during the day. Both times he had to shoot birdies to do it, bagging a three on the par four third in the morning round and a four on the long par five eighth in the afternoon. Ouimet was woefully erratic, getting into trouble frequently with his second shots while his long putts resolutely refused to go down.

Von Elm played steady golf all day. His second shots played him false at times, but his recoveries always brought him back in the running. Four times in the afternoon round he rolled long putts up to the cup only to have them hang there, a half turn out of the can.

It was estimated that the match returned about $10,000 for charity.

American and British Hopes in U. S. Women's Golf Tournament

WOMEN GOLF FAVORITES ADVANCE

Mrs. Pressler, Helen Hicks Extended in National Play.

BUFFALO COUNTRY CLUB, Williamsville, N. Y., Sept. 23 (A. P.).—Eight of the foremost feminine golfers of this country and England fought their way today into the quarter-finals of the thirty-fifth United States women's tournament, with two of the favorites, Helen Hicks, of New York, and Mrs. Leona Pressler, of San Gabriel, Calif., forced into sensational overtime matches to win.

Miss Hicks, holder of the Metropolitan and Eastern championships, went to the nineteenth green before she disposed of Marion Hollins, of Santa Cruz, Calif., former national champion, 1 up, in the day's feature battle.

Mrs. Pressler Victorious On 21st Hole.

Mrs. Pressler, runner-up in this year's Western championship, went to the twenty-first hole to subdue young Fritzi Stifel, of Wheeling, W. Va., State champion, 1 up. The Californian was 2 up at the halfway mark, but Miss Stifel rallied to square the matters on the back nine and hold on grimly until the third extra hole.

Joining these two victories in the quarter-finals were Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, of Philadelphia, the defending champion; Enid Wilson, British champion; Maureen Orcutt, of Englewood, N. J., who has shot some of the most sensational golf of the tournament; Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago; Marjorie Kerr, of England, and Mrs. Leo Federman, of New York City.

Miss Orcutt gave a thrilling performance in eliminating Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis. The Ne Jersey star, who holds the Canadian title, was out in 37, 4 under women's par, to be 4 up at the half-way mark and continued her fine play to win, 5 and 4.

The five-time champion, Mrs. Vare, was not extended to defeat Mrs. Charles Eddis, of Toronto, Ont., 4 and 3; Miss Van Wie eliminated Frances Williams, of Lehigh, Pa., 5 and 4; Mrs. Federman won from Mrs. Helen Payson Corson, of Philadelphia, 2 and 1; Miss Wilson downed Mrs. L. C. Nelson, of Dayton, Ohio, 4 and 2, and her English teammate, Miss Kern, defeated Jane Brooks, of Nyack, N. Y., 2 and 1.

Miss Hicks Comes Back After Losing Lead.

Miss Hicks, after leading 2 up at the end of twelve holes, saw her lead wiped away by Miss Hollins on the next two greens and then went 1 down as her opponent won the short sixteenth. It was a trying situation for the New York girl, who has piled up an impressive string of victories this year, but she rallied gamely to win the seventeenth hole, squaring the match, and then hold her own on the eighteenth.

Both players hit fine drives on the first extra hole, but Miss Hicks paved the way for her victory by planting her iron shot five feet from the cup. Miss Hollins' second rolled into a trap. She flicked it out 30 feet from the hole and when she missed her first putt, conceded the hole and the match to Miss Hicks.

Mrs. Pressler, the last of Pacific Coast threats remaining in the tournament, met a real tartar in Miss Stifel. Out in 45, four over women's par, Mrs. Pressler was 2 up on the West Virginia miss, who required three strokes more. At that point it looked like an easy victory for the Californian, who was runner-up to Mrs. Vare in 1929, but Miss Stifel made a determined rally after they started back.

Steadying, she won the tenth and thirteenth holes, to square the match. She then took the lead for the first time in the match by winning the fifteenth and sixteenth with a birdie and

Sharkey Asks Cancellation Of Bout With Primo Oct. 1 As Ugly Rumors Are Heard

By DIXON STEWART.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (U.P.).—Jack Sharkey today asked a cancellation of his October 1 bout with Primo Carnera, declaring that an injured left hand would make it impossible for him to go through with the contest.

Dr. William Walker, official of the New York State Athletic Commission, was unable to find clinical evidence of any recent injury to Sharkey's hand and saw no reason why Sharkey could not go through with the contest.

Promoter James J. Johnson offered to postpone the bout until Oceober 12, but Sharkey would not promise to enter the ring on that date.

The New York State Athletic Commission has appointed four doctors, including Sharkey's personal physician, to investigate Sharkey's alleged injury. All principals and the doctors must appear before the commission tomorrow.

Those are the facts in less than 200 words. Even Calvin Coolidge, who wrote a history of the United States in 500 words, could not boil down to 10,000 words the rumors that were put in circulation immediately after Sharkey asked for his cancellation.

The most popular rumor along the cauliflower row, is that Carnera's backers—who reputedly included such influential characters as Ownie Madden, one of New York's "public enemies" and Billy Duffy, Broadway night club proprietor, insisted that the contest be a hippodrome affair

Griffiths Bows to Schaaf As Crowd Booes Decision

CHICAGO STADIUM, Sept. 23 (U.P.).—Ernie Schaaf, Boston heavyweight, punched his way to a ten-round decision over Tuffy Griffiths, of Chicago, here tonight before a crowd of 15,000 fans.

The referee and two judges voted unanimously in favor of Schaaf, but the crowd booed the decision for almost 5 minutes and refused to allow the announcer to introduce the participants in the semifinal which followed the main bout.

Schaaf, who went into the ring a 7-to-5 favorite and boasting astring of seven straight knockouts, was pushed to the limit by the lighter Griffiths. Outweighed 21 pounds, Griffiths stood toe to toe and battled Schaaf in some of the most furious exchanges ever seen in the Chicago Stadium. Schoof weighed 208; Griffiths, 187.

There were no knockdowns, but Schaaf almost floored Griffiths with a terrific left hook to the head in the third round. Griffiths, however, refused to show any respect for Schaaf's punch or his knock-out record and never gave ground to his bigger and stronger opponent.

Schaaf's stiff left jabs and sharp left hooks to the head and body punches frequently hurt Griffiths. Tuffy's right eye was swollen and he was cut above the lip and under both eyes. Schaaf was unmarked, but he received a lot of punishment from Tuffy's almost constant attack.

Schaaf and Griffiths have been rematched for an October date, Matchmaker Nate Lewis announced.

Odds on Macks Drop to 7 to 5 With 6 to 5 Bet on A's in Opener

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (U.P.).—Betting odds favoring the Philadelphia Athletics to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals in the world series have dropped in one week from 8 to 5 to 7 to 5, the United Press learned today.

One New York commission house reported placing of a wager of $7,000 to $5,000 favoring the A's. At the same time a wager of $1,200 to $1,000 that the Athletics would win the opening game was made.

25,000 See Braves Beat Red Sox, 4 to 3

Boston, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Ed Brandt took a pitching duel from Danny Macfayden today as the Braves defeated the Red Sox, 4 to 3, before 25,000 persons, who contributed their admissions to a fund for the relief of the unemployed in Boston. Macfayden allowed only six hits to Brandt's nine, but was ineffective in the pinches.

FANS PONDER BOX CHOICE OF MACK

First Game in Series May See Hoyt Start, Many Believe.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Philadelphia Athletics having snugly put away the American League pennant for the season, followers of the champions are speculating on the opening pitcher for the world series.

There are nine to pick from—Earnshaw, Grove, Hoyt, Krausse, McDonald, Mahaffey, Peterson, Rommel and Walberg.

Will the veteran Connie Mack again amaze the baseball world as he did in 1929 when he sent Howard Ehmke to the mound in Chicago to win the first game, 3 to 1?

Many baseball experts think the tall tactician will start either Robert Moses Grove or George Livingstone Earnshaw, his two outstanding stars, and others have a hunch that he might cross the wise ones by starting a cast-off pitcher.

Waite Hoyt, let go by the New York Yankees, and tossed to the Athletics by the Detroit Tigers, has many followers who profess to believe he will be nominated to hurl the opening game in St. Louis against the Cardinals.

None of Mack's staff has the world series experience of the former Yankee-Detroit flinger. He has had the thrill of five world's series as a member of the Yankees. He has pitched in eight of the classic games and won six. His last two victories were against the A's coming opponents, defeating the Cardinals, 4 to 1 and 7 to 3, in 1928.

Hoyt Won 10 Games For Macks.

That he still has the heart, the power and the cunning to win games has been shown by his ten victories for the Athletics since joining them on the Fourth of July.

Connie Mack, as has been his custom, gives no indication who will start the series. He tells inquirers he does not know. If he has a pitcher in mind, he will not tell, for the reason he does not know whether the hurler will have the "stuff" on the ball when he starts to warm up.

On the strength of the season's performances, Grove would have the call, but there is Earnshaw, who was so successful against the Cardinals last year, to be reckoned with. Walberg has not been seriously considered in the deductions of the fans, yet he has only one less victory for the season than Earnshaw.

Of the 105 games the A's have so far won this year, Grove, Earnshaw, Walberg and Hoyt are credited with 81 victories. Grove leads with 30. Earnshaw has won 21 and Walberg 20.

Leroy Mahaffey has won 15, Eddie Rommel 7 and Hank McDonald 2.

Schmeling to Box Walker, Dempsey

Jacobs Says German's Next Bout Will Be Staged in February.

Paris, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Joe Jacobs, American manager of Max Schmeling, world's heavyweight boxing champion, said today that Schmeling would sail in November for the United States to make an exhibition tour and that he would fight Mickey Walker either in Miami or Los Angeles in February.

Jacobs said Schmeling then would take on Jack Dempsey in June at a place to be picked later.

Jacobs said he was sure Gene Tunney, who retired undefeated in 1927, was returning to the ring and that "we'll accommodate him."

Schmeling and Jacobs were in Paris for the opening of Jeff Dickson's new sports palace.

New York Held to 5 Hits By Brown and Marberry; Lead Now Is 1 1-2 Games

Nats Need 2 Victories To Gain Second Place

The Nats require only two victories in the remaining four games to clinch second place, regardless of how the Yankees fare in the four games they play. They could win only one of the three remaining games with the Yankees and beat Boston in the last game of the season and take second money. If the Nats win two of the remaining three games with the Yankees they will clinch second without further ado.

The Yankees, however, must win at least two of their three remaining games with Washington and then could gain second place only by beating Philadelphia in the final game if Washington lost to Boston.

Nats Come From Rear With 3-Run Rally in Sixth Inning.

By RICHARDS VIDMER
(Baseball Writer, New York Herald-Tribune.)

YANKEE STADIUM, N. Y., Sept. 23. The Nats are resting more comfortably tonight. The hot breath of the pursuing Yankee isn't so close that they can feel it on their backs, nor do they have to pick up their feet lest the New Yorkers trod on their heels. Altogether, second place is a more pleasant place to be in, and the Nats still are in it.

Little Lefty Brown and Big Fred Marberry hurled back the Yanks this afternoon as the series for second place started, throwing them a full game to the rear and putting the Nats a game and a half ahead. But it took some timely tapping by their teammates to eke out the 3 to 2 victory by which Washington pulled away.

Vernon Gomez and George Pipgras kept the Nats baffled and bewildered in eight of the nine innings, but in the other session three hits were grouped off Gomez and by miscellaneous means three runs were accumulated, which was just the proper amount to attain success without any unnecessary effort.

Nats Do All Scoring in Round Six.

For three innings the Nats couldn't make a hit off the crafty Castillian and for five they couldn't make a run. When they started the sixth they were trailing by one tally, which was the result of a pass, Chapman's single and Lary's double in the fourth, but they never trailed again.

When the Nats came out of the sixth session they had their three runs and that was enough for the day. Brown, himself, started the winning rally with a single, Gomez booted Myer's sacrifice and when Rice hit safely Brownie pattered across the platter with the tying tally.

West kept up the bombardment with a single and the bases were completely congested and one more run scored on Cronin's long fly to center. The third, last and winning counter came in as Harris was being tossed out at first.

The Yankees picked up one more run in the seventh when a beaten bunt and errors by Cronin and Myer contrived to get Lazzeri across the plate and Brown in a perilous predicament; but Lefty pitched himself out with success and retained a one-run margin when he voluntarily retired and was replaced by Marberry, who pitched the last two frames and guarded his inheritance of one run like a couple of the king's guards. He didn't allow a runner to reach first base.

Rice's Triple Is Wasted In Eighth.

The Nationals threatened in the eighth when, with one dead, Sam Rice crashed a triple to right center, but West fouled to Gehrig and Cronin then rolled to Sewell for the third out.

In addition to his triple Rice singled to share Washington batting honors of the game with Sam West, who also had two hits to his credit. Lazzeri was the only Yankee to hit safely more than once, while a lone single by Gehrig represented the only hit made by him and his side kick, Babe Ruth.

When Gomez gave way for a pinch hitter in the seventh it was the first time in twelve straight games that the Yankee starting pitcher failed to go the complete distance, and ten of them won their games.

Both teams had the pitching, but neither had the punch. The Nats made six singles and a triple, the Yanks four singles and a double.

Washington is safely tucked away in second place, at least until Saturday, as there will be no game here tomorrow and only a single game Friday. The Yankees will have to win all the rest of the series to knock the Nats from their perch.

Birmingham Victory Evens Houston Series

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 23 (U.P.).—The Birmingham Barons, champions of the Southern League, defeated the Houston Buffalos of the Texas League, 14 to 10, in the sixth game of the Dixie series here today, tying up the series at three games all. A seventh and deciding game must now be played at Houston.

Today's game was of the old fashioned "slugfest" type, which at times approximated a track and field meet, in sharp contrast to the five closely contested games which preceded it.

Birmingham collected 23 hits off five Houston pitchers, while the Buffalos found two Baron hurlers for 18 clouts. Birmingham recorded three home runs, Houston two.

TAMBOUR BEATS MATE, EASED UP, IN $20,000 GRAW STAKE

Burch's Filly Easy Victor In Upset

Mate 3d, Tred Avon Second in Potomac Handicap.

13-1 Shot Bounds Far Into Lead in Run Down Stretch.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.
Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Md., Sept. 23.—Mate's claim to the year's 3-year-old championship was exploded today before Vice President Charles Curtis and 15,000 spectators when he could finish no better than third behind Preston M. Burch's Tambour and S. W. Labrot's Tred Avon in the thirteenth annual renewal of the Potomac Handicap, a mile and one-sixteenth race.

Tambour, a 3-year-old daughter of Gen. Thatcher and Castenet raced the distance in 1:45 1-5, remarkable time considering that she was pulled almost to a walk in the final sixteenth. Her score enriched her Washington owner to the extent of $19,150. She paid $29.30 in the mutuels. Mate was 45 cents to a dollar.

Jockey Coltiletti Rides Perfect Race.

Jockey Frankie Coltiletti, who was astride Tambour, rode a perfect race. He kept Tambour in fourth place going around the first bend and out of harm's way. He was right along with Mate going down the back lane; and when the odds-on favorite set sail for Halcyon and Flagstone, the early pacemakers, Coltiletti let Tambour down, and she stunned the big crowd by running by her field and into the lead so easily that her opponents appeared tired.

Once on top, Coltiletti sent Tambour into a long lead. At the eighth pole he looked back and seeing her opponents well beaten eased her almost to a walk at the wire. This enabled Tred Avon and Mate to get closer than they would have been had Coltiletti elected to let Tambour do her best throughout the home stretch.

Overtime, Choice, Wins From Field of 11.

Eleven high-class 2-year-olds went to the post in the Port Deposit Purse, secondary feature in which Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Overtime was installed favorite over the field. Overtime won by a length from Senado, of the Barry Vail Stable. The Brandywine Stable's Pencader was third. Jambalaya was fourth. Senado led from the start to the sixteenth pole, when Overtime passed the High Cloud colt. Vishnu was second on the backstretch, with Jambalaya third, but Workman, on Overtime, made the strongest finish, and took the purse, going away. This made a double for Workman. Little time was spent at the barrier. The start was good, with Senado taking a lead of two lengths in a few jumps. Snider got him in close quarters on the rail when Overtime challenged. The time was 1:12 3-5. The winner paid $5.30.

Hirsch's Filly Wins Opening Number.

Max Hirsch scratched his wife's horse, Dunny Boy, and won the first race with his own, the filly, Blue Damsel, the favorite, with H. Callahan up. The Log Cabin Stable's Zosara was second, beaten two and a half lengths and My Desire third. Diggins was fourth.

Nola broke in front, but Broom Patch took the lead and set a fast pace to the turn into the stretch when Blue Damsel went to the front and drew away. Broom Patch dropped out of the money when Zosara challenged. My Desire closed a gap. The time was 1:14 for 6 furlongs. The winner was back down to odds-on, paying $3.60.

Tancred Wins Second Under Workman.

The Mapleton Stud's Tancred ran the fastest mile and 70 yards of the meeting to win the second race, with R. Workman up. The time was 1:43 2-5, and the son of American Flag—Bal Mask won by a length and a half. H. R. Roseacher's Negopoli, which had done a good deal of loafing in the early running, closed fast to get the place. Mine Sweeper was third.

Mine Sweeper set a fast pace, with Whipper Cracker and Tancred alternating in second position. The three were close together rounding into the stretch. This was the point chosen by Workman to go to the front, and he took the track and went on to score an easy victory. The winner was odds-on favorite, paying $3.50. It was a four-horse race, Raeburn and Flagstone having been scratched.

—Havre de Grace Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

HAVRE DE GRAS RACE TRACK, Md., Sept. 23.—The Severn Handicap, $2,000 added, features the program here tomorrow. Mrs. Katharine E. Hitt's SUNVIR, a seasoned horse, is suited to the distance of a mile and 70 yards, and evidently has been well placed. He has shown improvement during his New York racing recently having finished second to A LA CARTE and later third to IMPISH. Reasonably weighted with 113 pounds, he should account for this purse. BERBER, if at his best, can run this distance fast, and has only 100 pounds on his back. BLIND LANE has worked better, she has been running, and is probably being pointed for a stake. STORM and SIDNEY GRANT have not been running to best form.

FIRST RACE—The first race is for maiden fillies, 2-year-olds. RABBIT SKIN seems easily best, taking a line through the Gusto race when she was beaten a neck by that juvenile which was intended for the Futurity, but just failed to make the grade against the best of the stars. GALLETTE is fast and may be the contender. She is one of three coupled as the Jeffords entry, the others being GLORIA MARIS and HORATIA, the last two being on the eligible list. DINNER TIME, far down on this list with little chance to get in the race, would be dangerous to all if she did start. FAIR ADVOCATE is fast and will have backing. She should get in the money. There are ten on the eligible list, making twenty attempting to start.

SECOND RACE—GERARD is reported back in form, and is picked to win the second race, but must be at his best to beat BACCIOCIO. Both carry 120 pounds, top weight. GERARD is a cast-off of the G. D. Widener Stable, for the reason that he was inclined to be lame, but occasionally he flashes his old speed, and can beat this sort. BACCIOCCO has worked fast.

THIRD RACE—MASKED KNGHT is much the best in the third race, secondary feature, which is for 2-year-olds. He was third to Morfair at Belmont Park and fourth in the Futurity. ET CETERA should be the contender and is being prepped for the Eastern Shore. CLOTHO, one of the Whitney second flight juveniles, is best of the others.

FIFTH RACE — TEWSENELDA is ready for a fast trip in the mile and one-sixteenth of the fifth race, and is picked to win. FAIRDALE, which won from a large field at this meeting, should be the contender. He is fairly consistent. SWEET AIR is speedy and may account for the third money.

SIXTH RACE—VIMONT is best in the sixth race at the route. He is lightly weighted and ready to do his best. MANZANA is his greatest menace, and both have the advantage of apprentice allowances. RUANE should hold the others safe.

SEVENTH RACE—The seventh race is the same in conditions as the sixth, and a division of the sixth. TANTALIZING was virtually left at the post Tuesday, but ran a good race and should win this easily with a lucky start. BUB M'FARLAND has the call on the others, and EILONA is rated third in the large field.

BLUE DAMSEL, away in the first flight and going in good form, displaced BROOM PATCH when midway of the turn, drew into a safe lead and had speed in reserve at the end. ZOSARA, outrun early, improved her position steadily and finished with good speed. MY DESIRE, a forward factor throughout, held on well for the final drive. DIGGINS, shuffled back early, closed fast when clear. BROOM PATCH had good speed for five furlongs and tired. TRYABIT went evenly. GENERAL COURT quit.

TANCRED, rated along under mild restraint for the first six furlongs, wore MINE SWEEPER down gradually when shaken up and held NEGOPOLI safe under slight pressure during the final furlong. NEGOPOLI, well up in the first six furlongs, dropped back rounding the turn, but responded to punishment and closed fast approaching the finish. MINE SWEEPER, quickest to begin, set a steady pace, saved ground the entire trip and held on well when challenged.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300. The Port Deposit. For 2-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:25. Off at 3:25½. Winner, Mrs. John Hay Whitney's ch. c. JAMBALAYA, well placed early, weakened in the closing test.

CHESTNUT OAK, ridden hard from the start, was unable to menace the winner at any stage. ROBIN'S EGG finished courageously under stiff urging. RIP VAN WINKLE, a trailer for five furlongs, finished going in stout fashion. AVALON had good speed for four furlongs.

TRED AVON, rushed into contention going to the first turn, was given a breathing spell before reaching the far turn, responded to punishment and outstayed MATE in the final drive. Latter, steadied along for five furlongs, made a sharp bid nearing the home stretch, but hung under his impost in the closing test. FLAGSTONE showed a good test throughout. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ROYAL CHARGE, $10.20, $5.40, $3.60; OUR SIS, $11.40, $3.90; ABETH, $6.90.

ROYAL CHARGE kept in close pursuit of the leaders, was put through punishment when entering the home stretch, wore OUR SIS down and, strongly urged, was gradually drawing away. OUR SIS, rated along in front, continued with good energy when placed to a drive. ABETH moved to the leaders resolutely when leaving the back stretch. He finished gamely. WORKLESS lacked early speed.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

WYBRAND Lolkes was born at Jelft, in West Friesland, in 1790. His father, a fisherman, had eight children, Wybrand being the only one that was not normal. He was mostly all head, and had hardly any legs at all, yet he was extremely active and agile. His stage performances in England required him to stand on his head, jump on to chairs, &c.

Wybrand's wife, whom he wedded in Rotterdam, was tall and slender. She accompanied him on all his travels and when he led her on the stage to be introduced, she had to stoop over to hold his hand. Somewhat in contrast with his appearance, Lolkes was very vain and dignified in manner. He lived to pass his sixtieth year, and was father of three normal children.

Fritz Babel stayed in bed 60 years because he believed himself the victim of every known disease and a few others that he had discovered himself. This odd German, though not really sick, was so afraid of contracting a cold and dying that he remained in bed to keep from having to go to bed. He insisted that all windows be tightly closed, and when a friend one day threw open a window to let in air and sunshine, the old man was so frightened that he burst a blood vessel and died from a hemorrhage.

HYGRO SEEN CHOICE IN STAKE

Nevada Stock Farm's Juvenile in Speedy Workout at Havre.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Sept. 23.—The Nevada Stock Farm's Hygro, by Epinard—Ruddy Light, made himself the favorite for the $20,000 Eastern Shore Handicap for 2-year-olds by his sensational workout here this morning. Hygro whirled off 6 furlongs in 1:14 3-5. He is fast from the barrier.

J. F. Schorr's Etcetera and At Sunrise went 3 furlongs in 0:35 4-5, and Morfair, third in the Futurity, galloped 6 furlongs in 1:17 2-5. Anubis, Phantom Legion, Mad Frump and Inglenook also had fast workouts.

Sun Beau, holding world record for highest winnings, and early favorite for the $20,000 Havre de Grace Handicap, was sent an easy mile this morning in 1:43 2-5. Blind Lane went a half in 0:49.

Johnny Maiben, who won the Preakness in 1926 with W. J. Salmon's Display, has been engaged to ride for Willis Sharp Kilmer, owner of Sun Beau, of Binghamton, N. Y., and will divide the riding for the large Kilmer string with Charley Phillips, who has been riding in recent months for the stable. Maiben did little riding last year, but made a good record on the mounts he accepted. He has won most of the big stakes on the Maryland circuit.

All the boxes in the clubhouse were sold with the exception of two, so many will be left without boxes Saturday.

GOING STRONG and can't be stopped. Yesterday
MY WIRE WON AGAIN
But owing to late scratches which reduced the field to four horses my winner, TANCRED, only paid $3.50. My record for HAVRE DE GRACE now stands FOUR WINNERS out of six horses. TODAY I have a horse that will be a huge price, goes in the first race and will beat RABBIT SKIN, DINNER TIME, QUEENLY WAY and all the other favorites. It is a big field and I know this mud-running fool will pay close to a $40.00 MUTUEL. Goes on my $25.00 WIRE, which is sold today for only $2.00. My $1.00 REGULAR WIRE has a horse that looks real good. All conditions suit, a good boy will be in the pilot house with instructions to break on top and stay there. These two wires cost only $3.00 for both of them and you simply can't afford to miss them. I promise you that you will have no regrets. Sold only at

G. U. SHIFTS PRACTICE TO BALL PARK FOR LEBANON GAME

Mills to Use Patched Up Eleven

Four Backs to Idle Due to Injuries as Season Opens.

Visitors Respected by Hilltop; Squad Is Kept Indoors.

GRIFFITH STADIUM, stronghold of baseball for many months, will succumb this afternoon to the attack of winter's greatest sport, and modern education's chief source of revenue, when chubby Tom Mills, dean of Georgetown University's coaching staff, directs a massed play off tackle against the ball park's gates and admits the 1931 Hoya grid team, nearly 50 strong.

It will be a more than careful bunch of huskies who will unlimber themselves beginning at 3:45 o'clock, for Mills and his assistants will check any undue display of energy on the part of behelmeted undergraduates. Injuries, strewn about the field at Rehoboth Beach two weeks ago, still are in evidence. It will be a patched up team representing Georgetown Saturday, when Lebanon Valley combines with the local team to help open the local season.

Four Half Backs Injured.

Among the injured regulars are all four of Mills' right half backs, Mack Stanley, Louis Dee, Russ Danieu and Joe Alenty, suffering from ailments ranging from Danieu's injured hand to Alenty's strained abdomen.

Lebanon, looked upon by the paying customers as small change in the world of college football, is being feared most heartily at Georgetown this year. The full blast of the 1930 Hoya team could beat the Pennsylvanians only in the last quarter last year, and this year—Bozekless and Scalziless—and taking injuries into consideration, the Hilltoppers' customary sniff at a first opponent has altered to an apprehensive stare.

Freshmen Showing Form.

The brightest outlook at Georgetown is the manner in which some of last year's freshmen are making good their promise. Rowen and O'Rourke are being worked into a brace of ends who some day will play important roles in Georgetown's Notre Dame style of play. Leoni, last year's plebe quarter back, may see service as varsity signal caller before the season progresses far, it was intimated at the school yesterday, while Walacavage and Catalinas, guards, are also bidding strongly for regular berths.

Yesterday was given over totally to a chalk talk in the gymnasium, the afternoon's downpour rendering the dirt Georgetown field more than unplayable.

D. C. Playground Tennis Playoff Starts Today

Postponed yesterday by rain, the opening round of the District Playground Tennis League playoff will be held today on the courts at Chevy Chase Playground, bringing together Burroughs and Georgetown, junior champions of Sections B and C, respectively. Tomorrow Rosedale and Chevy Chase, winners of the remaining two sections, will battle. The winning teams will clash Saturday, also at Chevy Chase, for the junior championship.

Play in the senior division will not start until Monday. Burroughs, Chevy Chase and Montrose have won their sections, but Garfield and Rosedale are involved in a tie for the championship of Section A. The two will meet Saturday on a neutral set of courts.

Matches will comprise four singles and one doubles.

Dynamite League Opens With 14 Teams Rolling

The Dynamite Bowling League, one of the fastest growing pin loops in Washington, swung into action last night at Lucky Strike with all 14 teams in action in seven scheduled matches.

Tobacco Scraps took all three games from Come Backs; Also Rans barely nosed out the Blow Hards, 2-1; Lab Kats took three from Dri Kleeners; Sand Blowers did the same to Alibi Artists; Wrecking Crew wrecked Wild Birds, 3-0; Little Potatoes sank the Swiss Navy, 2-1, and the Hill Billies took two from the Pin Busters.

Beyer, of Lab Katz, rolled 144 to take individual high game honors, but yielded the spotlight to Steers, who bowled 143-99-93—335 in his first competitive match.

Every Member of Squad Fit and Ready.

Coach Bergman's nominees for the trip were Fratz, Tom Nally, Monaco, Ambrose, Jim Lyons, Gross, Howe, Oliver, Whelan, De Mello, Sheary, Donaher, White, Conter, Guarnieri, Charley McVean, Jankowski, Pyne, Bertoni, Billinger, Callender, Flynn, Duscha, Halleron, Stapleton, Baumgardner, Stafford, Bob McVean, John Nally, Preston, Baraldi, Moffett, and John Lyons.

In marked contrast to Catholic University squads of the last few campaigns, the 1931 representative will take the field in fine physical fettle. Every man designated has reached his peak and will be ready to go if called upon.

Word from Boston yesterday intimated that the Cardinals will not lack moral support when they take the field Saturday. A splendid alumni representation not only is banding together for the game but also will be host to the football team at a University Club dinner to be tendered Saturday night.

Howe Earns Starting Berth At Right End.

One change in the starting line-up originally announced by Coach Bergman was effected yesterday when Ray Howe, enterprising sophomore, dislodged Johnny Lyons at right end.

In making this shift Bergman said:

"I couldn't very well overlook Howe in view of recent performances—particularly those of the last few days. I had about decided to use Lyons because of his experience, but after thinking it over I am convinced Howe's offensive and defensive qualities and unusual spirit well merit the call."

When rain halted outdoor work yesterday, the Cardinals rehearsed signals in their gymnasium. A drill in fundamentals this afternoon and a light workout at Fenway Park tomorrow winds up their preparatory work.

Public Parks Net Group Holds Meeting Tonight

A meeting of the Washington Public Parks Tennis Association will be held tonight at the Tennis Shop, 1019 Fifteenth street, with a view to finding ways and means of running off the remaining matches of the Inter-Park League.

Potomac, Henry and Montrose are still in the running for the championship. The playing of postponed matches will decide the title holder. The city series, made up of the winning teams of five tennis leagues in Washington, will be played on Saturday and Sunday, October 3 and 4, at Wardman.

MARIONS SEEK SCRIMMAGE.

The Marion eleven wants to scrimmage with any 150-pound or unlimited team. Call Paul Borgling at Lincoln 3753. Candidates will be measured for uniforms at a meeting at the clubhouse tonight.

BROOKLAND SCRIMMAGES.

The Brookland A. C. will scrimmage tonight for the first time at Twelfth and Monroe streets at 7 o'clock. Players will report in uniform. Sunday they will drill against the Petworths on the Sixteenth street reservoir field.

10 Unlimited Elevens In Capital City Race

The race for the Capital City League's unlimited football championship this season promises to set a new record for thrills. Ten teams entered the competition last night at the meeting held at French's Sports Shop. The teams are: Mercury, Wolverines, Fratters, Del Ray, Brookland, Seaman Gunners, Dixie Pigs, Northern A. C., Marions and St. Stephen's.

The league will open play on October 11.

SHARKEY ASKS DELAY ON BOUT WITH PRIMO

Sharkey, the rumors have it, refused to be a party to the "fix" but regarded it as unhealthy to openly cross the Carnera board of control and thus is pleading the injury as an "out."

Reports that Carnera was "scheduled" to win have been prevalent since the bout was first announced. According to one rumor Sharkey was to "throw" the bout under an agreement whereby his protege, Ernie Schaaf, in whom Sharkey holds a large financial interest, would meet Carnera next summer in a "leveling" bout. The purveyors of this rumor refuse to accept Sharkey's attempted withdrawal as proof of his honesty but offer the theory that Carnera's backers either attempted to back out of the latter bout with Schaaf or refuse to provide satisfactory financial proof of sincerity.

Then, too, there are the rabid Carnera supporters who insist that Sharkey is afraid of the giant Italian and is attempting a "run out." They refuse to be swayed in their belief by the facts, which show that Sharkey had courage enough to meet Harry Wills when every other fighter in the business, Jack Dempsey included, was giving the "black panther" a wide berth, that he was brave enough to carry the fight to Jack Dempsey and never has shown any cowardice in the ring.

Fear Theory Is Illogical.

Of course, Carnera's size may inspire the fear that Sharkey has failed to show previously, but it does not seem logical that the ever cocky Bostonian should suddenly develop fear of a fighter who was unable to crack Jimmy Maloney's brittle jaw in twenty rounds.

The theory that Sharkey really is suffering from an injury will be tested tomorrow when Sharkey is examined by the commission's committee of doctors.

Leon See, diminutive manager of Primo Carnera, described Jack Sharkey's "maneuver" as "an evasion and a deliberate attempt to sidestep the issue which Sharkey will face when he meets Carnera."

"If Sharkey finally finds enough courage to meet Carnera I will sign articles which will call for a return bout," he said. "I don't want Carnera's victory marred by an advance alibi."

DUSEK FACES ROEBUCK TONIGHT

Clash Features Mat Card; Pojello, Wilson in Bouts.

THE boys of the growl and grimace guild will present their little torso tableau once more tonight at Griffith Stadium beginning at 8:30 o'clock in a wrestling ring pitched over the home plate. Heading the list of five exhibitions will be the match in which Rudy Dusek, the city's favorite rassiemonger, meets up with Big Tiny Roebuck, 246-pound Haskell Indian.

Dusek has not manipulated his muscles before the local fans since the middle of July, when he was beaten for the third consecutive time by Jim Londos. He has been operating throughout the Eastern section of the country since then, and has been beaten but once. That Rudy is still popular in Washington is evidenced from the brisk sale of seats to date.

Pojello Matched With Turk.

Dusek has met Roebuck several times recently in Philadelphia in matches which have set new highs for gore in the wrestling ring, and tonight's spectacle probably will be in line with their recent shows.

Carl Pojello, best of the light-heavyweights, will take on one, Abad Kasah, one of the Turks Jack Curley brought back with him chained in the hold of a liner last week. This match was not known until late yesterday, when Matchmaker Turner's staff learned the correct spelling of the newcomer's name.

Other matches tonight bring together Pat O'Shocker and Michael Aloysius Romano, Paul Jones and George Zaharias, Doc Wilson and tough Jean Ledoux. Ladies will be admitted free with escorts, except to the ringside seats.

Northern A. C. Eleven Battles Celtics Sunday

With a scrimmage game carded for Sunday against Del Ray, the Northern A. C. will hold a practice tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Seventeenth and B streets. The Del Ray game will be in the nature of a warming up for the game October 4 against the St. Mary's Celtics at Baggett's Stadium in Alexandria.

The crack Celtic outfit, which last year trimmed the Apaches, beat Northern by 7-6 and lost to them 13-0 in 1929. The Red Birds take on the Richmond Arrows the following Sunday in Richmond.

The Northerns will play in The Post's Capital City League. They are coached by Izzy April.

MERCS WANT SCRIMMAGE.

The Mercury 125-pound grid team would like to arrange a scrimmage game for next Sunday. Call Metropolitan 0080. The Mercs will practice tonight at 7 o'clock.

Tilden-Richards Match Pits Volleyer and Driver

THAT oft-asked question in tennis, "Can a good volleyer beat a good backcourt driver?" will be up for consideration once more next Sunday afternoon when Bill Tilden and Vincent Richards meet here in a professional tennis match on the courts at Wardman Park Hotel.

So far, in the meetings between Tilden and the former boy prodigy, the driver seems to have had the edge by an almost comfortable margin. Comfortable margins, however, were not to be reckoned with in Tilden, who between the period of 1920 and 1926 never was beaten excepting thrice by Richards. He has beaten Richards ten times, the last time for the world's professional championship at Forest Hills in July.

There has long been sharp controversy in tennis over the question of the relative merits of driver and volleyer. The textbooks themselves are at variance, about half maintaining that a perfect driver would pass a volleyer at the net every time, and the rest arguing that the game of the perfect driver would be completely confounded by the sharply angled volleys of the perfect volleyer.

It will be a galaxy of stars here Sunday. Besides Richards and Tilden, the others are Emmett Pare, former Hilltop tennis captain; Albert Burke, coach of the French Davis Cup team the year it won the Davis Cup, 1926; Bruce Barnes, recently turned professional, and Bobby Seller, Pacific Coast player.

a par. Mrs. Pressler rallied gamely, however, to finish 5—4, win the last two holes and square the match again. After dividing honors on the first two extra holes, Mrs. Pressler rolled in a long putt on the twenty-first green, to win.

By virtue of their victories, the two extra-hole winners, Mrs. Pressler and Miss Hicks, will clash in one of tomorrow's third round matches.

Playing several strokes better than in her opening match, Mrs. Vare collected herself after finishing the first seven holes one down to Mrs. Eddis, and continued her steady play to win on the fifteenth green. The defending champion's opponent tomorrow will be Mrs. Federman, who after being one down at alf way, rallied, to turn back Mrs. Corson, former Canadian champion.

Miss Orcutt and Miss Wie, both of whom registered 5 and 4 victories, will meet in another quarter-final, while England's two representatives, Miss Wilson and Miss Kerr, will clash in another.

SECOND ROUND.

APACHES DRILL TONIGHT.

High School Elevens Ready For First Tests of Season

Tech, Central, Eastern Face First Opposition on Foreign Gridirons Tomorrow; Hardell Has 3 Sets of Backs.

DOGGED since the opening of the training season by oppressive heat, a new element routed high school gridmen off their gridirons yesterday when torrential downpours kept every local team under cover.

For Central it was an untimely rain. The big, unwieldly squad, with a new coach and new ideas to work upon, was to have seen its first real scrimmaging against St. John's. Today necessarily will be given over to football classroom work and tomorrow night Baltimore City College Freshmen are met in Baltimore.

Coggins to Take 33 Players.

Coach Coggins will take a squad of 33 with him tomorrow afternoon and plans to use two complete teams during the tussle. His opening lineup will see Buscher and Heflin on ends, Fitzwater, center, and Cumberland, quarter back. Koscis probably will rate a berth either at tackle or guard, but the rest of the line-up remains unchosen. Garrett, one of the 1930 regulars, is out with a cut lip.

Tech will use three back fields against Baltimore Poly, in Baltimore tomorrow afternoon, and Winchester, at Winchester, Saturday. Besides the first-string combination of Edwards, Sachs, Gormley and Oehman, there will be a second quartet of Brinkman, Moore, Weisman and Hatos, and a third composed of Foley, Purdy, Alley and Vito.

Coach Hap Hardell looks upon Foley as the best high school kicking prospect in ten years. Already as good as Dick Nelson was last year, Hardell maintains that Foley, given proper training, will develop to great booting heights.

Kelley Sees Victory For Episcopal.

Grid League Names Board; Apaches-Irvingtons Open

THE Southeastern football league in which the Apaches, District champions, will defend their title against the Mohawks, Celtics and Irvingtons, virtually completed plans for the coming season at a meeting held last night.

Eligibility rules were adopted which limits each club to 25 players and prohibits the adding of players after November 1. The teams also voted not to use any player who competes in collegiate circles this season.

A board of arbitration to pass on the eligibility of players and settle protests was named and is composed of the following sports writers: Jack Tullock, Alexandria Gazette; George Simpson, Washington Times; Andy Kirkpatrick, Baltimore News and American; Walter Haight, Washington Post, secretary of the league.

Rob Roy Mackey was previously elected president with a representative of each club serving as a member of the board fo directors.

With the exception of some of Irvington's games, which will be played in Baltimore, the league will operate at Griffith Stadium. The Apaches and Irvingtons will open the season here on October 11.

Women Clash Today In Congressional Final

Mrs. R. Lester Rose and Mrs. J. F. Dowdall will meet today for the women's championship of Congressional Country Club. Mrs. Rose gained the final round yesterday by beating Mrs. L. S. Chapman, 4 and 2, while Mrs. Dowdall was winning over Mrs. Ralph Payne, 5 and 4.

In the second flight the finalists are Mrs. E. R. Pilley and Mrs. Frank Yates. The former won from Mrs. J. F. Awalt, 4 and 3, and Mrs. Yates defeated Mrs. Henry J. Richardson 1 up.

U. S. G. A. Fixes Sites Of All 1932 Tourneys

Buffalo Country Club, Williamsville, N. Y., Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Prescott S. Bush, secretary of the United States Golf Association, today announced that the women's committee of the U. S. G. A. has recommended to the executive committee that the 1932 women's championship be held at the Salem Country Club, Salem, Mass. This completes the list of championship venues for the 1932 season. All dates will be announced later.

The list follows:

Open—Fresh Meadow Country Club, Flushing, Long Island; amateur—Baltimore Country Club, Baltimore, Md.; women's—Salem Country Club, Salem, Mass.; public links, Louisville, Ky.

Speed Cup Presented To Reiss by Hoover

(Associated Press.)

The golden trophy emblematic of victory in the President's Cup boat race was presented yesterday to George Reiss, of Lake George, N. Y.

President Hoover handed him the cup, already engraved with the names of four other winners, in a brief ceremony on the lawn back of the White House.

Reiss won both heats of the race with his speedy El Largarto. The third heat was called off after the death of William Freitag, of Philadelphia, who was piloting John Shibe's Miss Philadelphia when it overturned.

The President also presented a tall silver trophy to Richard Loynes, of Long Beach, Calif., whose Miss California captured second place.

Depression in Europe Dims Olympic Outlook

Stockholm, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—An opinion that the 1932 Olympic games at Lake Placid and Los Angeles should be postponed because of the financial depression has been expressed in Swedish sporting circles.

Although no official action has been taken it is the opinion here that such a move would meet with almost unanimous support of European nations, where the depression is most keenly felt.

The cost of Swedish participation in the winter and summer games has been estimated at around $200,000.

Several European nations, notably France and Germany, have experienced difficulty in raising the money for the expenses of their representatives at the Olympic games.

UPSETS ON COAST.

Los Angeles, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Keith Gledhill, Santa Barbara, eliminated Sidney Wood, Wimbledon champion, by scores of 6—3, 6—3, and Lester Stoefen, Los Angeles, triumphed over Wilmer Allison, Austin, Tex., 6—2, 7—5, in a pair of upsets in the Pacific Southwest tennis tournament here today.

G. W. FORCED TO DRILL INDOORS

Rain Prevents Regular Session, Forcing Squad to Gym.

YESTERDAY'S rain, however welcome as relief from the heat, put a serious crimp in the football practice schedule of George Washington. Instead of putting his men through a scrimmage, as planned, Coach Pixlee had to herd his squad together in the school gym and put them through calisthenics, signal practice and skull practice.

It now appears that there will be four members of the Colonial team kept out of the opener with Shenandoah College Saturday afternoon. Besides Johnny Fenlon and Lee Carlin, injured veteran backs, Bob Galloway, who was counted upon to start at left end, and Johnny Lannan, a reserve guard, will be kept on the sidelines. Galloway has an injured back that is failing to mend properly, while Lannan has a broken nose.

It is likely that several new faces will be seen in the G. W. lineup when the team takes the field Saturday. With some of the youngsters pushing the veteran letter men hard, Coach Pixlee may decide on starting three or four of them, but using the vets for the most part.

Today's practice will be the last hard one, providing the Tidal Basin gridiron is in good condition. The men who will start Saturday will be determined after this drill.

Santa Paula Beaten In Waterbury Tourney

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—After numerous postponements, the first round of the Monty Waterbury Memorial Cup polo tournament, the outstanding high-goal handicap event of the year, was completed in one busy afternoon today as four teams swept into Saturday's semifinals and the newly-crowned open champions and runners-up for the title were left on the sidelines.

Santa Paula was defeated by the Whippany four, 10—7. Both teams were made up in the main of Argentine players. In other games, Templeton routed Roslyn, 12—6; Hurlingham defeated Sands Point, 15—10, and Greentree upset the Hurricanes, 16—4.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

Second Choice.

DEAR Frances McDonald: Married one year, and I suppose I should be happy with a husband who is kind, considerate, generous and devoted to me—but I am not in love with him and know now that I was really not in love with him when I married. I married him because of his love for me, because of his fine qualities, and also because I knew I could not have the one I really loved.

My real love is my first love. This "chap" lived in another town, and a quarrel ended our romance, which was really a beautiful thing for several years. This was never patched up, although I have just learned that during all these years (five years) we were both hoping that something would bring us together again—but neither knew that the other still cared. Upon visiting his town recently, I met him, quite by accident—and the truth soon came out—and now that we know, it is too late. He, too, is married, but not to the "right one," he claims. Since seeing him he has written me, at my business address. His letter was most pathetic, blaming himself for the very difficult position we find ourselves in—a letter straight from the heart telling me of his misery. Please do not get the wrong impression of me and believe me to be a person who could love "any man." I am still in my twenties and have always done the "right" thing.

I am so in love, but realize that nothing can be done to remedy this sad situation, but I just had to tell some one. Anything you care to say to me, through your column, will be appreciated. MARGE.

So the anemic hero who in five years' time failed to muster enough manhood to adjust a slight difficulty, and who in the meanwhile has been busy demonstrating to another woman how lacking he is in what it takes to make a man, now steps into the spotlight with a flourishing bow and proceeds to do a bit of crooning about his broken heart and blasted hopes! And shiver my timbers, gal, if you are not right on the job weeping down the megaphone.

He is not married to the right woman. Wotta shame. He picked her, did he not? And while you were sitting mooning in the moonlight waiting for him to do what any he man would have done—come back and settle things. He was a lily-livered lover and he has made a lily-livered husband and if he were not a sneaking weakling he would never have sent you that letter—and you know it.

You may be in love with what you thought your first love was, but let me tell you from the depths of a full and varied experience, that now after having known the love and the ways of a real husband who is into the bargain a real man, you could not stand this imitation for 30 days even if he were yours for the taking. He failed you, and he has failed the woman who succeeded you in his so-called affections, and he would fail anyone and everyone who hoped for anything more at his hands than aniveling emotionalism. A sparrow does not become an eagle by changing his nest. So do not try to make an eagle out of a sparrow, or a strong suffering hero out of a weak wash-out having hysterics. Burn the letter and be glad that you are not the wife behind whose back he writes his love notes. Real men are rare. Be thankful that you found one and were saved from believing all your life that this whining example was what folks meant when they spoke of a man. So, cheer up!

Young British Princess Gives First Patronage

London (U.P.).—Princess Margaret Rose, younger daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, has given her first patronage. It is characteristically British, too, since it is a new tea set.

Last month the little princess celebrated her first birthday at Glamis Castle, where she was born.

Duchess and Children In Scotland for Hunt

Kielder Castle, Scotland (U.P.).—The Dowager Duchess of Northumberland and her children, including the duke, are spending several months here.

The duke will make use of the Percy family's shooting lodge on the moors of the North Tyne.

The "Girdle Stone," the large, solitary fragment of rock that stands half in England and half in Scotland, rises but a short distance behind the castle.

Frog Legs Pay $400 Per Day.

Wauchula, Fla. (U.P.).—The frog leg industry is paying $400 a day hereabouts, dealers estimate. In one week 28 barrels of frog legs were shipped, the hunters receiving 10 cents a pound. One hunter brought in 168 pounds, the result of one night's catch.

STOCK PRICES CLIMB IN MARKET REVIVAL

Rails Lead Rally With Gains as Average Rise Tops 5 Points at Close.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The bug of optimism finally nibbled at the security markets today, and they jumped with startling swiftness.

Wage cuts already announced and reports of others likely to follow suggested to Wall street that perhaps such steps, however unfortunate they may be for those immediately affected, were nevertheless necessary to completion of deflation.

Remembering that such steps had coincided with the turn in the bear market of 1920-21, traders quickly climbed aboard the buying side of the market band wagon, giving stocks their best rally since June 20.

The exchange authorities' removal of Monday's order against short selling, did much toward bolstering confidence. London's more cheerful attitude, reflected in the calmness that attended the reopening of her own market, were other important factors. Of outstanding interest was the strength in bonds which, assured of banking support, sprinted upward spectacularly.

Rails Take Cream.

Railroad shares got the cream of the rally, rising 2 to 15 points net and closing at the top. Industrials and utilities were a little behind this fast pace, up roughly 2 to 6 at the finish. The average advance was 5.7 points and the turnover 2,906,595 shares.

Feature rails included Norfolk & Western, up 15; Union Pacific, 14⅝; Atchison, 10¼; Delaware & Hudson, 12; New York Central, New Haven and Southern Pacific about 8; Reading, Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio, 4 to 5⅝. Utilities got stanch leadership from American Telephone, which soared 7¼, closing 5¾ higher.

U. S. Steel at one time was more than 4 points to the good and held 3¼ of the rally. Woolworth was particularly strong, up 6; there was a similar gain for Allied Chemical. General Electric, National Biscuit, Case, American Can, Radio, Bethlehem and Westinghouse ranged 2 to 4 above the previous close.

Sterling Is Steadier.

Sterling exchange had its steadiest day since the suspension of the gold standard, fluctuating between $4.09 to $4.15 for cable transfers. The last quotation posted was $4.11, or a net loss of 8 cents compared with a 23 cent drop on Tuesday.

There were some rather sharp swings in continental rates, due probably to uncertainty as to whether further lapses from gold were on the way.

Wage reductions, of course, are an unfavorable commentary on business conditions and the prospects for a return to profitable operations. But it is pointed out that other costs are usually reduced first and have already been well deflated, so this final step puts industry on a potentially favorable footing. Gossip about railroad wages ran through Wall street, finding public expression in the trade review Iron Age.

Steel Precedent Claimed.

This publication said the steel producers had set a precedent "which, it is now believed, the railroads must follow, whether they obtain partial rate advances or not."

Steel operations are not quite up to last week's level, although structural material demand is holding well; indeed, it is the industry's chief prop. Smaller automobile production for this month and next is being forecast and the inquiry for rails is not expected to offer much business until, in the words of Iron Age, the freight rate and wage questions are settled.

Commodities had a share in the strength of securities. Cotton closed $1.20 to $1.30 a bale higher, while the advances in wheat and corn were from a fraction to a cent a bushel. Bar silver advanced ⅛ of a cent per ounce.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Led by stocks and cotton, the grain markets joined the general procession today toward higher prices. Previous selling of grains became uneasy, and there was plenty of buying from other sources, more than enough to take the slack out of all the cereals. Widespread sentiment prevailed that bear factors in the grain trade had been overemphasized for at least the present.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅜ to 1⅛ cents up, corn unchanged to ¾ advance, oats unchanged to ⅜ higher, and provisions varying from 10 cents setback to a rise of 12 cents.

Briskly keeping step with Wall street securities, wheat reached its highest levels in the late dealings. Offerings of wheat were light until prices showed a rise of more than a cent a bushel. Then profit-taking sales increased, and gains were checked. The broadened activity and strength displayed by wheat was in the face of the fact that export business was modest, a circumstance regarded as natural owing to disturbance of foreign exchange rates.

Seeding difficulties in the western part of the United States winter wheat belt, a result of absence of rain, especially in western Kansas, tended to promote wheat price upturns. Notice was also taken of comment from a trade authority that, regardless of the world's unsettled financial situation, there was no cheaper food than wheat, and that European root crops were poor, a condition which should develop a greater demand for wheat. He added that low prices had increased both human and animal use of wheat, as well as brought about wastage and lessened production.

Notwithstanding that temporarily corn touched a new bottom price record for the season, coarse grains gathered strength with wheat. The transient downturn of corn was due to further big deliveries on Chicago September contracts, 1,618,000 bushels today in addition to 2,021,000 bushels yesterday. Oats sympathized with wheat.

Provisions reflected weakness of hog values. Cash lard prices were the lowest since 1905.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—Trading in cotton showed increased activity with prices advancing approximately $1.80 per bale on continued covering and Liverpool buying promoted by firmer markets abroad and the better tone of the stock market.

December contracts sold up to 6.73 or 35 points net higher and after reacting to 6.59 under realizing and Southern selling, stiffened up again, closing at 6.62 compared with 6.38 at the close of Tuesday. The final tone of the market was steady at net advances of 24 to 26 points.

The opening was very steady at an advance of 18 to 22 point in response to the higher market abroad, which evidently brought in considerable covering and Wall street buying. There was some buying for Liverpool account also.

Offerings increased slightly after the publication of the weekly weather report which was considered favorable, but were absorbed on moderate reactions. Prices worked up to 6.50 for October and 7.03 for March during the middle of the day or 34 to 36 points net higher and 45 to 55 points above the low levels of last Monday. Realizing then became a little more active and prices reacted 14 or 20 points but this was partially recovered in the late trading.

The report of the Census Bureau showing 2,091,513 bales ginned prior to September 16 compared with 2,736,120 bales to the same date last year was without apparent effect on the market. Liverpool attributed its advance to heavy general buying, covering and trade calling on the firmness in Bombay and Alexandria. Egyptian cotton futures in Alexandria closed 60 to 96 points higher and there was an advance of 30 points in the Liverpool spot quotation for East Indian cotton. Exports today 6,725, making 349,006 so far this season. Port receipts, 26,668. United States stocks, 3,015,644.

Curb Review

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The rally in curb stocks was rather slow in getting started today, but when it did get under way it brought a broad assortment of gains. Sales approximated 600,000 shares.

Advances of 1 to 4 points were fairly numerous, distributed among the major groups. Oils displayed considerable strength, although utility leaders took a prominent part in the rally. The ban against short selling, announced on Monday, was removed soon after similar action was taken by the stock exchange. This may have contributed to the moderate irregularity of the earlier dealings, but the trend during the afternoon was decidedly upward.

Electric Bond & Share pushed to 22¾, closing at 23½, up 3½. Brazilian Traction, American Superpower, United Light A, Tampa Electric and Eastern States B were up at least a point. American Gas rallied more extensively.

Gulf and Humble oils closed 4½ and 4⅞ higher, respectively. Several pipe line issues traded at considerably better levels, while among more active group members Standards of Indiana and Kentucky rose a point net.

Improvement of 1 to 3 in the specialties embraced Deere, Newmont Mining, Columbia Pictures, Insurance of North America, Swift International, Woolworth Ltd. and Ford of Canada A. A. O. Smith soared 11 and Singer, Glen Alden and Great Atlantic & Pacific 4 each.

Investment trusts were helped moderately by the strong tone of the security market. Insull, Mayflower and Burco preferred were especially firm. United Founders duplicated its old low before making a small net gain.

BOND PRICES HIGHER IN HEAVIER TRADING

Exchange Sells $17,077,000 Largest Turnover in Year; Foreigns Gain.

New York, Sept. 23 (A.P.).—The bond market advanced in spectacular fashion today. Sales on the stock exchange aggregated $17,077,000, the largest total for a full session since October 10, 1930, when the turnover amounted to $19,660,000. The average price for 60 representative issues composed of equal numbers of rail, public utility and industrial obligations was 86.9, a net gain of 1.7 points, the largest advance in one day this year.

The gain for the average price of twenty rail issues was 3.2 points. Notwithstanding these significant facts the upturn in foreign obligations was even more marked than in the domestic issues. Net advances in German loans generally ranged from 5 to 9 points.

Silesia Electric 6½s made the largest jump of its group with a net gain of 13¾ points. A number of Argentine bonds closed about 7 points higher although the 5s of 1945 and the 5½s of 1962 dropped severely. United Kingdom 5½s touched par for the first time since the toboggan of last Saturday. These advances are typical rather than exceptional.

In spite of the fact that the trading was heavy the sharp gains scored by many bonds on a few sales indicated that the supply of them was limited at the prices quoted. The advance was particularly impressive because it was so inclusive. Gilt edge, high grade, second grade and speculative issues, speaking generally, closed substantially higher.

Net gains of 1 to 9½ points were scored by such active and diversified issues as Alleghany 5s of 1950, American & Foreign Power 5s, American Telephone 5s of 1965, Baltimore & Ohio 4½s of 1933, Brooklyn Manhattan Transit 6s, Rock Island 4s of 1934, Atchison General 4s, St. Paul 5s of 2000 and of 1975, Consolidated Gas of New York 4½s, New York Central new 4½s of 2013 and Philadelphia Electric 4s of 1971.

Liberty and United States Treasury loans eased off.

BARRETT FINISHES GRAVES INQUISITION IN WIMBLEY CASE

Detective Is Returning After Interview With Prisoner's Third Wife.

GATHERING OF EVIDENCE IS NEARLY COMPLETE

Funeral of Victims of Alleged Drowning Plot Is Held at Virginia Home.

Detective Sergt. Robert Barrett will leave Cassville, Mo., today to return to Washington after questioning Mrs. Ida May Graves, third wife of Harry C. Wimbley, who is accused with John M. Crowder of having carried out a plot to drown his second wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Wimbley, and her 3-year-old daughter, Wilma.

After a long-distance telephone conversation with Barrett last night, Capt. Edward Kelly, of the Detective Bureau, said he was unable yet to determine the results of Barrett's investigation, but that he expected a full report from the detective by telegraph today.

Ready for Jury.

Inspector Frank S. W. Burke, chief of the Detective Bureau, said last night that beyond whatever Detective Barrett may have been able to gather and a few "loose ends," preparations for presentation of evidence against Wimbley and Crowder to the grand jury were "about complete." Whether the pair will face the present grand jury or its successor next month has not been determined, it was said yesterday by Assistant District Attorney John J. Sirica.

Praise of the manner in which Detective Sergt. James F. Springmann, head of the homicide squad, and his coworkers handled the investigation of the drowning of the woman and child was voiced yesterday by Capt. Kelly.

Funeral Is Held.

"The men worked day and night unceasingly," he said, "and left no stone unturned in their investigation. They are to be highly commended."

Besides Detective Springmann, others working on the case were Detective Sergts. Floyd Truscott, Robert Barrett, Dennis J. Murphy and George Darnall.

Funeral services for the two alleged plot victims were held yesterday by the relatives of the drowned woman near her home at Dendron, Va., and interment was in the family burying ground nearby.

Two Girls Slightly Hurt When Struck by Truck

Two children, returning from school together, arm in arm, escaped with minor injuries yesterday when they were kocked down by a truck at South Dakota avenue and Vista street northeast. The victims were Evelyn Davis, 6, of 2502 Twenty-eighth street northeast, and Audrey Garner, 7, of 2833 Franklin street northeast.

John Jones, colored, of 92 N street southeast, was operating the truck which struck the girls, Twelfth Precinct police reported. A passing motorist took them to their homes, where they were treated by family physicians.

Central High Teacher Reports Theft of Ring

Miss Helen N. Gray, a teacher at Central High School, reported to police yesterday that while she was working in a classroom on the third floor of the school after classes, her handbag containing a diamond ring and other belongings was stolen.

The value was $106, Miss Gary said.

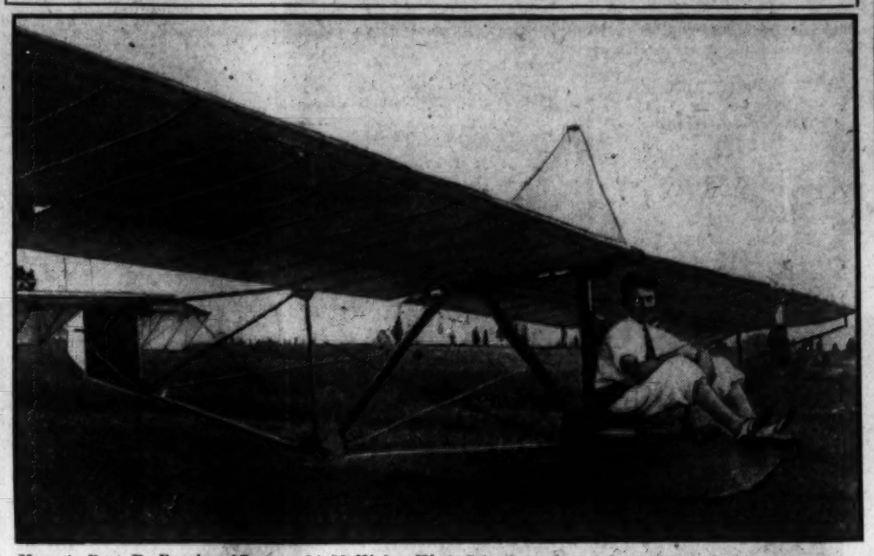
HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT REBUILDS GLIDER



Here is Bert B. Brooks, 17-year-old McKinley High School student, whose determination to build a glider was not deterred by two crack-ups in test flights. He is shown with his rebuilt ship, which cost him but $90 to construct. Bert is soon going to attempt to take the air again in his craft and many prominent glider enthusiasts here have expressed their interest in his activity.

MANHOLE BLOWOUT MAKES PARK DARK

Colored Flames Only Light in Northeast Section for Hour After Blast.

The neighborhood of Stanton Park northeast was plunged into darkness last night when a manhole at Fifth and C streets northeast exploded and a transformer of the Potomac Electric Power Co. burned out. Four distinct eruptions of flame from the manhole were counted.

Park Policeman M. H. Raspberry, detailed to Stanton Park, and Policeman C. M. Hughes, of the Ninth Police Precinct, were first to reach the scene. While Hughes stood by to hold back curious onlookers who soon gathered in large numbers, Raspberry ran to the patrol box to sound an alarm. An unidentified boy also turned in a fire alarm.

The manhole was blown nearly 30 feet into the air, a spurt of red flame showing from the mouth of the manhole. Then a blue flame erupted. While the policemen were standing by two more suprts of flame were emitted from the manhole. The emergency crew of the electric company arrived shortly after and cut out the line on which the transformer was burning.

Traffic lights on Maryland avenue and Massachusetts avenue within a radius of several blocks were put out of commission and lights in homes and business places nearby were extinguished for more than an hour while workmen repaired the break. A crowd of nearly 1,000 persons gathered to watch the proceedings, kept back by police of the Ninth Precinct.

Passersby and motorists in the vicinity of Sixteenth and C streets southeast were treated to an accidental pyrotechnic display late yesterday when an electric light pole near the corner burst into flame from a short circuit. A fire company soon extinguished the blaze.

Another electric pole, located at Twelfth and F streets northwest, was put out of commission under the same circumstances.

Various Traffic Charges Net 60 Days and $9 Fine

A total of 60 days in jail and fines of $9 were imposed on Charles H. Whalley in Police Court yesterday when found guilty of all the charges. The jail sentence resulted from a charge of driving while intoxicated, and the fines from disorderly conduct, failure to exhibit a permit and failure to change the address on his permit.

Whalley, police claimed, passed a traffic light at New York avenue and North Capitol street and when a police whistle failed to stop him, a chase started. After hitting four parked cars, Whalley was forced to stop on M street, near First street.

Novena to St. Teresa Starts Here Tomorrow

Preparing for the celebration on October 3 of the annual feast day of St. Teresa, known throughout the Catholic world as "The Little Flower," the friars of the order of Discalced Carmelites will begin tomorrow public novena exercises in their monastery at 150 Rhode Island avenue northeast.

Services will be conducted each evening of the novena at 8 o'clock. A special novena of masses in honor of Teresa will begin tomorrow morning in the monastery chapel. The Sacred Congregation of Rites in Rome has composed a "Mass of the Little Flower," which the Carmelite Fathers will celebrate during the novena.

Burglar Scared, Leaves Flashlight.

Washington Held Model For Students

Speaking to the freshmen of George Washington University at the first assembly of the year, Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president, yesterday advised the new students to take the first President, patron of the school, as their model.

"George Washington lived a simple, direct life, but everything he did was done in a finished, fine, distinguished manner, whether that was running a survey line in Ohio, or maintaining morale at Valley Forge, or accepting the surrender at Yorktown, or presiding over the constitutional convention," President Marvin said.

The speaker also advised the students to cultivate their imagination, so that they should be able to see the widest significance of their routine tasks.

Opening the session of the school of medicine, Dr. Marvin introduced the new dean of this school, Dr. Earle Baldwin McKinley. Dr. McKinley stressed the necessity of character in the physician saying, "Character is a prime requisite to entrance to the George Washington University Medical School and to the medical profession, and it is with this in mind that you have been selected for membership in the freshman class from among the many hundreds of applicants who came to us."

Two Capital Men Are Named in Will

Church Here Also Shares in Estate Left by Mrs. M. B. Caswell.

Two Washingtonians and a local church are among the beneficiaries named in the will of Mrs. Mary B. Caswell, formerly of Washington, which was filed yesterday in New York City. Mrs. Caswell died August 27 in Whitefield, N. H., in her eightieth year.

A great-nephew, John Caswell, jr., of 2129 Leroy place northwest, is left a share in the estate. Edward J. Foley, of 1717 R street northwest, who was chauffeur for Mrs. Caswell for many years, was bequeathed $5,500. Other servants in her employ more than three years are to receive $500 each.

The will gives $10,000 to St. Agnes' Episcopal Church here and $70,000 to St. Luke's Hospital in New York. The will estimates the estate as "more than $20,000," but specific bequests total more than $250,000. Mrs. Caswell, who was prominent socially both in Washington and New York, was the widow of John H. Caswell, a vestryman of Trinity Church, New York. She lived at 2500 Massachusetts avenue northwest and at the Lafayette Hotel in the eight years that she resided in Washington.

Murder Search Ends As 'Victim' Proves Pup

Police steeped themselves in the preliminary stages of another murder yesterday and were busily searching for the corpus delicti when their case was shattered by the explanation of Fulton D. Hutchinson, 24, that the "victim" was a dog.

The homicide squad, Harbor Precinct police and park police got on the job when a pool of blood was found near the sea wall at the east end of Pennsylvania Avenue Bridge. Mr. Hutchinson, who lives at 1809 Twenty-fourth place southeast, was fishing nearby when he saw policemen dragging the Eastern Branch. Walking up to one of the many investigators on the scene, he remarked that he had seen a dog killed by an auto and tossed into the river the previous night. Thus ended the mystery.

St. Aloysius' Party Continues.

Because of inclement weather during the last two weeks, the St. Aloysius garden party, which opened September 12, and was to have closed last night, will continue through Saturday, it was announced last night.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN GAS-FILLED ROOM

Son, Home From Work, Finds Mother Suicide in Apartment.

Mrs. Katherine Heany, 46, was found dead last night in a gas-filled room in her apartment at 701 Maryland avenue northeast. She was declared a suicide by Deputy Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald.

The tragedy was discovered by the woman's son, William, 23 years old. Returning from work shortly after 7 o'clock he found the door to the apartment locked. When repeated knocks failed to bring response, he sought the aid of Dr. W. B. Walters, who occupies a first-floor apartment.

The two men forced open the door and found Mrs. Heany lying on the bathroom floor. Gas was flowing from an open jet on the wall. Dr. Walters said the woman had been dead for several hours.

Police and Deputy Coroner MacDonald were summoned. Shortly before they arrived the electric lights in the entire block went out and their investigation was conducted by the light of police flashlights.

The woman's husband, James J. Heany, an independent ice dealer, collapsed when he returned home to find his wife dead. According to relatives, Mrs. Heany had been in ill health for some time and on previous occasions had threatened to end her life. She is survived also by another son, Albert, 8 years old.

Man, 62, Hurt by Truck While Crossing Street

Henry Hughes, 62 years old, of 116 C street northeast, was treated at Emergency Hospital yesterday for injuries received when he was struck by a truck while attempting to cross the street at the intersection of Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

Mr. Hughes suffered severe lacerations on his head and body. Physicians said his condition was not serious. According to police, the truck was driven by Clifford L. Yateman, of 625 M street southwest.

ELECTRICAL STORM BREAKS HEAT WAVE AT END OF SUMMER

Close of Season Sees Fall of Mercury to 70 Degrees; Traffic Tied Up.

WOMAN ESCAPES DEATH WHEN BOLT FIRES HOUSE

Traffic Light Darkened and Man's Car Is Damaged by Falling Limbs.

Summer yesterday ended its three month sway in Washington, to the accompaniment of a violent electrical storm which did widespread local damage, and a deluge of rain which sent temperatures downward 23 degrees.

The storm which heralded its passing struck Washington in midafternoon, plunging the city into darkness, causing innumerable traffic tie ups, and carrying trees and limbs of trees like twigs before its force.

Mrs. Samuel E. Cohen narrowly escaped death when lightning struck the roof of her home at 119 Maple street, Clarendon, setting fire to the house and wrecking one of the top-floor rooms. Mrs. Cohen was alone in the house. Volunteer firemen, who responded from Arlington, Cherrydale, Ballston and Clarendon, extinguished the blaze. Damage was estimated at $500.

Mercury Drops to 70.

The storm, which broke Washington's latest heat wave and presaged the beginning of fall at 7:24 last night, caused the official temperature to fall from 93 to 70 degrees. The avenue kiosk recording instrument, which had climbed to 96 degrees at 1 o'clock, was precipitated to 72 degrees by the rainfall.

So great was the heat before relief came that Washington schools, which remained in session through out Tuesday's humid weather, were closed yesterday. Elementary school classes were released at 1 o'clock, and those in junior and high school at 2. Government workers employed in the Federal Trade Commission and Women's Bureau, both housed in temporary buildings, were dismissed at midday.

Throughout the city, trees blown down or limbs thrown into the streets occasioned traffic tie-ups. Traffic was temporarily baricaded behind a huge limb that blocked one side of Pennsylvania avenue at Madison place, and there was a similar barrier in the 1600 block of K street.

Street Car Tie-Up.

During the height of the storm several heavy limbs broke off a tree at the southwest corner of Rhode Island avenue and R street northwest, striking the traffic light there and putting it out of commission for the night.

Government workers leaving their offices at 4:30, unprepared for the rain, were further hindered by a street car tie up of Capitol Traction cars, extending several blocks on Fourteenth street above U street. The cars were tied up for an hour and 52 minutes. The trouble was finally located at Fourteenth and Kenyon, where water on a conducting rail had caused a short circuit. Cars began running again at 6:08 p. m. Taxicabs in downtown Washington were at a premium.

At least one traffic accident was attributed to the storm. Blinded by the heavy rain, Mrs. Hattie Barnaby, 31 years old, of 4536 Lowell street northwest, wife of Lieut. Ralph Barnaby, famous Navy stunt flier, was in collision with a truck driven by Frank Coates, of 1130 Second street southwest, on Twenty-third and M streets northwest, causing $350 damage to her car. No one was injured.

Mechanical Eyes and Brain Control New Traffic Light

Vice President Curtis Switches On Signal Governed By Number of Vehicles Approaching Constitution Avenue and Seventeenth Street Intersection.

By WILLIAM ULLMAN.

Washington motorists yesterday began to drive under the beams of a new kind of traffic light. It is one designed to proportion the use of an intersection of a definite relation to the volume of traffic and to serve in areas where the flow of vehicles is unbalanced. The light is at Seventeenth street and Constitution avenue. It is the first of its kind in the Capital and the only one under the jurisdiction of the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks.

The light was officially introduced when the switch was turned by Vice President Charles Curtis.

The new electromatic, or automatic, signal is entirely traffic controlled. That means when a driver approaches notice of his coming is transmitted to the signal and the light shifts to green to permit him to go through.

The change is not always instantaneous. If, through control units in the pavement, the signal "sees" a driver on the opposite street first, the light does not switch until that driver clears the intersection.

While it is mechanical, the system is claimed to have both "eyes" and a "brain."

The "eyes" are metal strips laid directly into the pavement. When cars pass over these units, called "detectives," their arrival is noted and that fact is tranmitted to the control box, which constitutes the "brain" of the signal.

This unit sorts out the reported arrivals in the order of their coming and flashes the green or red light as the situation demands. The order of arrival of every vehicle, its speed and the relative density of traffic on both streets leading to the intersection all are known to the control mechanism.

When traffic reaches a balanced density on both streets then only does the signal operate on a fixed time cycle of 35 seconds. At other times, if traffic is moving in one direction and no car approaches on the cross street, the signal remains green.

If a car approaches to break in on this signal, the light switches only long enough to permit it to pass through.

The writer witnessed a stop-watch-timed demonstration yesterday which illustrated its control over the erratic traffic flow at that time. Green light intervals were 26, 25, 30, 11, 13 and 17 seconds.

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks, presided at the dedication of the new signal. District Commissioners Crosby and Reichelderfer, Traffic Director W. A. Van Duzer and leaders of Washington trade bodies were present.

ROOFERS ON STRIKE FOR WAGE INCREASE

$1.25 Hourly Rate Demand Hampers Completion of Agriculture Building.

A strike which held up roofing work on the new Department of Agriculture Building for two weeks came to light last night when it was learned that members of Composition Roofers' Local No. 109 were discussing the terms on which they will continue to work.

The workers employed on the Agriculture building demanded an increase from 90 cents an hour to $1.25. They are employed by Starrett Bros. & Eken, a New York firm. Last Monday they returned to work, pending a settlement of the wage scale. Since returning to the job, they have lowered their demands to $1.10 an hour, but the contractors have not met these requirements. Union officials met contractors at a fifteen-hour meeting Tuesday, but the proposals of the employers have not yet been approved by the union members.

The union met last night in its quarters at 939 D street northwest, but requests for information were refused. The contractors, also, were sworn to secrecy about the negotiations. It was learned, however, that some members of the labor body objected strongly to going back to work, maintaining that the employers would have met the demands shortly. It is also understood that there never has been a definite wage agreement with the union.

The strike at the Agriculture Building did not affect any other construction here, so far as could be learned. However, it is considered not impossible that all the building trades may go out later if the roofers' demands are not met.

Heroes of '76 to Hear Unmacht Speak at Club

Members of the George Washington Camp, Heroes of '76, will hold their first meeting of the esason at the Army and Navy Country Club tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock, Commander Harry A. Seran announced yesterday.

Capt. George F. Unmacht, of New York, national adjutant, will be guest of honor, and members of distant camps who are now in Washington are invited to attend. Transportation will be available at the Army and Navy City Club, Seventeenth and I streets northwest, at 6 o'clock.

Police Asked to Seek Missing School Youth

Police assistance was asked yesterday in the disappearance of Theodore Raymond Wellens, 17, who failed to return to his home at 3558 Warder street northwest, after attending classes at McKinley High School Tuesday. He is 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighs 140 pounds, has dark hair and dark eyes and wore a blue shirt, black sweater, blue trousers and no hat.

Harvey H. Wellens, father of the missing boy, said that his wife is almost distracted by fear and grief. The youth was accompanied to school by his brother, Ralph, who can not explain the disappearance.

Electrical Advertising To Be Explained as Art

E. B. Fox, electrical advertising expert of Cleveland, Ohio, tonight will tell how electrical advertising may become an architectural asset to commercial buildings, at the fourth of a series of nine lighting conferences at the Potomac Electric Power Co. Building.

Francis Clay Wallace, local electrical sign specialist, also will talk.

TRIAL BOARD FINDS CIDWELL IS GUILTY

Recommends Reprimand and $50 Fine for Withholding Death-Probe Data.

Policeman A. B. Cidwell, of the Traffic Bureau, was recommended for a severe reprimand and a fine of $50 by the Police Trial Board yesterday morning for withholding information concerning the case of Policeman Raymond M. Morrow, who was found dead ten days ago under the Sixteenth Street Bridge.

Cidwell said he withheld the information because he did not want to break his promise to Miss Martha Habey, and that at the time Miss Habey told him he did not know it was important police information.

Miss Habey told Cidwell the day after Morrow's body was found, that she had been with him the night he was killed, and made Cidwell promise not to tell any one.

Cidwell was recommended to appear before the trial board by Inspector E. W. Brown, chief of the Traffic Bureau, upon a complaint submitted by Capt. Edward Kelly, assistant chief of detectives, for withholding the information from his superior officers.

Detective Sergt. James Springmann testified that he had known Cidwell for six years and had found him to be an excellent policeman.

Vanderbilt Speaks Here on Bus Lines

Banker Cites Importance of Motor Travel at Trade Meeting.

Speaking before the Washington Board of Trade last night, at the Washington Hotel, William H. Vanderbilt, New York banker and president of the Short Line, a consolidated group of bus companies, declared that the popular conception that bus companies do not carry their fair share of highway construction and maintenance is erroneous.

Mr. Vanderbilt reached Washington yesterday afternoon in his private bus, fitted with all the luxury of a private railroad car.

Among the group attending the dinner last night were Commissioner Luther Reichelderfer; Col. U. S. Grant 3d, Frederick William Wile, Harley Wilson, E. C. Brandenburg, Dorsey Hyde, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Thomas P. Littlepage, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce; Mark Lansburgh, president of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association.

Edward McQuade, president of Liberty National Bank; William Montgomery, president of the Acacia Mutual Life Insurance Co.; Corporation Counsel W. W. Bride, A. C. Case, of the Palais Royal; E. C. Graham, president of the National Electric Supply Co., and Robert Cottrell, secretary of the Board of Trade.

Man Trapped by Radio Held for Housebreaking

Arraigned on a charge of housebreaking, Richard G. Williams, colored, was ordered held under a $1,000 bond for action of the grand jury yesterday in Police Court. The man was charged with having entered the store of Catlin's, Inc., at 1324 New York avenue northwest, where an alarm attached to a radio announced his entrance to store employes.

Williams was pursued from the store and a bullet fired at him struck him in the leg, but failed to bring him down. The chase lasted until he became exhausted and was captured.

PEIRCE ATTORNEYS LOSE PLEA TO HALT PUBLIC GAS HEARING

Central Service President Is Only Witness Heard During Day.

WASHINGTON COMPANY'S ACQUISITION DESCRIBED

Commission Told of Devious Route by Which Control Was Obtained.

The intricate maneuverings by which Albert E. Pierce, head of the Central Public Service Corporation, $400,000,000 public utilities holding organization, acquired control of the Washington Gas Light Co. despite the La Follette antimerger act, were partially unfolded before the Public Utilities Commission yesterday although attorneys sought to bring the gas hearings to an abrupt end.

Counsel for the owners of the controlling interest of the Capital gas company asked the commission not to go into a detailed hearing on the subject of ownership, offering, as a substitute, to agree to a statement of facts which could be presented to court for determination of the legality of Mr. Peirce's ownership.

The proposal which was advanced in a letter addressed to the commission, William A. Roberts, assistant corporation counsel, and Richmond B. Keech, people's counsel, was rejected. William W. Bride, corporation counsel, offered to enter into a stipulation if it was agreed that the Central Public Service Corporation owned the gas company. This was not agreed to and examination of Mr. Peirce, the first and only witness heard during the day, proceeded.

The Washington gas company, it was developed, came into the hands of Mr. Peirce by a devious route, mapped out in 1928. Acquirement was begun with the purchase of stock of the company by Dana Pearson for Pynchon & Co., of New York. Discovery that some one was purchasing all available stock of the gas company caused a sensation in local financial circles at the time. Pearson finally got control through a deal with Ord Preston, then president of the company, whereby he paid $125 a share for all of the stock offered him prior to an advertised date. Par value of the stock was $20 a share.

Acquisition Contested.

The Seaboard Investment Trust, a Massachusetts trust, then was formed by Harris, Forbes & Co., of New York, now Chase, Harris, Forbes Corporation, which was represented in the negotiations here by Fred W. Burroughs and James Piper, of Piper, Carey & Hall, Baltimore lawyers. Acquisition of the stock by this group was contested by District officials, but Wilton J. Lambert and other of counsel for the purchasers were successful in their contention before the District Supreme Court that, because of the penalties involved, the La Follette antimerger law must be interpreted literally. The law does not specifically mention trusts and the court upheld the legality of the trust holdings, which were supposedly divided among five interests, so that none held as much as 20 per cent of the stock of the local gas company.

Subsequently the Washington and suburban companies was formed and the stock was turned over to it which also acquired controlling interest in Alexandria Gas Co., New York & Richmond Gas Co. and the Washington Suburban Gas Co., which owns the Hyattsville Gas Co.

The Westfield Trust then was formed to take over the common shares of the Washington and Suburban companies. This trust is owned by Mr. Peirce, who also heads the Central Public Service Corporation, of which the Southern Cities Public Service Co. is a subsidiary.

This company entered the manipulations by repaying the Chase National Bank $10,500,000 loan advanced the Seaboard Investment Trust for the Washington Gas Co. stock, taking in payment 70,000 shares of $6 cumulative preferred stock of the Washington and Suburban companies.

Westfield Trust Enters.

The Westfield Trust, which had had been formed the year before, became the owner of the local gas companies on March 12, 1931. The maneuverings previous to that date had been conducted under the name of the Seaboard Investment Trust. On March 12 the Westfield Trust took over the common share, or beneficial interest, of the Seaboard Investment Trust and changed its name to the Washington and Suburban Companies. Mr. Peirce testified yesterday that the Westfield Trust was formed by the Peirce Investment Co., which he owns. That company paid in $10,000, obtaining the beneficial shares of the trust for which it was reimbursed by Mr. Peirce. This $10,000 constitutes the total capitalization of the Westfield Trust, which has since borrowed $13,750,000 on one note from the Central Public Service Corporation and has acquired properties valued in the tens of millions of dollars. The note given by the trust to the Central Public Service Corporation provides that all of the earnings of the trust shall go to the Central Public Service Corporation with the exception of $300 each six months, which shall go to Mr. Peirce as interest at 6 per cent on his $10,000.

The proposal by the gas company owners to end the public hearing was advanced soon after the session began yesterday morning by Donald F. McPherson, general counsel for the Central Public Service Corporation.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

WHAT! NO HOBBY?

YOUNG MAN seeking inexpensive hobby would welcome suggestions. R-190, Times.—Advertisement in the New York Times.

DEAR R-190:

Although I am pretty busy with my own affairs just now, I find myself deeply touched by your plight. The thought of a young man, his mind set on an inexpensive hobby and yet unable to find one unassisted, moves me strangely. If I thought you a fellow who could take a hobby or leave it alone I would not bother with you, but it is clear from the tone of your advertisement that you are desperately determined to get the best hobby available.

* * * *

Lots of young men, feeling the need for a hobby, would grab the first one that came to mind, but not you, Mister R-109. And that is why I find your plea so harrowing. Well, it is plain to me that fishing, golfing, stamp collecting and the gathering of old coins will not suit, as they would occur to you at once. You want something different. It must be inexpensive, so that lets out polo, yachting, pheasant farming, the collection of rare chinaware, etc.

* * * *

Have you thought of flagpole sitting? This field is getting overcrowded, but those who have tried it say it is good fun. It costs very little. All you need is a flag pole with or without flag. It keeps you out in the cool, crisp air, increases the red corpuscles and gives you an outlook on life not enjoyed by others. And how about going over Niagara Falls in a barrel? There is a fellow who has made this a hobby and he tells the newspaper men every year that he knows no better good, clean fun. You will need a little money for barrel repairs, but there is no charge for going over the falls.

* * * *

THEN there is hog-calling. This has become quite a hobby during the last few years. It doesn't cost a nickel. There are not so many hogs as there were in 1929, but they are still fairly plentiful. You can get a book on hog-calling and master the calls in no time. It's heap of fun in decent weather. The main purpose of a hobby is to divert the mind, and there are few things more satisfying after a hard day in the office than to go home and indulge in unrestrained hog-calling for an hour or two.

* * * *

Have you thought of bee keeping? You can start on a couple of bees, and bees are very cheap now, they having declined with everything else. Soap sculpture has its advocates as has cheese modeling. A young man can make the most attractive things out of soap and cheese. I knew a youth who made a model of the Peace Conference in cheese, and it was curiously moving.

* * * *

A good hobby that is taking on just now is writing anonymous books on the life in Washington. All you need is some ink. Any gossip will give you the data. Lariat throwing is fun, too, and fly casting, egg rolling, oyster culture, shadow casting, batik dipping taxidermy and yodeling also have their attractions to a man in search of an inexpensive hobby.

* * * *

However, it is all a matter of taste. You will get something. I feel certain, and wishing you all kinds of luck, I am, my dear R-109, yours sincerely, ELMER TWITCHELL.

P. S.—I forgot to mention guinea pig raising at home for profit.

POSSIBLE SOLUTION.

"He inherited about $15,000 several years ago. By wise investments he increased the sum to $50,000. We lived happily on the income, which averaged $10,000 a year." From a published statement in a New York murder mystery.

THIS suggests that it is more than possible the raid was carried out by some finance-mad fellow who was determined to get a list of Mr. Colling's investments.

'Dead Woman and Child' Create Police Excitement

"A woman and child are floating in Rock Creek at the foot of Park road."

Metropolitan and Park police radio cars swung into action as this call was picked up on their sets last night. Sirens screeched as the powerful machines roared to the scene. A call was sent for the Fire Rescue Squad. Bedlam reigned as motorists and pedestrians followed the speeding police cars into Rock Creek Park.

Lieut. Henry Helms, in charge of a park police cruiser, was the first to reach the scene. Before his car had come to a stop, he leaped from the running board and hurried to the bank of the creek. Behind him came members of the Rescue Squad and scores of other policemen. Hundreds of persons, attracted by the sirens, lined both banks of the creek.

Powerful searchlights were brought into play. For several minutes the waters were searched for signs of the "woman and child." Suddenly a white patch was seen floating near the bank. Men rushed toward it. Willing hands seized a grappling hook and brought the object to shore.

A gasp of surprise rose from the throng. On the end of the hook was a small, white bulldog, apparently drowned during the heavy thunderstorm yesterday. A passerby mistook it for a woman's white dress floating in the water.

Police were unable to explain the resemblance between a bulldog and a "woman and child."

Kiosk Called Liar and Held Guilty of False Advertising

The Pennsylvania avenue kiosk, which for years has been reporting temperatures just a little higher than the Weather Bureau considers official, last night was called everything from a liar to an improper instrument, at a dinner of the Advertising Club of Washington at the National Press Club.

This was strong language for members of the club, but then they felt strongly on the subject. For the kiosk, they declared, has been giving Washington a reputation to which it is not justly entitled.

The kiosk, members of the club declared, is guilty of "false and misleading advertising" and something really ought to be done about it. So the directors voted to register a protest with Weather Bureau officials, and other organizations were invited to do likewise.

A student membership plan was adopted whereby students enrolled in District schools or universities, may be entered on the student membership roster on an associate membership basis for $5 annually. In return the students will be permitted to hear the weekly talks on advertising offered by the club. Sidney M. Selinger was elected to the office of treasurer of the club, and Allen V. DeFord was named to fill a directorship.
